Twenty-fourth Annual Convention

OF THE WOMEN'S GENERAL MISSIONARY SOCIETY OF THE UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF NORTH AMERICA, HELD AT TOPEKA, KANSAS, MAY 14-17, 1907.

MINUTES.

TUESDAY, 7:45 P. M., MAY 14.

The Twenty-fourth Annual Convention of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Presbyterian Church of North America met in response to invitation in the Second United Presbyterian Church of Topeka Kansas, Rev. J. P. White, pastor.

The general subject of all devotional services of the Convention was "Revival."

An anthem by the young ladies' chorus choir of the Second Church opened the evening service, after which Mrs. T. B. Turnbull, of Philadelphia, the First Vice-President of the Convention, conducted the devotional service, "Revival a Necessity, or Times of Refreshing," being the subject. The singing of several psalms and a season of short prayers closed this service.

Mrs. L. W. Williamson of the Women's Missionary Society of the Second Church and Mrs. W. A. Sloo of the City Missionary Union gave most cordial welcome to the Convention assembled. Mrs. John A. Wilson of the Women's Board, responded. After a solo by Miss M. Laughlin, Mrs. Turnbull introduced the President of the Convention, Mrs. W. R. Baldridge of Des Moines, Iowa, who addressed the Convention, as follows. her subject being,

The Great Awakening.

The distinguishing thought of the present year is revival.

Men, everywhere. are dissatisfied. They are conscious of a great need; but they are not conscious that it is God that they need. And whenever people sufficiently feel their need of God then there is an appropriating of Him to their souls; and, as was prophecied of old, "Nations are born in a day."

There are abundant signs the world over of the near approach of a greater spiritual quickening than the world has ever yet seen, not even excepting that in the second chapter of Acts—not that the quickening is any greater; but we see so much more of. it—not one hundred and twenty only, but thousands at a time.

The Great Awakening, may perhaps best be considered under three heads;

I. Awakening past.
II. Awakening present.
III. Awakening future.

Awakenings in the Past.

In ages past, whole tribes, if not nations have been transformed in one generation by the irresistible operations of the Spirit, and now God has, not only in prophecy, but in nature and in grace shown what He is about to do by putting it into the heart of his people to pray for the evangelization of the world in this generation.

From the very beginning there have been almost periodical times and seasons when men have returned and called on God. From the time when the hearts of our first parents were revived by the promise given to the woman, about every four hundred years down to our own time. there seems to be a general revival. In the days of Enoch, "Men began to call upon the name of the Lord." Enoch "walked with God." Noah for 120 years "Preached righteousness." Abraham was called out from idolatry to perpetuate the knowledge of the one true God. The generation that entered the promised land was trained under Moses, receiving a moral uplift which has never left the race since. Samuel, divinely led of the Spirit in junior years, for special work; Hezekiah and the prophets restoring the knowledge of the law; John the Baptist preaching repentance; THE CHRIST and the early Christians declaring the truth in all purity, the carrying the Gospel to outside nations; the evangelizing the islands or "coasts of the sea," in the Reformers; the Revivalists down to our present day: it is true that God never left the world at any time without the witness of Himself but about every four hundred years, there was a more general interest and the tide of spirituality was left higher each time. And yet, all these were great awakenings in a limited area: but the world-wide movement that now is, consists of general awakenings in a world-wide area.

But, not only does God give every group of people composing an empire or age a general revival but it also seems as if He gives every generation at least one chance to return to Him. But there has been no such general revival in the half century since most of us were born, unless it is in the last four years. Now, however, it has broken out in almost all parts of the world. We say "broken out," advisedly for, as there are revivals that are gotten up of men, so are the real ones that come down from heaven, and are set on fire of the Holy Ghost. "The wind bloweth where it listeth, and thou heareth the sound thereof, and cannot tell whence it cometh and whither it goeth; so it is with every one that is born of the Spirit." (John 3:8)

Hence we come to consider:

Awakening in the Present

The present awakening seems to have no special human beginning. Like all genuine revivals, this seems to be the effect of the direct operation of the Holy Spirit on the hearts of men in different churches, and outside of all churches; in diverse nations, and in almost all parts of the world.

Evan Roberts in Wales, seems to be one of the most notable products of the present great awakening. In that land of intensest religious conviction, we see this sense of the felt need of God, as never before. Neither preaching nor praying, nor singing, nor even personal work; but instantaneous submission to the Spirit of God, confession of sin, and intercessory prayer seem to be characteristic of this generation's experience. The exercises go right on simultaneously—literally, "Under the inspiration of the moment," and yet no disorder nor confusion. And these meetings spread and continue running night after night, week after week, and month, without any interruption or any stated leader, or seemingly any human hand to guide.

In India, among our own missions as well as those of other denominations, and of no denomination, denominational, interdenominational, and non-denominational mission—everywhere alike, the unusual feeling of Spiritual power is so strong that often in meetings of church courts and conventions, the church business is interrupted by "the greatest business of the church."

People in all these meetings break down in contrition and confession and even bodily manifestations of different kinds appear, as happened in the great revivals in the days of our fathers.

Programs carefully arranged and well prepared, are in these meetings put aside, and the time given to worship in submission to the movings and guidance of the Spirit of power. Missionaries are revived. Native converts are led to voluntary consecration. Heathen by thousands are converted. All go out to evangelize others, and the fire spreads.

In India, at Mukti, they had a baptism of fire and of the Holy Ghost. At New Gang, there was a perfect "rain of the Spirit" as it was called r-a-i-n—rain—not sprinklings, not even "showers of blessing," but an out-pouring such as ensures a large harvest of souls. In the time of the early Christian, they saw "The former rain." Now in our time we see "The latter rain." (Joel 2:23.)

So it is in China. There are said to be more baptisms in China in the five years since the Boxer rebellion than there were in 80 years before. Bishop Robinson, (Methodist) says, "There are more striking manifestations of the transforming power of the divine Spirit in six or seven months of last year than in the previous thirty-one years." Again it is reported by others that in some places the natives are immeasurably excited about this "New way of getting rid of sin!" The excitement in one place was so great that a multitude ran together to see what the matter was with the Christians, and the heathen explained the unusual by saying, "The Christians are seeing their God."

In Shantung Province, China, in a college of two hundred and eighty students, the Spiritual power became so great that all but four of the students confessed Christ. In some places the Chinese official authorities are ordering the idols cast into the fire or the sea, while the natives stand by and applaud. In many places the native press is attacking idolatry with all its might. The Bibe lis ordered into the public schools. Every where in China, sinners of the deepest kinds, debauchees, drunkards, even opium users, are being wholly saved. CHINA IS A GIANT AWAKE!

So in Japan! Never before have the influences of Christianity ruled it to so great an extent. Many of the leaders, though nominally heathen are really Christian. Some missions are being abandoned to the native churches, the help of the missionaries being no longer needed in that locality. This is an advance over anything heretofore reported in the history of modern missions. And what if Japan were not only Christian but entirely Spiritual?

And Korea! Korea is the key to the Orient today. Converts are there increasing so rapidly that missionaries are breaking down attempting to care for them. It is reported to be the common thing for converts to receive at the same time both conversion and the baptism of the Spirit so that they go right out and convert others.

Bringing in others is there required as a qualification for admission to church membership. It is also common there, to subscribe not only so many pieces of morey for the advance of the kingdom, but also to give so many day's personal work for their Savior, Jesus Christ.

Miss Field, M. D., Presbyterian missionary in Korea, says: "They met, two hundred men in one part of the city of Seoul, and two hundred and fifty women in another part of the city, for morning prayer-meetings. After the meeting, they started out two by two to visit every house. They had enough people to visit every house that afternoon, and the next day, and the next, and for ten days, they visited every house every day, and in the evening the people came back for another prayer meeting. At the end of ten days the people came to all six of the churches and the first evening there were twelve hundred conversions.

Russia also is now everywhere open to the Bible, and religious freedom, is proclaimed by the decree of the Czar.

The world is now surprised by the peasants voting seventy-five thousands strong for the progressive policies, notwithstanding all the adverse influences.

Persia, too, has a constitution, and is open to Christian work if we only have faith to enter in.

Thibet, that last great hermit nation, is now open to the Bible and the misisonary! Thibetan people in China are already believers. This must be the last of the ages. This must be the time of the end! When the diciples asked the Lord what should be the signs of His coming, and of the end of the world, He said: "This Gospel of the kingdom must be preached in all the world for a witness unto all the nations, and then shall the end come." (Matthew 24:14) Surely it is near! "Even so come; Lord Jesus"

The islands of the sea are having revivals. As in Lahu, so in other places, the revival has outrun the misisonary and gone before them. Many of the islands of the sea are more Christian today than many parts of so-called Christian America. As Australia and New Zealand are ahead of us in government, so are Hawaii and Samoa and even the Fiji Islands, in advance of us in family religion.

And yet, our own land is not without its great awakenings in all its history. Not only in early days under Whitefield and Wesley; and later under Edwards and Finney, and Earle; and still later Moody; but in our own days Torrey and Gypsy Smith, Chapman and others—all seem to have been used in a special way.

In Chicago during Gypsy Smith's meetings last winter, over a thousand men—business men declared for God in one place and at one time—the greatest religious event ever seen in Chicago!

But, latest and most striking of all the manifestations of the present awakening is the Men's Movement which beginning in the Psalm singing churches, has spread at the same time through almost all the evangelical denominations. This is a remarkable missionary or rather evangelizing movement. which, following the line of the women's and young people's societies, is now bound to go beyond all other movements and have the greatest imaginable influence, not only in the church but also in the State.

Even the Jews are now coming to their Messiah in larger numbers than ever before. For ages the vail has been over their mind and heart; and they have been a people without a country; and their land has been without a nation; and the nation without the book of the New Covenant. But now the Jews have a standing offer for every acre for sale in all Palestine; the Gospel is for the first time in their own language; and that language is common to them all; and so many of them have read the Hebrew Testament as to change their national estimate of the Son of Man that as was prophesied thousands of years ago: "They look upon Me whom they pierced, and shall mourn for him as one mourneth for his own son." (Zech. 12: 10)

Their land that was desolate, as foretold to Moses and David, is now coming to have rain again, as was also predicted and the people are now going back to the land of their fathers, in large and ever increasing numbers! Multitudes of them like Schereschewski are coming to the light; and we seem to have come to the wondrous time prophesied by Paul in those three marvelous chapters, (Romans 9, 10, and 11.) "The fulness of the Gentiles must come in, and then all Israel shall be saved. For if the casting away of them be the reconciling of the world, what shall the receiving of them be but life from the dead!" (Rom. 11: 15)

Naturally we ask, what is the meaning of all this? And the only rational answer is: "THIS IS THAT!" This is that which was spoken by the prophet Joel!" (Acts 2:16) Nothing else than the power of the Holy Spirit has such an influence over the lives of men. The time seems ripe for the manifestation of the power of God.

The world has made an unparalelled advance along physical and intellectual lines. Is this to be accompanied by a new progress along spiritual lines? It seems so. Men are asking for the new and the better, not only in agriculture and trade, in manufacture and the arts; but still more in education and government, in morals and religion. Men seem now to be looking for the real reviving to come and complete the revivals. A man in our city of large and varied experience, heavy business, and political interests, and university education, said recently in a public address, "If you ask what men generally are thinking most about today I tell you, it is not business; it is not politics; it is religion. It is not now, 'Will it pay?' But they are asking, 'Is it right?' 'What is truth?' Their minds and their hearts are opened to receive the truth whenever God's people are prepared to give the truth." But it is only through special outpourings of the Spirit of God, that God's people are prepared to give the truth to the world.

We are indeed passing through a most remarkable Spiritual awakening. For the first time the Gospel is preached to all the world in every language and to every nation. There is an increasing sense of right-ness, that is, righteousness in the whole mass of mankind. It is permeating the whole world. This is seen in business in society, in politics, and now best of all in religion. As in business honesty is more valued, in society sham is less countenanced, in politics license of all kinds is become unpopular; so in religion formalism and sectarianism is disappearing, Christian union accomplished, and the way of the King prepared by the mightiest manifestation of the Divine Spirit.

In the revivals which are now so prevalent in the different parts of the world, where a new power seems to take hold of the meeting, and the work, what is it? We look, and listen, and there seems to be the greatest of confusion—crying, confession of sin, prayer, entreaty, singing, praise and thanksigving—all going on at the same time, and yet all in order. What is this? Ah! It is but the rustling of the garments of the celestial bridegroom, as He moves among the people, winning them to Himself, loosening the hold of the evil one, and giving the Spirit entrance to their hearts and developing all that is best in their living. He no longer merely walks with us, or talks with us, but dwells with us, and lives in us and through us. This is the true awakening, reviving, quickening. This brings us to the third general head.

Awakening Future.

This awakening will only be complete, and the whole world won for eternity, when every professed Christian shall have discovered the true source of spiritual life and power, and shall have in the heart and on the knees made confession of sin, then with continued intercessions, God will give us power of heart, power of will, and power of speech and action that shall thrill the soul and mold the life of all that hear our words and know our deeds. Our world treasures and our prayers will then be freely given and the darkest corners of the earth may be claimed for Him. A $100,000 will be but a feeble expression of our Thank-offering. Sudan will have more than one lone woman missionary; India and Egypt will have their fifteen additional women missionaries and more; and our Board will not be troubled for fear of failure.

We will not spend much of your time tonight in telling of the millions of women in their degredation and sorrow in heathen lands. Suffice it to say that one-half of all the mothers in the world can get no help, except through woman.

Perhaps if the crying of the needy, and the dying of the unsaved at home do not catch our ear; may be the pleading of our own sister missionaries, some of them our own flesh and blood kin, whose own ears and hearts have heard these cries of our heathen suffering sisters in foreign lands, may touch us and arouse us to action. It is your own sisters, mine,—the missionary whose life is ebbing away, and whose heart throbs are growing less frequent—whose life in short is breaking down because of the great burden of souls they are carrying. Communities are born in a day for Christ, and strength fails to take care of these new births. In Kentung, 1623 persons apply for baptism in six months. In Telugu, two thousand in one day. In Korea, one missionary has eleven hundred new converts to care for alone, no helper knowing the language; and he is breaking down under the strain. The laborers in many places are breaking down by reason of the very greatness of the harvest.

Five thousand souls are reported saved in a few months in the Khassia Hills, north-east of Calcutta. It is now as of old, "Having received of the Father the promise of the Holy Ghost, He hath shed forth this which ye now see and hear." (Acts 2:33.)

You may say, Yes! Yes! It is the old story! It is our hearts you would touch; it is our feelings you would move; but it is our means you would rather have. Friends! It is not nearly so much your means these days as your children, and still more your earnest prayers born of the Spirit, that the Master and the missionaries desire. Intercessory missionaries are greatly sought—people at home who will pray and pray regularly and effectively for the missionaries and the heathen abroad. It is this that is most necessary to accomplish the work; for as the Scripture says: "We wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world." (Eph. 6:12.)

But we need not look to the great field across the seas, only. At our very doors are those that are unsaved. The cry is no longer, "Come over into Macedonia and help us," but by their deeds they call us as if to say, "We have come from Macedonia, will you help us?" Look at the mighty foreign immigration, nineteen hundred thousand in a year, forty times the population of Topeka, a very great majority of them without any saving knowledge of Christ. These are our future citizens. Will we evangelize them, or will they heathenize us. One third of these will return to their native land very soon—will it be with or without the light? What a great opportunity to be lost or seized for Christ?

While they are here, whole districts where they live, are without a single Protestant Mission. Whole counties in California are without the word. Whole communities throughout the West are growing up without ever having heard of Christ as their Savior. How will these hear, unless some one be sent and sent of the Spirit. The same thing that is needed of the church abroad is needed for our own land. And, as abroad so here, it is only by this Holy Ghost power that they shall be won, and become stars in His crown of rejoicing. We cannot excuse ourselves by saying that we cannot go to these! If we save not our own land how shall we save the world? In the holy war as in all wars, we must keep open a good base of supplies. Whence shall come the missionaries and the funds to support them in other lands, if we do not evangelize our own country?

Have we forgotten the history of Egypt, "mighty Egypt" that once had the gospel, and now because of their long neglect of God, and His word and His work, it has become necessary for our own church to send, or rather carry, the word to them again.

And even Palestine, the Holy Land, itself, where the light shone first and brightest, "He came to His own and His own received Him not." (John 1:11.)

And great and terrible has been the result of their neglect, and the weight of their punishment down through the centuries until the present day. As the Master said: "Oh Jerusalem! Jerusalem! How often would I have gathered thee, as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not. Behold, your house is left unto you desolate." (Matthew 23:37-38.)

And have we forgotten the great destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah and the reason why? "Fullness of bread, abundance of idleness, neither did they strengthen the hand of the poor and needy." (Ezek. 16:49). A heathen nation in a land of promise, and yet destroyed for and by their sins! What of America with the light under unparalelled conditions of prosperity! Well may our very souls yearn within us, and our most mighty efforts, strengthened by His Spirit be exerted to save this nation for Christ.

Shall we complete the Christianization in our own land, or are we going to wait for India and Egypt to become Christian and then be compelled to re-Christianize America. Do we hear the ringing cry from the Punjab, India, where they have already a national organization for the advancement of Christianity in all parts of India, and not to cease till the whole world is evangelized?

The great difference between the mighty results we hear of in India, Korea and Australia and the meager results we see in America, is simply the presence or absence of this sense of God and the resisting to or yielding to the Spirit's power. America will hear the word and will yield whenever we let the Spirit have His perfect work in us, in the church and in the world; but so long as we do and tell what we think this word is and what this work is, instead of letting the Spirit work, and doing what God has said and what his Spirit moves us to, we may still expect such meager and disappointing results as we now have. We are glad to know that our beloved church is still on the progressive side; but why have we not more success? Why have we not more of this deeper experience and how may we come to have it? A great and searching question! And yet no question has ever come up in the work of God but what he has given us a solution. So there is ready solution for this. He has said: "Ask and ye shall receive. Seek and ye shall find. Knock and it shall be opened unto you." The way of all ways by which we may attain to the solution of this question is by prayer —not set prayers, nor prayers for a set time; but continuous, earnest, unlimited prayer, with personal application of the word of God, and searchings of heart finding the cause of our disfavor or lack of power with Him. Truly as one has said, "The knees are great sifters." We see things so much more nearly as they are, when in the personal presence of God—when we look at things as He sees them. This view is obtained by long dwelling in His presence and careful meditation on His word. "The word of God is quick and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart. (Hebr 4:12).

When we "Take time to be holy," then we shall be in condition to receive answers to many of our prayers and success to many of our labors and attainment to many of our aspirations. Power comes through waiting on God.

In Mukti, India, Ramabai's mission. they prayed for one hour every day for eight months before the revival came with such convincing, converting and consecrating power, as it was at the first Pentecost. In other places it was six months waiting. In Australia, they prayed a year before Torrey was sent to them and there's where the present awakening really started. In Wales the miners met at the top of the mines one hour before daylight, for four months, before the little chapel meetings and Evan Roberts brought the revival to the attention of the whole world. In the first chapter of Acts after three years following the Master, the disciples and the women, waited with one accord, in one place for ten days before the pentecostal outpouring of fire and power.

But are we willing to let God have His way with us? Are we willing to let God work through us, in His way? Are we willing to wait God's time, and follow God's way, and yield to, and work under the movings of His Spirit? The Spirit is power, and little machinery is necessary in handling dynamite! The principal thing is to use very much care! Place the word, the material of power and keep self out of sight! In Moody's Bible Institute, in Chicago last winter, Professor Evans called for two or three short prayers, and immediately men from all over the room sprang to their feet. One man prayed, "O Lord! If we ought to spend the time in prayer, stop the classes," and immediately Professor Evans gave up the hour, and said "The time is in your hands." Things took the form of the meetings we hear of in other lands: weeping and confession, prayer and song and a heavy burden for souls. Would we be willing to give up our much planned for program of this Convention in order that we might enjoy such a heavenly blessing?

Are we really willing to be made willing in the day of His power? Are we willing to give up our plans for God's plans? If we are not willing, then we are not fully awakened; we are not yet ready for our part in this great world-wide reviving.

In closing we would urge more passive reliance on the work of the Spirit and more active agonizing work for souls in realization of our present unparallelled oportunity.

At Mukti, North India, near Ramabai's Mission, is a Presbyterian Boarding School with one building for boys and another for girls. The girls had learned of the great awakening in Ramabai's mission, and their desire was that they might have just such a blessing and such a power among them. Learning that it was obtained by prayer, two or three of the Christian girls met together and prayed for this blessing. Soon they felt that they were selfish and not doing right, in accordance with the work if they did not let others know they were really concerned, and burdened for souls. So they called a meeting of all the girls and told them what they had heard about the Ramabai blessing, and of their desire for a like blessing, and asked all who would to covenant themselves for an hour's prayer every day. Most of the Christian girls complied and they gave at least one hour, after the day's work was over leaving nothing undone or neglected, and so night after night they knelt at their bedsides and prayed for this power. One of the teachers in passing the building one night, long after the time for retiring, saw a light in a room and thought some one must be sick. On looking in she found the smallest girl in the school, kneeling at her bedside with her candle in her hand, with her list of names before her, praying for each one of them by name and in their turn. The earnestness and simplicity and directness of her prayer so touched the missionary that she felt that she had never known how to pray, and that the girls had a power which she had never experienced. After four weeks of daily prayer the blessing came with all its power and glory, and every girl in the school was converted. With joy they looked forward to the time when they would go to their homes again and tell of their experience and of the wonderful power of this new religion. Then it dawned upon them that it would not be received with gladness at home, for their parents were not Christian and they would not understand them, and it would be much easier to explain to them at home if their brothers on the neighboring compound were Christians. So they began to pray for the boys that they might be saved and that together they might go home and bear testimony for this new faith and experience. They prayed for a week and sent messengers to see whether it was having any effect on the boys. But the messengers said that the boys were playing ball just the same as before.

Then they thought it might have more influence if the boys could hear them praying, so they asked the teacher if they might go over to the edge of the compound nearest the boy's school, where the boys could hear them. The teacher had learned by experience that she had hindered the work by following her own idea, and so she feared to refuse permission, as she could trust the girls now, since the power had come upon them, so after school they went as near to the boy's compound as they could, and began to pray. The girls continued praying, never stopping for supper. At ten o'clock at night the teacher of the boys school opened his door to tell the girls to go home as it was long after their hour for retiring. He opened his door but he did not go out. There on the veranda, lying flat on the floor were the boys and as close as they could get to the girls compound, listening to the girls praying. While he watched one and another and another of the boys got up and went into the court and began praying aloud. When the girls heard the boys begin to pray the girls began singing and went off to their own dormitories. So it continued all night until it seemed to the professor as if the very heavens opened, and he could see the throne of God and feel the power of the Spirit, and it continued until every boy in the school but one had made a full surrender of his life to Christ under the power of the Spirit.

This is prevailing prayer.

As the Welsh would ask, "have you seen the vision?"

Or as the people of India would say, "Have you caught the prayer-fever?"

Jesus said: (Acts 1:7-8) "It is not for you to know the times and seasons which the Father hath put in His own power. But ye shall be witnesses unto Me, both in Jerusalem and in Judea, and in Samaria and unto the uttermost parts of the earth."

Singing a number from the Bible Songs followed the address.

Roll called. The President announced the Credential Committee as follows: Mrs. T. H. McMichael, Monmouth; Miss E. D. Brown, Monongahela; Mrs. Charles H. Ervin, Xenia; Mrs. James Leyda, Wisconsin; Mrs. N. M. Tiffin, Kansas City.

Rev. Mr. Renwick, of the First Church, Topeka, extended an invitation from the Young Women's Missionary Society and Women's Missionary Society of the First Church to a reception at their church Wednesday evening from six to eight o'clock.

Announcements followed.

Meeting closed with benediction by Rev. Mr,. White.

WEDNESDAY 8:45 A. M. MAY 15.

Opening thoughts—Reverential Meditations were directed by Mrs. R. H. Rutherford, of Zanesville, Ohio. The devotional service was conducted by Mrs. J. A. Thompson, Second Vice-President, "The Meaning of Revival," being the subject. Appropriate songs were sung and prayers offered.

The minutes of Tuesday evening were read and adopted as recorded.

The program was presented to the convention by the President and adopted.

The Credential Committee not being ready to report, the President appointed the following committees:

PLACE OF MEETING.

Mrs. G. I. Gordon, Indiana.
Miss Jennie Marshall, Keokuk.
Mrs. Mary E. White, Muskingum.
Mrs. W. S. Bartley, Butler.
Miss Ella Lynch, Steubenville.

RESOLUTIONS.

Mrs. Mary B. Hamilton, Illinois Central.
Miss Elnora McMunn, Argyle.

Mrs. Mamie G. Clarke, Wheeling.
Mrs. Robert J. Hutton, Detroit.
Miss Miller, Des Moines.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

Mrs. I. C. Rankin, Oklahoma.
Miss H. Moore, India.
Mrs. C. Taggart, Cleveland.
Mrs. Olive Smith, Mercer.
Mrs. Josiah Work, Colorado

NOMINATIONS.

Mrs. T. C. Atchison, Philadelphia.
Miss Alice Dalby, College Springs.
Mrs. J. C. Kennedy, Pawnee.
Mrs. John Stormont, Princeton
Mrs. M. J. Wilson, Los Angeles.

TELLERS.

Miss Fannie Bradford, Monmouth.
Miss Lula B. Brownlee, Rock Island.
Miss Sarah Henderson, Chartiers.
Miss Hunter, Garnett.
Miss Cora McQuiston, Ohio First.

THANK-OEFERING.

Mrs. J. B. Hill, Monongahela.
Mrs. S. A. Rath, Westmoreland.
Mrs. O. S. Johnston, Pittsburg.
Miss Iantha Monroe, Allegheny.
Mrs. Belle Patterson, Concordia.

The report of the Credential Committee was read, and with the exceptions of the recommendations, was adopted.

A motion was made that all Home, Foreign and Freedmen's missionaries present be entitled to the privileges of the floor. Carried.

In the absence of Mrs. Mary W. Porter,* the report of the Statistical Secretary was given by Mrs. Samuel Yourd. Report adopted.

The report of the Recording Secretary of the Board of Directors, Mrs. Samuel Yourd, was read. This report recommended that the Temperance Committee be elected for three years. A motion to adopt the report was amended to except that part of the report which referred to the employment of a stenographer. The amendment was carried, followed by the adoption of the report.

The report of Mrs. J. B. Hill, Treasurer, was read and the same adopted.

The report of the Finance Committee, Mrs. H. C. Campbell, was presented and on motion adopted.

The hour for devotion having arrived, a short time was spent in earnest prayer.

Mrs. George McDonald, Parsonage Secretary, being absent, her report was read by Mrs. J. B. Hill and on motion adopted.

Mrs. Mary Clokey Porter read the report of the Secretary of the Home for missionaries' children. The report was adopted as read.

The open hour gave opportunity for announcements and suggestions and questions on various parts of the work.

A motion was made by Mrs. H. C. Campbell that any extra cents, sent by the Presbyterial Treasurers to the Treasurer of the Board, be turned over to the Contingent Fund, Thank-offering money excepted. Motion carried.

A motion that each delegate take home the request that each local society make an earnest effort to increase their contributions to all missionary work one third, was carried.

Time for adjournment having arrived, the meeting was closed by prayer and benediction by Rev. Mr. Davidson.

Wednesday Afternoon.

Thank-Offering Bearers' Conference was held at one o'clock and at one-thirty the devotional service was led by Mrs. J. A. Greer of Olathe, Kansas, "The Origin of Revival" being the theme.—John 3:16.

*Mrs. Mary W. Porter's absence was noticed and regretted. For seventeen years Mrs. Porter has been in attendance at Women's General Missionary Conventions. It is gratifying to know of her promised recovery from a serious illness.—Eds.

The report of Freedmen's Secretary Mrs. R. A. Elliott. was read and on motion adopted. Following this report was a most excellent address by Mrs. Tillie Johnston, the Freedmen's representative from Miller's Ferry, Alabama.

Mrs. John A. Crawford, Literature Secretary, presented her report which on motion was adopted. The Literature Conference, "How Scatter Literature to make Effective" by Mrs. J. H. Brodie of Buffalo, and "How Create a Desire for Missionary Literature," bv Mrs. T. H. McMichael, brought out many helpful and pratical suggestions.

The report of the Treasurer of the Women's Magazine was given by Mrs. George Moore and adopted. The report of the Secretary of the Magazine was not read but appears in this issue of the Magazine. Mrs. Moore was given time for practical suggestions and the presenting of a strong appeal for one hundred new subscribers at this Convention.

Mrs. John A. Wilson, Editor of the Junior Missionary Magazine, presented her report, making request for more subscribers. prayers for editor and contributors, and more faithful work. Report adopted.

A short season of quiet devotion preceded the report of the Junior Secretary, Mrs. N. Wylie Stevenson. This, the first annual report of all the Junior work of the Church, was on motion adopted. The discussion of Junior work followed.

"Mission Study Class, How Conduct," by Miss Iantha Monroe of Allegheny.

"How Advance Beyond the Clipping Stage," by Mrs. H. J. McConnell, Alliance, Nebraska.

"Methods of Junior Work," Mrs. J. R. Thornburg, Winchester, Kansas.

Mrs. Stevenson had charge of a question box, and many perplexing questions were answered to the profit of Junior leaders.

Report of the Thank-offering Secretary, Mrs. Mary Clokey Porter, was read and on motion adopted.

A motion to accept the offer of the colored Glee Club from the Topeka Industrial Institute to sing for the Convention, was carried and Mrs. Elliott presented Rev. Mr. Carter, the Institute Principal, and his club of singers, who sang two selections which were greatly appreciated.

The business hour having arrived, Mrs. E. M. Hill explained why the Board had felt compelled to employ a stenographer for a short time, as referred to in the report ot the Recording Secretary. A motion to adopt that part of the Secretary's report that a stenographer be employed at fifty dollars a month was carried.

A motion that the Board be authorized to place a telephone in their headquarters was carried.

A motion that the delegates wishing to attend the Reception of the First Church do so between six and seven-thirtv, was carried.

The session closed with prayer by Rev. Mr. Dunlap.

Wednesday Evening.

Thank-offering Service.

The keynote of this service was "It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord." Psalm 92:1. It was led by Mrs. T. C. Atchison, of Baltimore. Responsive Scripture reading was followed by a delightful responsive song service by the Topeka Juniors. The Thank-offering address of the evening was given by Miss Elnora McMunn, of West Hebron, New York. The Thank-offering bearers in a most impressive procession came forward and presented their annual Thank-offerings. Mrs. Mary Clokey Porter offered the consecration prayer. The amount of the offering was, with one exception, the largest which has been given in the twenty years,—$38,-234.04. Mrs. Porter had a few sweet stories to tell the Convention, not the least of which was that $8100 was already in sight toward the $100,000 silver offering for the coming year. Adjourned with prayer by Dr. James White.

THURSDAY A. M. 8:45.

Our opening thoughts were directed by Mrs. Margaret J. Morrow, Plumville, Pa., with John 21:16 as the Scripture text.

The devotional service with "Assurance of Revival" as the subject, was led by Mrs. H. J. McKinney of Pine Bush, New York. The great revivals recorded in the Bible and the wonderful promises recorded were brought forcibly to our notice.

The minutes were read and adopted

The report of the Foreign Secretary, Mrs. E. M. Hill, on motion was adopted. Mrs. Hill reported a message from the Foreign Board stating that the appointment of Miss Lillian J. Piekin of Atlantic, Iowa, had been approved.

The report of the Home Mission Secretary, Mrs. H. C. Campbell, was adopted as read. This report stated that a request had come from Columbus, Ohio, for a missionary to work among the Italians.

A conference on Indian Work,—"The Field," Mrs. I. C. Rankin; "The Missionary," Miss Ella Montgomery; and "The Wigwam," Mrs. Jeanette C. Alter, —brought most vividly before us the condition and need of our red-skinned brother

A short prayer service followed this conference.

The time for business having arrived, a motion that the report of the Nominating Committee be heard, carried. Roll was called and the Chairman of the Nominating Committee reported as follows:

President, Mrs. J. P. White, Topeka.

First Vice-President, Mrs. I. C. Rankin, Guthrie, Okla.

Second Vice-President, Miss Elnora McMunn, West Hebron, New York.

Secretary, Mrs. J. T. Logue, Cleveland, Ohio.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

Miss E. D. Brown, Monongahela.
Mrs. Samuel Yourd, Monongahela.
Mrs. E. M. Hill, Monongahela.
Mrs. M. W. Porter, Westmoreland.
Mrs. G. W. McDonald, Allegheny.

MAGAZINE COMMITTEE.

Mrs. W. C. Hutchison, Xenia.
Mrs. George Moore, Xenia.
Mrs. H. C. Dean, Xenia.
Mrs. S. M. Kelso, Xenia.
Miss Sarah J. Reid, Xenia.

TEMPERANCE COMMITTEE.

Mrs. Henrietta Monroe, Xenia.
Miss Eva Shontz, Chicago.
Mrs. J. A Henderson, Allegheny.

On motion the report was adopted. As there were no further nominations from the floor of the Convention, the Secretary was directed to cast the ballot for the nominees and they were declared elected.

The Committee on place of meeting reported as follows:

The Monongahela Presbyterial has given the Women's General Missionary Society a cordial invitation to hold their Convention of 1908 in the Sixth United Presbyterian Church, Pittsburg. As this is the twenty-fifth anniversary and the First church, Allegheny, the birthplace of our organization, we recommend that the Convention accept the same.

Signed by the Committee,
Mrs. G. I. Gordon, Chairman.

On motion the report was adopted.

The report of Chairman of Temperance Committee, Mrs. Henrietta Monroe, was read and on motion adopted. Mrs. Work and Mrs. Campbell followed with remarks urging our women to send their Temperance contributions through our own Treasurer.

A motion that the reading of the report of the Field Secretary be made the order of the day at one forty-five this afternoon carried.

Session closed with benediction by Rev. Mr. Hannum.

THURSDAY P. M.

The Conference of Junior workers was held at one o'clock.

The Convention's session at one thirty was opened by devotional service conducted by Mrs. Eva Kennedy, Burchard, Nebraska, the subject being, "Effects of Revival," Mal. 4:2. Mrs. Tillie Johnson, the Freedmen representative, sang two numbers from the Bible songs.

The order of the day being the hearing of the report of the Field Secretary, it was given by Mrs. Jennette C. Alter. On motion adopted.

The report of the Women's Association was presented by Mrs. Cameron. On motion adopted.

An address, "The Presbyterial an Important Factor of the Women's General Missionary Society," was given by Mrs. Lou Swearingen, of Frankfort Presbytery.

The Semi-centennial was the subject of an address by Mrs. E. K. Porter, Sterling, Kansas. This was a stirring address and should stimulate to more liberal giving.

A few moments of devotional service followed. Singing number 270, Bible songs.

The report of the Secretary of Young Women's work, Mrs. N. L. Wallace, on motion was adopted. The motto for the young women for the year is "Study to show thyself approved unto God." The conference on Young Women's Work under four divisions,—(a) "Best Methods of Building up Local Societies," Miss Fannie Bradford, Monmouth, (b) "Kinds of Program most helpful to the Young Women's Missionary Society," Miss Margrath, Rock Island, (c) "How Secure Reading Missionary Literature by Young Women's Missionary Society," Mrs. J. M. Bull, Springfield, Ohio, (d) "Importance of Mission Study Classes," by Miss Lambie, Glenosborne,— showed that our young women are rapidly coming to the front along all missionary lines. Miss Lambie gave a practical illustration of how to conduct a Mission Study class with a class of a dozen young ladies on the platform. Mrs. Mary Clokey Porter answered the question, "How can young women be interested in the Women's General Missionary Society" by advising them to study what is God's will concerning them, study to know themselves, and study to know what the work of the Women's General Missionary Society is. The report of the Business Manager of the Junior Magazine, Mrs. Stevenson, was read. On motion adopted.

Mrs. E. M. Hill called the attention of the women to the Semi-centennial Fund and emphasized the fact that those desiring contributions to go to the work of the Women's Board should designate the same.

One of the most pleasing things of the program was the delightful exercise given by the Juniors. A band of forty strong filled the platform and inspired in the hearts of the listeners faith that great things shall be accomplished by the rising generation for our Lord and Master. Mrs. John A. Wilson, in her happy manner, gave a short talk to the children encouraging them to sacrifice and give that others may know of the love of Jesus.

The business hour was taken up with announcements and explanation of the printed report of the Treasurer. Miss Henrietta Moore, of India, led in prayer and after singing Number 219, Rev. Mr. McClenahan of Egypt pronounced the benedic-tion.

THURSDAY EVENING.

The devotional service, "Revival, How Secured?" was under the leadership of Mrs. Mary Giffen Clark, of St. Clairsville, Ohio. Singing, prayer, and responsive Bible reading concluded this service.

Mrs. E. M. Hill, the Foreign Secretary of the Board, presented four missionaries from India, Miss Elizabeth McCahon, Miss Cynthia Wilson, Miss Rose Wilson, Miss Henrietta Moore, and also Miss Bessie Campbell, the sister of Miss Mary Campbell of India. Each of these missionaries made a strong plea for more workers and more money to prosecute the work in India.

Governor Hoch being in the audience, he was brought to the platform and in a few words extended congratulations to the Convention, saying, "There is no work greater than that in which you are engaged." This compliment was appreciated by the Convention. Rev. Mr. McClenahan, of Egypt, followed with prayer. The principal missionary address of the evening was given by Mrs. Josiah Work, mother of Miss Ruth Work, of Egypt.

On account of lateness of the hour, special music by the First Church choir was omitted.

The Convention adjourned with benediction by Rev. Mr. Renwick.

FRIDAY A. M. 8:45.

Opening thoughts, "In His Steps" with Matthew 7:21 as the Scripture text, were brought us by Mrs. Mary B. Hamilton, of Carlock, Illinois.

The devotional service, "Praise, Promise, Prayer," in the absence of Mrs. J. C. Hanley, was conducted by Mrs. W. L. Garges, of Savannah Ohio.

Minutes read and adopted.

Thanks were extended Mr. White, Mr. McLaughlin and Mr. Williamson for their valuable aid by Miss Brown, the Railroad Secretary. Miss Brown reported that two hundred and fourteen certificates had been received and also requested that her final report be deferred until the Corporation meeting. Request granted.

The Committee on Resolutions reported. On motion the report was adopted.

Report of Committee on Resolutions.

We, the women of our United Presbyterian Church in the Twenty-fourth Annual Convention of the Women's General Missionary Society, acknowledge our indebtedness to our Heavenly Father for His love and care during the past year, and for the degree of peace and prosperity in both the home and foreign fields, and we earnestly anticipate the coming of the time when the religion of Jesus Christ shall cause peace, prosperity and good-will to encircle the globe.

The aim of all our work being the advancement of God's glory and the good of our fellow men, we rejoice; First, in the devotion of those who have been chosen leaders in our work. Second, remembering that the youth of the world are the hope of the Church, we join those of our speakers who have emphasized the need of vigorously pushing every department devoted to the training of the young.

Temperance.—Since it is universally recognized by all good people that intemperance is an unmitigated curse, the greatest foe to the advancement of Christ's kingdom, a hindrance to the mental, moral and spiritual development of human beings, we resolve to cast our influence on the side of temperance and shall help by all means in our power to overthrow this monster iniquity.

Thank-offering.—Resolved, That our deep felt gratitude go up to God that He has touched the hearts of our women to that extent that our Thank-offering of six months was next largest to any given in a year, and that we return to our respective presbyteries determined to raise the $100,000.

Finance.—Resolved, That since the opportunity and the need of our various fields presented at this time come to us with such appeals, that we as individual members of the Women's General Missionary Society go back to our respective societies determined by the grace of God that we shall use every means in our power to increase our contributions; that we shall give our individual effort to the work of interesting all our women in this great work of the world's evangelization.

Resolved, That in order to meet the increasing expense of both labor and paper in publishing our Magazines, both Senior and Junior, we urge every delegate to go home determined to increase the circulation of these periodicals to at least 10,000 each before August 1st. 1907.

Memorial.—Resolved, That our most profound gratitude is due to God for His care and protection of our workers. Twice only in the past fifty years have our foreign ranks been depleted by the death of an active worker on the field. And while our hearts were made sad by the calling home of our dear sister, Adelle McMillan of Tanta, Egypt, on March 11th, yet we bow in humble submission to the will of our Heavenly Father, and may her call home be the cause of many others taking up the work she has laid down and may her dying request, "Remember my girls in Egypt," be burnt into the hearts and lives of each member of the Women's General Missionary Society, and bring forth fruit to the glory of His name in the country she loved so well.

Resolved, That we extend our heartfelt sympathy to those who by her death have lost a devoted daughter and sister, and also to those across the waters who have lost one who to them was even more than a sister.

Resolved, That a vote of appreciation be extended to the pastor and wife, and the good people of the First Church, especially the young ladies so bright and pleasing, to the young men who delighted our ears with their music, to the fair young girls who served so gracefully in the basement, and also for the pretty little souvenirs we shall carry home with us as mementoes of our meeting, and we heartily rejoice that Topeka can boast of such a splendid monument to United Presbyterianism.

We wish to express our appreciation of the welcome accorded by the Second Church, of the hospitality extended, of the kindness and untiring service of the pastor and his wife, and to all others who have contributed to our comfort and pleasure.

Respectfully submitted,

Mary B. Hamilton,
L. Elnora McMunn,
Mary Miller,
Mrs. T. A. Clark,
Mrs. Robert J. Hutton,
Committee.

The Chairman of the Committee on Recommendations, Mrs. I. C. Rankin, reported. Mrs. McDaniel offered another recommendation in regard to the name of Young Women's Societies. This recommendation was accepted by the Committee and added to the report. Mrs. E. M. Hill offered an amendment to the above recommendation and on motion amendment carried. Recommendation as amended adopted. A motion was made that the Committee's report be taken up seriatim. Carried. After amendments and substitutions a motion was made that the amended report as a whole be adopted. Carried. Report is as follows:

Report of Committee on Recommendations

1. There is nothing that will advance missionary zeal so much as the literature published on Missions, but especially our Magazines, that should be monthly visitors in every home and read by every member of the family. Therefore we recommend that every family in the Church take and read both the Women's Magazine and the Junior Magazine.

2. We recommend that each local society have for its motto, "Every woman of the congregation a member of the Missionary Society."

3. We recommend that a strenuous effort be made to carry out the action of the Convention regarding one-third of an increase in our regular contributions and that arrangements be made to provide contingent fund in addition.

4. We recommend that where it is possible the Presbyterials hold fall meeting the latter part of October to give societies an opportunity to bring in their Thank-offerings.

5. We recommend that writers of Magzines mark diacritically all foreign words.

6. We recommend that a bulletin board for the names of committees and for announcements be placed in a conspicuous place in Convention hall.

7. We recommend that all Presby-terials emphasize the Thank-offering service at their meeting.

8. We recommend that the Official Board shall be supplied with an adding machine.

9. We recommend that a report of the Convention be prepared by the delegates immediately after their return home and that a copy be sent to each congregation except those having had a representative at the Convention.

10. We recommend that the Young Women's organization between the Young Women's and the Juniors adopt a uniform name, and that each society be privileged to suggest a name to the Young Women's Secretary.

On motion delegates from the Women's Board to the General Assembly were instructed to ask the Assembly to authorize the Women's General Missionary Society to undertake mission work among the Southern Mountaineers as recommended by the Home Board.

A motion was made that the Board provide a missionary for work among the Italians in Columbus, Ohio. Carried.

Notice of Corporation meeting to be held May 31, at ten A. M. in Calvin Hall, Board of Publication Building, Pittsburg, was given by Mrs. Yourd. Delegates as far as possible were urged to attend.

Mrs. Alexander in behalf of Monongahela Presbyterial nominated the following persons as members of the Local Executive Committee for the general Convention of the Women's General Missionary Society to be held in the Sixth United Presbyterian Church, Pittsburg, in May, 1908: Mrs. William Campbell, Stanton Avenue, Pittsburg; Mrs. Robert McCague, Morewood Avenue, Pittsburg; and Mrs. David Blair, Atlantic Avenue, Pittsburg. On motion these persons were elected.

What advantage is it to us to have a General Missionary Meeting? Why not give the money expended to Missions? were questions asked. Mrs. T. H. McMichael, of Monmouth, responded in these words:

"The enthusiasm received while in attendance at the Convention makes us give more and more, and causes us to influence others to give because we have seen the need, and the money which pours into the Board far exceeds the amount spent for delegates to these conventions, on account of this same enthusiasm."

It was reported that $67 could be added to the Thank-offering from India.

The retiring President presented the new officers.

Minutes were adopted.

Meeting adjourned by singing number 148, Bible songs, and Rev. Mr. White pronounced the benediction.

Mrs. W. R. Baldridge, President,
Mrs. J.T . Logue, Secretary.

Annual Meeting

OF THE WOMEN'S GENERAL MISSIONARY SOCIETY OF THE UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF NORTH AMERICA, MAY 31, 1907.

MINUTES.

The Annual Meeting of the Women's General Missionary Society of the United Presbyterian Church of North America was held Friday, May 31st, 1907, at 10 o'clock, a. m. in Calvin Hall Publication Building, Pittsburg, Pa. First Vice-President, Miss E. D. Brown, presided and conducted devotional exercises, Mrs. Calhoun, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Cameron each leading in prayer. The following delegates and members of the Board were present: Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Calhoon, Mrs. Walk, Mrs. Cunningham, Miss Andrews. Miss Lambie, Miss Remaley, Miss Monroe, Mrs. Noble, Mrs. Cameron, Miss Brown, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. E. M. Hill, Mrs. J. B. Hill, Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. Wallace. Mrs,. Elliot, Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Yourd.

Mrs. J. B. Hill presented the business of the Convention for approval. And on motion the following reports were adopted:

Report of Statistical Secretary.
Report of Recording Secretary.
Report of Treasurer.
Report of Finance Committee.
Report of Home and Ministerial Relief Secretary.
Report of Parsonage Secretary.
Report of Freedmen's Secretary.
Report of Foreign Secretary.
Report of Thank-offering Secretary.
Report of Junior Secretary.
Report of Young Women's Secretary.
Report of Business Manager of Junior Magazine.
Report of Women's Missionary Magazine.
Report of Literature Secretary.
Report of Secretary of Home for Missionary Children.

The report of the nominating committee was adopted as follows: For President, Mrs. J. P. White; First Vice-President, Mrs. I. C. Rankin; Second Vice-President, Miss L. Elnora McMunn; Secretary, Mrs. J. T. Logue; Treasurer, Mrs. J. B. Hill.

For Board of Directors: Miss E. D. Brown; Mrs. Samuel Yourd; Mrs. E. M. Hill; Mrs. M. W. Porter, Mrs. Geo. MacDonald. For Magazine Committee, Mrs. W. C. Hutchison, Mrs. Geo. Moore, Mrs. H. C. Dean, Mrs. S. M. Kelso and Miss Sarah Reid. For Temperance Committee, Mrs. Henrietta Monroe, Miss Eva Shontz, Mrs. J. A. Henderson.

Report of Committee on Place was adopted. Tne following names were presented for the local Executive Committee: Mrs. Wm. Campbell, Mrs. Robert S. McCague, Mrs. David Blair. On motion these persons were elected.

Report of Committee on Resolutions was adopted.

Report of Committee on Recommendations was read and on motion No. 1 was amended to read "Name for Societies between the Young Women and Juniors, that the vote be recorded before Jan. 1st with the Young Women's Secretary and that the Women's Board decide upon a name as soon after as possible. No. 2 was read; No. 3 was read; Nos. 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9 read. No. 10 was read and on motion the report adopted.

Report of the Temperance Committee was adopted.

Report of the Field Secretary was adopted.

Report of the Women's Association was adopted.

The Junior Secretary gave a short report of the Junior Conference held during the Convention and stated that Junior leaders present pledged themselves to increase the subscription list to ten thousand rather than to increase the price. The Secretary also stated that the one hundred new subscribers asked for at the Convention had all been secured but seven, and these seven were promptly taken at the Corporation meeting. This report was on motion adopted.

Action authorizing the Committee to the General Assembly to ask the General Assembly to authorize the Women's General Missionary Society to undertake mission work among the Southern Mountaineers as recommended by the Home Mission Board, was endorsed.

It was moved and carried that a missionary be supported among the Italians in Columbus, Ohio. This action was approved.

The action that the Board procure a telephone for the Board room was endorsed. Motion carried that the general treasurer be authorized to turn over to the contingent fund all items of cents received from the treasurers of societies for the various departments of work, except in the case of the Thank-offering. The action authorizing delegates to take home to congregational societies the request to increase contributions one-third during the coming year, was endorsed.

The report of the Railroad Secretary was read and on motion adopted, and is as follows:

Report of the Railroad Committee of the Topeka Convention, May 14-17.

The number of delegates and visitors were as follows: Western Passenger Association, 172. Central Passenger Association, 39; Trunk Line Passenger Association, 7; Total, 218.

We wish to commend the women who handed in their R. R. Certificates to the Committee, Wednesday and Thursday morning. If all had been so prompt the work of the Committee would have been less irksome.

Grateful thanks are extended to the Rev. J. P. White, Mr. J. H. McLaughlin and Mr. L. W. Williamson, of Topeka; Mr. F. W. Conner, District Passenger Agent of the Ft. Wayne R. R. ; Mr. Fred Sankey, Agent, Pittsburg, Pa., and Mr. Shallenberger, of the Santa Fe R. R., Pittsburg, Pa., for courteous attention to delegates, visitors and the Committee in charge.

Respectfully submitted,

Miss E. D. Brown, Secretary.
Mrs. M. W. Porter,
Mrs. Saumel Yourd,
Committee.

Moved and carried that all bills in connection with the Convention, when properly certified, be paid by finance committee.

The minutes were read and on motion approved.

After prayer, meeting adjourned.

Miss E. D. Brown, President pro tem,
Mrs. Samuel Yourd, Secretary.

REPORT OF

Statistical Secretary.

The blanks sent out by the Statistical Secretary were scarcely started on the return trip, when the hands so eagerly awaiting them were in the providence of God stilled by the sudden and serious illness which prostrated for the time our secretary, Mrs. Mary W. Porter. This work which she has so ably done for many years has come into inexperienced hands, and we ask your indulgence where mistakes have been made. Mistakes, however, are not all to fall to the credit of the secretary pro-tem. Figures should tell the truth but where no figures are given, how can one get at the truth?

Last year your secretary stated that the reports were almost free from items of undesignated money. This year there was considerable money undesignated; and in such cases we divided it among the foreign, home and Indian, Freedmen's, and parsonage departments, and placed it in these columns. Some reports had written upon them, "You will in your experience know how and where to put this." But it was inexperience that had to deal with the problem. In one or two cases in delayed reports, undesignated money had to be placed in one column, because totals had been added and we did not have the time to go all over the report again. Two congregational reports were received, as late as May 6th.

A little money reported for China famine sufferers has not been counted in the totals.

In making up the General Summary, we copied the names of the Presbyteries from last years report, and when we came to fill in the summary we found a new presbyterial not on the list, and one omitted through an oversight. These are New Jersey and Gujranwala, and will be found at the end of the list. Rawal Pindi, India, and Spokane, Wash., sent no reports. These reported last year, 31 and 121 members respectively. Uniontown and East Toledo congregations had 26 and 10 members respectively. These do not appear on the blank. Five Junior Societies in Sidney Presbyterial did not report.

College Springs Presbyterial reported last year 47 societies, this year but 39. Two of these are new ones, leaving a net loss of eight societies. Eight others sent no report; for three of these we gave their last year's membership, the other five not reporting for two years were omitted, making a decrease in the membership of the Presbyterial of 286.

Conneaut has not reported for two years.

Societies reported disorganized: Gujranwala, Halsey, Ore., First Erie Coral Workers, Parnassus Juniors in Kiskiminetas Presbytery and Wampum Women's and Wurtunberg Women's in Beaver Valley Presbytery. The report from the Gault Canada congregation will not appear after this year; that congregation having gone into the Presbyterian denomination.

Is this picture assuming dark tints? The silver lining is only waiting to be turned up. We are glad to welcome New Jersey Presbyterial and the following new congregational organizations: Patterson, New Jersey; New Alexandria; Orchard Bay Ridge Aid; Highland Park, Los Angeles, Fairfield, Buffalo, Emporia, Kan., making nine senior societies, also ten young women's and twenty-one juniors, whose names will be given by the respective secretaries, make a total of forty new societies. We are almost sure there are other new organizations, but we are giving only what came to us in black and white.

The last mail before starting for the Convention brought the news of a society just organized in Weiser, Idaho, and as far as known is the first missionary society in the state.

Just how to find out our real membership is a question. Many of the Junior Christian Unions did not report their membership, so that while there is an increase in societies, the increase in membership is not correspondingly large.

In the summary the number of women's societies is given as much smaller than last year, while the number of young women's is larger. This we account for in part by the name. Social and Missionary Circle scarcely tells whether it is a young women's or senior society; so with mission club, Sarah Dales Lansing, Elizabeth Gordon, etc. All such were credited to the young women. While it is possible that Willing Workers, pastors' helpers, etc., may, some of them, be young women, all such have been credited to the juniors.

We feel that our first statistical experience is not an entire success. If all societies had reported promptly and fully, the totals would have been larger; and if all Presbyterial Secretaries would realize the importance of obeying the instructions, omit cents and designate their money, add and balance their part of the work, that of the General Secretary would be a pleasure instead of the laborious work it now is. Perhaps three of the reports were perfect. Several others had but one or two mistakes. A large majority made no attempt to add anything. One Presbyterial simply sent totals with the names of societies contributing.

Imperfect as we feel this report to be, we know our women are advancing; that in many places there are difficulties to overcome that in other places are not known. Our work has been blessed and we will not lower the standard, but call again for standard bearers to bring up the ranks.

REPORT OF Recording Secretary.

In presenting the annual report of the Board of Directors, we desire to bear testimony to the fact that God never had a work to do that He did not furnish the worker to do it. The same God who says "Do this," says also "Lo I am with you alway."

The past year has been one of much affliction in the Board; but with a true spirit of devotion to the work, each member has helped to bear the double portion of duty which at times has fallen upon her. We have come to the last page of the record for 1906-1907 and

"'Tis well for us all ere the day is run
To recall the good which the day has done,
Ill is the day that sinks to rest,
And sees no soul that our soul has blest."

On the fifth day of June the Board met and re-organized, electing the following officers and department secretaries.

President—Mrs. Annie R. Herron

First Vice-President—Miss E. D. Brown.

Second Vice-President—Mrs. Jno. A. Wilson.

Recording Secretary—Mrs. Samuel Yourd.

Statistical Secretary—Mrs. Mary W. Porter.

Treasurer—Mrs. J. B. Hill.

Corresponding Secretaries of Departments: Foreign—Mrs. E. M. Hill.

Home and Ministerial Relief—Mrs. H. C. Campbell.

Freedmen's—Mrs. R. A. Elliott.

Church Extension and Parsonage—Mrs. Geo. W. MacDonald.

Junior—Mrs. N. Wylie Stevenson.

Young Women's—Mrs. N. L. Wallace.

Thank-offering—Mrs. Mary Clokey Porter.

Home for Missionaries' Children—Mrs. Mary Wilson Porter.

Literature—Miss Elizabeth Caughey.

Railroad—Miss E. D. Brown.

Editor of Juniors' Missionary Magazine—Miss Margaret McLaughry.

Business Manager of Juniors' Magazine—Mrs. N. Wylie Stevenson.

Field Secretary—Mrs. Jeanette C. Alter.

Auditor—Mr. A. F. Sawhill.

Attorney—Major Robt. E. Stewart.

Standing committees were appointed as follows:

Executive—Mrs. Herron, Miss Brown, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Yourd, Mrs. J. B. Hill, Mrs. M. C. Porter, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. E. M. Hill, Mrs. Nease and Mrs. Wallace.

Finance—Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Herron, Mrs. J. B. Hill, Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. MacDonald.

Addresses—Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Nease.

Literature—Miss Caughey, Mrs. E. M. Hill, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. Wallace, Miss Anna Milligan, Miss McCague, Miss Jane Keer, Miss Loretta Mitchel, Miss Emma Campbell.

Temperance—Mrs. Henrietta Monroe, Miss Eva Shontz, Mrs. Jno. Henderson.

Printing—Mrs. Nease, Mrs. MacDonald, Mrs. Yourd.

Railroad—Miss Brown, Mrs. M. W. Porter, Mrs. Nease.

Mrs. J. B. Hill and Mrs. Stevenson represented the Board at the General Assembly at Richmond, Ind., in May '06.

In July Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. E. M. Hill and Miss McLaughry attended the Young People's Christian Union Convention in Dayton, Ohio.

July 3rd Miss McLaughry on account of accepting a position at Tarkio College, resigned as Editor of Junior Magazine. The resignation was accepted with regret and Mrs. Jno. A. Wilson was elected to fill the position.

July 3rd at the request of the Junior

Secretary a committee to assist with the Junior work was appointed as follows: Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. M. C. Porter and Mrs. E. M. Hill.

In October, Mrs. E. M. Hill and Mrs. J. B. Hill represented the Board in a conference with the foreign Board, in New York.

In November the Board decided to issue a Quarterly Bulletin, containing facts of the work, to be mailed to presidents of societies and designed for use in the society meetings.

In December it was decided to ask for a silver anniversary Thank-offering of one hundred thousand dollars to be presented in October, 1907.

December 18th, in anticipation of prolonged absence from home, Mrs. Wm. Nease offered her resignation as a member of the Board and it was accepted with regret.

February 5th, the burning of Vincent Hall was reported and Freedmen's Secretary was instructed to notify the Freedmen's Board that as soon as insurance money is received we will give it to them in case they wish to rebuild.

February 19th, Mrs. Jno. A. Crawford, Bellevue, Pa., was elected to fill vacancy on the Board.

A committee consisting of Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Herron and Mrs. M. C. Porter, was appointed to meet in conference with the Home Board in regard to work among the Southern Mountaineers.

The Board recommends that the Temperence Committee be elected for three years.

In March the Board opened Headquarters in the Board room, 209 Ninth street, with Miss Diana Milligan, stenographer, in charge.

In March Miss Elizabeth Caughey tendered her resignation as a member of the Board and it was accepted with regret. Mrs. Jno. A. Crawford was elected Literature Secretary in place of Miss Caughey, and all literature was ordered brought to the Board room, all orders for literature to be addressed to Woman's Board, Room 709, Publication Building, Ninth Street, Pittsburg Pa.

Twenty regular meetings and six called meetings were held during the year. One entire month of each year given to Board meetings looks insignificant to some when written on paper. Forty-five addresses to Societies were made by members of the Board.

The terms of Mrs. G. W. MacDonald, Mrs. E. M. Hill, Miss E. D. Brown, Mrs. M. W. Porter and Mrs. Samuel Yourd expire with this meeting. Surely the seed sown is bringing forth an ever increasing harvest. We are ever glad of increased opportunities though it means greater responsibilities. May the work double and treble and workers be added until every soul in the great harvest is gathered in.

"Come labor on: Who dares stand idle on the harvest plain,
While all around him waves the golden grain,
And every servant hears the Master say,
'Go work to-day?' "
"Come, labor on: The toil is pleasant, the reward is sure;
Blessed are those who to the end endure;
How full their joy, how deep their rest shall be,
O Lord, with thee!"

Respectfully submitted,

Mrs. Samuel Yourd.

REPORT OF

Literature Secretary.

In the business of missions there is no more important committee than the Committee of Literature. It does not keep the books; nor does it compile the statistics; nor does it deal merely with the mission fields; but it does keep in touch with each department of work, and it looks after the stock.

The stock consists of those organs of information which explain the business, locate and describe the fields of operation and stimulate the interest in the various departments of work. These organs consist of short historical sketches of work in each mission field, biographies, maps, original papers on Mission work (particularly those published by our own Board,) leaflets on giving helps for meetings, etc. These are planned, not only for the Women's Societies, but for the Young Women, for the Juniors, and even for the Little Light Bearers.

Who can estimate the results achieved by the distribution of these little emissaries of missions?

We can give you the figures, we can tell you how many leaflets have been sent out, and how much money they have brought in, but who can tell the story of their influence?

It is most important that the stock shall be bright, attractive and up-to-date. This is the aim of your Literature Committee. This committee consists of five members of the Board, assisted by seven bright intelligent young women, who have no small share in planning for and preparing all the literature listed in the new catalogue, that is placed at your disposal.

A Reading Committee carefully examines each manuscript or leaflet sent to us for listing.

A Picture Committee has been instrumental in securing for our use, plates for almost one hundred pictures of our Mission fields, of our Missionaries and of the people among whom they work.

We have brought to this convention, twenty-four new leaflets of our own publication, the new pictures, and a new catalogue almost twice the size of any we have ever before published.

One new plan we hope will appeal to all of our Societies is this: To any one who will send her name and address, accompanied by one dollar, to the Literature Committee, will be sent a copy of each of our new publications, deducting the price each time until the money is used, when a statement will be sent with the notice of expiration. This will save time and trouble not only to the Committee but also to the woman who wishes to keep in touch with our Mission work.

Although just entering this work, your new Literature Secretary can appreciate, as perhaps no other can, the service rendered by Miss Elizabeth Caughey, the former Secretary, who for six years, devoted her time and energy to this work. Her face was a familiar one at the Conventions and she will be greatly missed. Her one aim in this work was to reach the largest number possible with our publications. The work the past year shows that her labor was not in vain.

Mrs. John A. Crawford,
Literature Secretary.

REPORT OF

Thank-offering Secretary.

FOR YEAR ENDING APRIL 15, 1907.

On this, the twentieth anniversary of our beautiful thank-offering work for the Master, we would set up a stone of remembrance, and call the name of it "Ebenezer," saying, "Hitherto hath the Lord helped us." Twenty years ago the first call was sent out by the Women's Board to societies for a thank-offering for missions. Six weeks after, an offering of $5,919.20 was laid on God's altar at the convention, held at Washington, Pa. This offering was given by 143 societies, 2 congregations and 51 individuals. To-night we are to present to the Lord an offering amounting to $37,499.64, which will represent nearly all of the missionary societies of the church. One year ago, the workers in planning for their first fall thank-offering, realized that only a brief six months of time could be had to prepare for the "Ingathering," and that three months of that time a large majority of the women would probably be expending their money in search of health, of pleasure, in the mountains, by the lake or by the sea. As a result, there was in the very atmosphere of the missionary societies a spirit of anxiety, and a quiet questioning in the hearts of even the most hopeful as to "What will likely be the result in figures of the six months' offering?" "To what extent would a less offering than usual, cripple the women's work?" This anxiety served to call forth prayers more fervent, plans more extensive, efforts more zealous. With God's blessing upon these, we are able to report at this hour, a six months' offering larger than any one given in any twelve months previous, except the Twentieth Century Offering of $40,000.00. With this encouraging fact before us, can we not hear the voice of Christ saying to us, as he said to Peter, "O, thou of little faith, wherefore didst thou doubt?"

The past year will go down into history as the busiest year the Thank-offering department has ever known. Every month, every week, and almost every day has been full to overflowing with work pertaining to the thank-offering, and what does this indicate? A widening and deepening desire on the part of the women of the church for help in extending that beautiful spirit of giving unto the Lord, gifts of gratitude, a spirit which we trust will pervade the entire church and make it serve as a beacon light to guide others to a higher plane of scriptural giving. While the individual offering may not be greatly increased, everything indicates the number of givers to be increased each year. The figures in the statistical report will give some idea of the demand for Thank-offering leaflets, boxes, envelopes, and Responsive Services. The demand for Bible Book-marks alone was unprecedented. Within six months after samples were sent out, over 52,000 copies were ordered by our own societies and congregations and 33,000 by eight Women's Boards of other denominations. Besides the societies East, North and West of our own denomination, societies in every State in the South but Louisiana ordered the Book-marks. The missionary societies in Egypt had 500 copies printed in Arabic for their societies. May it not be that these little Book-marks in the Bibles in many Christian homes, have had something to do with the very many encouragements in Thank-offering work the past year.

For the first time blanks were furnished Thank-offering Presbyterial Secretaries to send out to the congregational societies last November. These have served to bring the secretaries and the societies into closer touch with each other than heretofore. They have given the Presbyterial secretaries correct figures from which to compile their annual reports to the Presbyterial, and they have furnished the General Secretary a list, showing what societies are growing in the grace of giving. To study the filled-in spaces of about one thousand blanks has been a real joy as they tell much for God's honor and glory. They show:

First—that nearly all the societies in the church have fallen into line, and are keeping step together in giving the Thank-offering in the fall.

Second—That a larger number of societies than ever before have given their entire offering into the treasury of the Women's General Missionary Society for work they are pledged to support and that but few have designated their offerings.

Third—That the custom of using some form of well-prepared programs for "Ingathering" services is extending.

Fourth—That the holding of Thank-offering services simply for the faithful few in the societies, is almost obsolete—as it should be—all the women of the congregation are invited to participate.

Fifth—That the pastors in general are showing themselves in full accord with the Thank-offering movement by preaching appropriate sermons on "Ingathering" days.

Sixth—That new societies are promptly joining the ranks of Thank-offering givers, and some are among the most liberal in gifts.

Seventh—That through the efforts of Presbyterial Thank-offering Secretaries, committees (or secretaries) are being given special charge of the Thank-offering work in congregations.

Eighth—That the Juniors, and in some instances, the Little Light Bearers, are coming more and more to include the thank-offering in their lists of gifts to the Lord.

Ninth—That in almost every Presbyterial where boxes are in general use, the offerings have greatly increased.

WHAT THE FIGURES SHOW.

The figures show that forty-three Presbyterials gave larger offerings in the six months—from April to October, 1906—than in the previous twelve months. Several Presbyterials would have had larger amounts credited to their accounts had not some of the societies sent in their offerings after February 1st, when the Treasurer's books were closed. However, these delayed offerings will be duly credited on the offering of next fall. The spirit of increased liberality is especially seen in some of our mission fields. The wife of the missionary at Bluestone, Virginia, writes: 'The Junior Boxes sent by you last December gave great pleasure to the children. They have brought in a Thank-offering amounting to $10.00." It may be truly said of these dear boys and girls—"They have done what they could."

The sorely stricken members of the First Church, San Francisco, who one year ago, found the "bread-line" an important factor in the lives of themselves and their families, have proved their gratitude to God for His care over them with the very generous offering of $108.00. Six months previous they had given $120.00 as their spring offering.

GOOD NEWS FROM THE THANK-OFFERING "INGATHERING" IN EGYPT.

Miss Marion A. Paden writes: "Our Presbyterial Thank-offering meeting was held on March 8th, and those in Assiut and Luxor about the same time. The Luxor offering was $30.00, Assiut $206.65, Sohag $25.00. The Delta Presbyterial (including Fayoum, Cairo, and all the towns in the Delta where there are missionaries) gave $406.75. Sohag has no missionary, but has a native pastor. A Girls' School has recently been opened, and a missionary society organized through Miss Buchanan, of Luxor. The $25.00 is their first Thank-offering. We used the Bible Book-marks in Arabic as a part of the Thank-offering hour, the leader reading the reasons for giving, and the audience responding with the Scripture selections. A short talk was given by the leader. One interesting item in connection with the Thank-offering in Miss Kyle's school was that every member of the class of girls which graduated last December sent back a Thank-offering. Another girl who had graduated some time before, sent as her offering fifty cents. As they are not well off, this means quite a little to her. She is a Greek. Another, a Syrian girl, whose family is well-to-do and who married well (from a financial stand-point) sent in ten dollars. She also sent to Miss Thompson, a few days later, fifteen dollars for the work among women. She entirely supports a Bible woman.

The total offering from missionary societies in Egypt is $668.40. This offering given largely through great self-denial, is larger than any of forty-six Presbyterials gave in our home land. Are the missionaries and native converts and school girls in Egypt to unite in leading the women of America to a higher plane of giving? If the details of the Thank-offering work for the year could be known by the church at large, as they are known to those who keep in close touch with the work, what an inspiration it would be to all our people and what an uplift it would be to the toilers in the various fields of our church's activity.

But what of the future of our Thank-offering work? What will next fall's offering bring into the Lord's treasury in celebration of the Twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of our Women's General Missionary Society? The call that comes up from all parts of the church is for $100,000. Shall we get this full amount? This question is for the women and the Juniors of our entire church to answer. As an aid in gathering in systematic offerings, nearly seventy thousand Senior and Junior boxes were sent out in April, seeking an entrance to the homes and hearts of our people, and asking for a share of the silver and gold which God has entrusted to their care to use for Him. Every box was sent out in prayer that it might become a real "blessing box" to its owner. Judging from scores of letters of acknowledgment, these boxes are being most enthusiastically distributed by the workers, and most kindly received. It is the first time the Women's Board has sent boxes, without orders, to the Juniors,—the coming men and women of the church,—and messages from the leaders indicate bright prospects for having a great army of regular systematic givers in the church of the future. Pleading appeals come for enlargement in every department of our Women's Work. What answer can be given? If the Women's Board is to respond favorably to these pitiful appeals, the Thank-offering must do its full part in meeting the needs.

At times the Women's Board is almost appalled by the demands upon its treasury, but when we reflect that the work is God's, and He has raised up as His co-workers a glorious company of women and children who know not what the word "fail" means, we are encouraged to ask and expect great things of them. We are sure they will not disappoint us.

REPORT OF

Finance Committee

FOR YEAR ENDING APRIL 15, 1907.

The duties of the finance committee are to conduct all negotiations concerning all loans and investments, reporting the same to the Board for action; collect all interest due, and pay all bills for incidental expenses out of contingent fund as ordered by Board.

Investments are made of endowment funds of our hospitals and surplus funds of Women's Magazine. Interest on these investments is placed to the credit of the foregoing.

We are often asked to make loans to struggling congregations which find it impossible to erect their churches without borowing some money. As far as our funds have permitted, we have granted these requests. Loans are granted for one year only, and on first mortgage. Renewals are made from year to year when possible. Four and one-half per cent is the rate of interest for the first year, and five per cent thereafter. All congregations are expected to reduce loan annually after the first year.

Herewith follows report of loans:

We are pleased to report that Mt. Washington Church, Pittsburg, Pa., has paid its loan in full. Ten others have made payments amounting to $2,039.30.

With the rapidly increasing demands of our work, and very small increase in contributions, we are compelled to refuse to make any further loans, and determined effort will be made during the coming year to call in as many of the existing loans as possible, granting very few, if any, renewals.

The interest derived from the foregoing loans, the interest from daily bank balances and offerings from societies for this purpose, constitute what is known as our contingent fund. Puget Sound and Oregon Presbyterials are the only societies contributing this year.

Herewith follows annual report of contingent fund:

REPORT OF

Parsonage Work

FOR THE YEAR ENDING APRIL 15, 1907

The survey of our year's missionary effort along parsonage lines reveals facts that should have more than ordinary attention.

It is no longer necessary to call to mind that this work is a necessary incident in the establishment and in the strengthening of our Home Mission congregations. From this work therefore will follow results far reaching and that cannot be estimated in the curtailed accounts of annual reports.

The cause of missions does not lose but gain through the building of a parsonage in a needy place.

"There is that scattereth, and yet increaseth; and there is that withholdeth more than is meet, but it tendeth to poverty."

By scattering here and there a little to our needy Home Mission fields, the membership and the mission funds of the church will be greatly increased, which is a part of the primary purpose of this work. And as is true in business enterprises so is it equally true in the church's activities, that the greatest success comes from the best equipment. To this end your Board has endeavored to keep pace with the important work of the church in its demands made for parsonages.

When we looked over the field one year ago it was thought $15,000 would be a just estimate for probable appropriations. But $23,100 have been paid on loans, and congregations in certain places have suffered to some extent because we were unable to give the financial support desired.

Seven congregations are waiting to-day the answer to their call for help. The aggregate amount needed for these applications is $17,000.

Writes the Superintendent of Missions in one of the Presbyteries of the great state of Kansas:—"This congregation has recently installed the new pastor. He has not been able yet to bring his family because there has not been a house he could secure to live in. It is therefore imperative that some provision be made for a parsonage.

We have very good hopes for the work in this field but a comfortable house for the pastor is absolutely necessary. He is boarding here, while his family is living in another place." Later the pastor writes:—"After long weeks of waiting I have finally got my family here. We are cooped up in a temporary and very uncomfortable place and have not given up the hope of having a parsonage."

From two congregrations in one of our great north-western states and in a rapidly growing city come requests for parsonages. These cases equally as urgent as the first. Houses to rent in the vicinity of the church are scarce and unsuitable and rents far in advance of the pastor's ability to pay from the meager salary of a Home missionary.

Then there comes a call for a parsonage from the other side of the continent in a large city of the Atlantic coast. The pastor, as in the other cases mentioned is housed in a poorly adapted place. An opportunity is open to secure the only available lot for blocks away; the option on the lot to be closed in a short time. What can the parsonage fund do for this place? Answer, nothing at present. And so the story goes, each appeal carries with it some special reason for early action.

But what of the work accomplished? The record is as follows:—

1st Church, Schenectady, N. Y...	$3000
Elmwood, Des Moines, Ia.....	3500
Boynton, I. T.....	1000

West Allis, Wis	1800
North End, Allegheny, Pa	2800
Garfield Boul'd, Chicago, Ill	3000
Bellingham, Wash	2000
Long Beach, Cal	2500
Lincoln Nebr. (1st payment)	1500
Lincoln, Nebr. (entire loan, $3200)
2nd Indianapolis Ind (1st payment)	1000
2nd Indiananpolis, Ind. (entire loan, $2000)
1st San Francisco, Cal., (given on account of earthquake)	1000
Total	$23100

From the above it will be seen $2700 are needed for the final payments on two of these grants. To this add $17,000 required for applications on hands and we have the total sum of $19,700 needed at once for this department.

With the development of our church in the mission fields it is safe to say $35,000 will be a low estimate for the new year's work.

From what sources may we look for this money?

It comes in a three fold-way: first, from the contributions of the societies, Women's and Juniors; second, from the re-payments of outstanding loans; third, from a share of the Thank-offering.

And here we each should look well into the work of our individual society.

What has my own society done to help this part of the work which the women of the church have pledged to do, should be asked by each member.

The treasurer's report shows a decrease in contributions the past year from those of the preceding year. The aggregate amount from all societies being $1601.41, not sufficient to build one parsonage.

Are you surprised to know that some societies do not make any contributions of their funds to this work?

May this year which will bring us to our silver anniversary, bring with it an offering from each society to the parsonage work.

Another view of this department reveals the fact that through it in the years gone by a good work has been accomplished. Ninety-four congregations have felt the touch of women's effort and a parsonage in each place stands as a monument.

Of the ninety-four loans made thirty-five have been returned, leaving fifty-nine congregations still under obligations to our Women's General Missionary Society.

During the year closed four congregations have made final payments on their loans and therefore closed their accounts with the Board. They are as follows: Goldfield, Iowa; Newton, Kansas; First Seattle, Wash., and Homestead, Pa.

With the appended financial statement we close the record of another year.

The demand for your interest, your prayers, your gifts to the parsonage department was never more imperative than at the present time.

REPORT OF Field Secretary.

It was good to watch the gathering of our clans to this convention, and to note so many faces that recall loving, helpful lives and hospitable homes.

God bless our women! Every year deepens the conviction that they are the best, the truest in the land, and as I look again, the faces before me seem to resolve into a sort of composite picture, bringing into relief the distinctive features which characterize the twenty-five thousand women you represent here to-day.

But what of the fifty thousand women in our beloved Zion who have not yet "caught the vision" of the world's greatest need? If each of our women would make herself responsible for the enlistment of two others during this coming year, the result could be easily told in figures, but the Lord alone can calculate the ratio of growth in the spiritual kingdom. Will you undertake your share my sister? There is your neighbor who votes missionary societies a bore. Have you done what you could to disprove her misguided theory by making your society a bright, attractive center? Have you sat at Jesus' feet until you have caught the glow from His face to reflect into the heart of that one who sees no sorrow but her own? Have you dropped a seed thought into another heart that does not see things as you do? And does your enthusiasm for our beloved Magazine prompt you to speak of the latest thing in modern missions which will catch the attention of that club woman who has no time for this "club of world-wide interest." Will you do it? Then we shall celebrate our silver anniversary seventy five thousand strong, in a jubilation that will sound in the ears of the sin-darkened millions across the sea.

During the past year your secretary has traveled over three thousand miles, and held one hundred and seven meetings. Every where there is the desire expressed for more definite knowledge along missionary lines, a willingness for sacrifice and self denial, which is the natural outcome of spiritual quickening. When we are really in touch with the Lord of missions whole-hearted service alone will satisfy us. The keynote has been sounded in many of our presbyterials that will mean a great advance toward the HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLAR mark set for our silver Thank-offering.

Eight new organizations have been effected during the year, three senior and five Young Womens's Societies and a number of defunct ones quickened.

Our Young Women's department ranks first in importance, for we must look to them for recruits to man every missionary enterprise. David had a hill-top vision of our day, when he prayed that our daughters might be as corner stones—corner pillars (R. V.) giving beauty, stability and support to the spiritual temple "that groweth to an holy habitation." Consecrated young womanhood is the fairest, sweetest sight this side of Heaven.

Honored, chosen of the Holy Spirit as the channel for the incarnation of the eternal Son of God, our young women have since been graciously accepted as channels to carry the water of life to a sin perishing world.

Whenever practicable, young women's presbyterial secretaries should be located in college towns, which will bring them in to personal contact with our student volunteers, and through others work for organizations in neighboring towns.

A number of Junior bands in operation this year can scarcely be called organizations but they are working to that end and are enthusiastic over special work assigned to them. In a number of instances when the boys "feel too big" for Junior societies, leagues have been organized, auxiliary to the men's league with splendid results. Try it if this problem confronts you.

A good thing for our Juniors during the vacation season, will be to secure orders for our new Christmas book that has been promised if we secure one thousand orders beforehand. "Little Brothers of Mine," stories from real life in our land and across the sea—attractively illustrated, incentive enough in itself, but it will be helping our Junior Magazine at the same time to furnish more illustrations for its pages

The past two months were spent in Kansas and Oklahoma. The magnitude and needs of our new fields in the middle southwest are beyond the power of words to describe. Urgent appeals have been coming to our church for strong gospel ministers to occupy important points which must be lost to us, because there are no men to enter these open doors.

Oklahoma Presbytery has an area of seventy-five thousand square miles. Think what it means for the delegates to make the trip to our presbyterial convention which was held at Blair, a south-western point. There was a good representation, and a program successfully carried through, that sent them home enthusiastive and eager for the coming year's work. Who are these women? Many of them brave leaders and active workers in eastern societies. "Miss Oklahoma" may be untried in point of age, but is throughly up to date concerning our departments of work. Some incidents come to me now which may inspire others. I was privileged to clasp hands with one who had been instrumental in leading a missionary societv into active, effective work. She lived nine miles from the place of meeting and is the mother of seven splendid children.

Again in a new community, a little winsome, spirit-filled woman gathered her neighbors once a week to her home —all strangers and home-sick alike— "consolation meetings" the men called them but her wise guidance led their interest to the things of the Kingdom, and a wide awake, progressive society has resulted with a Junior band of sixty-six members, whose Bible drill exercise has engaged the interest of our progressive literature secretary. Many of the women in these new fields are working against tremendous odds, yet the results compare favorably with societies in some favored districts.

A week of continual rain interfered with roads and trains sufficiently to make evening meetings impossible sometimes for those in the country, but morning meetings were possible, and these good women drove in, often over miles of heavy roads, where I could talk to them until train time.

After recounting incidents of this western trip to one from our eastern society she exclaimed "why we are only playing back here."

Outside appeals for help are becoming a serious hindrance to our work in many places. How often one must sit and listen to these calls, which appeal so strongly to our sympathies and in spite of protest the treasury funds may be turned into these demands, while the work we are pledged to support suffers loss. It was heart-breaking to listen to our Foreign Secretary's report, and to know that we dare not advance or undertake new work unless more funds are in sight. Then our missionaries told of the new points that might be taken for Christ, if onlv the means were at hand. It does not indicate "narrowness" when we refuse the funds contributed for our own fields, to those who have no claim except as we may help them individually.

My beloved sisters, the new year is before us. You have been separated with the Gospel of God—called into the fellowship of His son and are bearing the seal of His approval in the work of the past year. Is it not incentive sufficient to make our quarter centennial year the best on record?

"And this I pray, that your love may abound yet more and more in knowledge and all discernment so that ye may discern the things that differ. That ye may be sincere and void of offense unto the day of Christ, being filled with the fruits of rightousness, which are through Jesus Christ, with the glory and praise of God." Amen

April 12, 1906 to May 12, 1907.

Visited 67 congregations in 18 presbyteries.

Total number of meetings held 107.

Total offerings $77 88

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE Junior Secretary.

It has been said that "the Nineteenth Century is already characterized in history as the Child's Century. Among all the marvelous achievements which have been recorded in the past hundred years the discovery of the child and the recognition of the rightful position of the child in society must be acknowledged as among the most notable contributions the century has made to Christendom."

To our faithful Junior Secretaries and Superintendents who have labored in the interests of the Juniors all these years, is due the greatest honors as well as the richest rewards, for they have had a large share in this advancement of the child to the rightful recognition of the church.

And now our hearts are full to overflowing to-day, as we bring to you the first annual report of all the Junior societies and bands of our beloved church. This is a day that has long been looked forward to by some of us. We have labored and prayed that this union might be accomplished, and the mothers of the church be made responsible for the Christian training of the children.

Until May, 1906, the Junior forces of the church were divided. The Junior Christian Union and Junior Christian Endeavor Societies were under the care and direction of the Young People's Christian Union; the Junior Missionary Societies and Mission Bands under control of the Women's General Missionary Society. The plan agreed upon by a joint committee from the Women's Board and the General Committee on Young People's work to unite all the Junior organizations under the general supervision of the Women's General Missionary Society, was presented to you last May in the Junior Secretary's report, and received your hearty approval. Later the proposed change was presented to the General Assembly and endorsed in the following action:

"We approve the proposed consolidation of all Junior Societies under the direction of the Women's General Missionary Society, and recommend that the completion of a constitution for such consolidated society be left in the hands of the Women's General Missionary Society and the General Committee of Young People's Work.

In harmony with this action, the management of the entire Junior Work will hereafter be as follows:

First—A General Secretary, a member of the Women's Board, shall have the general oversight of the Junior Work.

Second—Presbyterial Junior Secretaries shall have the direction of Junior Work in Presbyteries.

Third— A Junior Committee of four, two to be appointed by the Women's Board and two by the General Committee on Young People's Work shall confer when necessary upon Junior interests. The General Secretary of the Young People's Christian Union and the General Secretary of Junior Work shall be ex-officio members of this committee.

Very little has been said during the year in a public way about the change in relationship of the societies, the better plan being we thought, to allow it to come gradually. We think, however, the time is now ripe for the women to assume the trust committed to them, and see that the change in auxiliaryship is made from the Young People's Christian Union to the Senior's Women's Missionary Society of the congregation. This we believe should be done in a public way before the members of the congregation, that the parents and others may become familiar with the change. Then by prayer and loving oversight, bring the society to do its best.

From fifty Presbyterials we bring to you the following statistics:

Number of Junior Christian Unions and Junior Christian Endeavor Societies	139
Number of Junior Missionary and Little Light Bearers	298
Total number of Societies	437
Membership	13,341
Honorary Membership 711, Life 52	763
Total Membership	14.104

It will be noted the figures in the Christian Union and Christian Endeavor Societies do not come up to those of previous years, but this was to be expected the first year, as it takes time to introduce new methods of reporting. We have no way of learning how many, but we know of a number of societies that reorganized as Junior Missionary after the Junior work was given over to the Women's General Missionary Society. The apparent loss may also be explained from the fact that in past years several Presbyterials reported the same societies as Junior Missionary and also as Christian Union, and in one Presbytery of which the Secretary has knowledge, they were all reported this year as Junior Missionary.

No report of any kind could be obtained from Brookville, Iowa Northwestern, New York, Puget Sound, Spokane or San Francisco. Could these reports have been obtained, the results in the above named societies would have been different, as 30 Junior Union and Endeavor Societies were reported last year, with a membership of 947.

We know there are Junior Societies in all these Presbyteries, but repeated efforts failed to bring any response. We still hold out the plea to these Presbyteries and many other societies not heard from, to send the reports that we may have a more complete file of all the Junior Societies of the church. Societies not reporting will miss the circular letters and free literature sent by the Secretary and the Thank-offering boxes from the secretary of that department. Albany and Pittsburg, Kansas, Presbyteries report, "We have no Junior Societies." The Junior Missionary Societies show an increase of sixteen societies over last year. There are more than one thousand congregations in the church; less than one-half of them have a Junior Society.

Many plans were made at the beginning of the year for our enlarged work, but because of personal and family illness and bereavement only part of our plans were carried out. We believe, however, all letters and questions were answered, either by the Secretary. or one in her place.

The evidence that our Junior Work has made progress is the large number of societies organized during the year; forty-one, the largest number ever reported in one year and it is encouraging to note that 753 of the dear boys and girls made a profession of their faith in Christ.

A new constitution and by-laws have been prepared. A booklet of twenty-four pages, "Helpful Hints for Junior Leaders," Graduating Exercises; a diploma to be given to Juniors graduating into the Senior Society; "The Mother and the Junior Society," and other helpful leaflets, which can be obtained at the Literature Table, or at the Women's Board Headquarters, Pittsburg.

Little Light Bearers.

The Little Light Bearers' membership totals	1,235
The contributions show	$225.00

It will be seen that all the Little Light Bearers' money was not paid into the fund designated. The smallest amount paid for any one of these little tots is 25 cents a year, which would total almost $300.

Contributions.

The statistical blanks this year did not call for an itemized statement of the way in which the money was disbursed. The contributions amounted to $9,386.31. Of this amount $6,680.29 was given for missions; for other purposes, $1,988.67; value of boxes and barrels, $609.35.

THE UNITED PRESBYTERIAN MISSION LIBRARY
475 Riverside Drive New York 27, N. Y.

One society gave over $300.00, and three others gave nearly $300.00. Ten others raised from $100.00 to $180.00 each, but a large proportion of the societies report less than $25.00 each. That may be a large amount for some of the smaller societies, but in studying the figures, we are impressed with the feeling that all is not done that might be in developing the spirit of giving among the Juniors. Fifteen Junior Unions and Endeavor Societies, and one missionary society do not report any contributions.

Special Work.

Our special work—to pay for 325,000 bricks to build the first Christian School for Girls in Khartoum North, proved to be of great interest to the Juniors, and instead of the $1,625.00 necessary for this purpose, $2,397.02 was paid, nearly eight hundred dollars more than the Board asked for, and which will about pay for the windows and doors necessary in the building.

Because of the interest in this school building, and the excellent showing of the Juniors, the Board recommends the continuation of this work for another year, and asks for $2000. Now let me tell you how we propose this money shall be used. Since the dear boys and girls have not only paid for the necessary bricks to erect the building, but also for the windows and doors, we ask them, first, to put the roof on at a cost of $350.00; after this, to pay for the tile used in the floors. The tile to be used is one foot square, and will cost ten cents each. As the number required will be 6500, that will make $650.00, or the first $1000.00. Then we are ready to furnish the school room which will require in the neighborhood of another thousand dollars. Included in the furnishings are seats for one hundred girls, tables, chairs, desks for the teachers, at least ten large wall maps, and three or four charts costing about $5.00 each; a hat closet, $10.00; a clock, $10.00; two large sewing tables, $20.00 each. Then there is the bell to remind the boys and girls that it is time for school, and so we might go on enumerating.

Instead of each Junior Society making selection as to what it will pay for, the plan is to divide the above amount into shares at ten cents a share, and as the different items specified are paid for, it will be noted in the Junior Magazine, and the Juniors be kept informed as to the progress they are making. If the money piles up beyond the $2000.00, as we believe it will, we will have other items to give.

Life Membership.

Three years ago a Life Membership Fund was started among the Juniors. Any child under fifteen years may become a member by the payment of ten dollars at one time. To-day we can report fifty-two members, which means $520. which has been used toward the endowment of beds for sick children in Sialkot Hospital, India. Three hundred and fifty dollars is the amount necessary for the endowment of one bed, or thirty-five life memberships. Through the generosity of parents, grandparents, uncles, aunts, and friends, these life memberships have been secured and by a little tactful effort on the part of superintendents or members of the Women's Missionary Society, many more of these memberships may be secured. Of the fifty-two, eight have been received this year, two of whom worked for the money to pay for this membership, and reports come of two others who are working to this end. The following is a list of this year's Life Members:

Raymond Faris; John Paul Cameron, 6th Church, Pittsburg; Mike Robinson, 6th Church, Pittsburg; Jean Miller Kiser, Shadyside Church, Pittsburg; Raymond Hutchison Cherry, Xenia, Ohio; Andrew Randles Maxwell, Somonauk, Ill.; Verne Montacue, Kirkwood, Ill.; Marion Elizabeth Moffett, 9th Church, Pittsburg.

Junior Magazine.

We are pleased to be able to report six Presbyterials in which every society in the Presbytery takes the magazine. These are Argyle, Beaver Valley, Cedar Rapids, Le Claire, Rock Island and Xenia. In ten others there was only one to spoil the perfect record. These are Chartiers. College Springs, Delaware, Indiana, Kiskiminetas. Lake, Mansfield, Mercer and Oklahoma.

We find seventy-five societies report no magazines taken. Many of these heretofore have been subscribers, and we believe the omission is only due to the neglect on the part of some one. These seventy-five societies report a member ship of 2,224, which would have been a great help financially to the Magazine.

Topic Cards.

Frequent inquiries have come to the Secretary in regard to the Junior subjects for study. The topics as outlined by the Junior Committee of Women's General Missionary Society and Young People's Christian Union have been printed and are for sale by the United Presbyterian Board of Publication, Pittsburg, at 75 cents a hundred.

Good Things Secretaries Have Done.

A Colorado secretary in anticipation of the annual blanks coming, wrote to every one of the Junior societies in her Presbytery hoping to get the Superintendents interested in making good reports. She says. "The interest in Junior work is so much greater this year than it was last year, I feel encouraged to even greater efforts."

"I am sending sample copies of the little Magazine to every family in the congregation where there are children, and urging the other superintendents in the Presbytery to do the same."

Here is an excellent idea from the same secretary: "I have invited the mothers of our Juniors to meet with me that I may plan the year's work with them."

Another western Secretary offered her time and services to visit every congregation in the Presbytery to stimulate interest and organize a society where desired. A California Secretary visited many of the societies and offered a banner as a special inducement to Bible study. Four points were given in the contest:

1. Largest average attendance in proportion to membership.
2. Largest average bringing Bibles to Junior Society.
3. Largest number Bible verses committed.
4. Largest offering to our Junior Special Work.

Good Things Accomplished.

The keynote of encouragement seems to run through all the reports, many reiterating the same expression such "Increased interest in missions, in Bible study, in special work, better average attendance, better contributions, etc. Other good things are—"A three months course of scripture memorizing; every member takes part in the prayer service; we are interesting children in our meetings who will not go to church or Sabbath School; all but four of our members are from homes outside the church; we have succeeded in getting all our members to unite with the church; distributing food and flowers to poor and sick at Thanksgiving." "Self-denial to raise $12.00." "Earning and giving our money without socials." "Successful investment of dimes." "A lively interest in contributions to Special Work.' "The boys are deeply interested." "Getting the boys to take a very active part." "We held our meeting all through the year, not one was missed."

These few good things are culled from the report, hoping they may be suggestive to others.

Trained Workers.

In closing we would say: The call of our church and everywhere is for trained workers, and those best fitted are called to the front.

What great opportunities open up to our Junior workers in preparing the children God has placed under their care to be trained workers in His Kingdom. No greater commendation can be ours than "She took the child and trained it for Him."

(Signed) Mrs. N. Wylie Stevenson, Secretary.

With the October issue of 1906, the Junior Missionary Magazine changed editors. Miss Margaret McLaughrey was called to the position of Dean of Tarkio College and consequently felt compelled to give up her editorial work. Her letters to the present editor show that the sorrow with which she gave up the management of the little magazine remains with her to this day, for in her two years connection with it, she had grown to greatly love the work.

In January 1907 the Magazine made its appearance in a colored cover of original design, and some improvements were made in the type and in the arrangement of material. The Juniors have been loud in their praise of these improvements, and though they have added considerably to the cost of publishing, we feel that they are well worth while.

A new departure was the sending out in December of a 1907 announcement in the form of an attractive little booklet whose contents set forth an enumeration of what the readers of the magazine might expect for the coming year. These announcements were sent far and near over the church, and it is hoped, reached most of the Junior Societies.

Miss Cora B. Sloan, of Martin's Ferry, Ohio, has prepared the lessons for Junior meetings during the year. Her manuscript has been a great comfort to both editor and printer, for its correctness and punctuality in putting in appearance. Miss Jean Hill did not allow her wedding to interfere with her notes on the United Mission Study Lessons, and from her new home in Caledonia, New York, she continues to send her monthly contribution to the magazine. The children have kept Aunt Ella's Cozy Corner so well filled that her only trouble has been to find room for all the letters which come to her.

Our special foreign correspondents for the year are Mrs. J. Kelly Giffen, in the Sudan; Miss Kate Hill, in India; Miss Rena Hogg, in Egypt. These names are sufficient guarantee that our Juniors are provided with the best of reading.

We are greatly indebted to Mrs. Matilda Strang Hyde, the daughter of our Egyptian Missionary, Dr. Strang, who has written a serial story for us which will run throughout the year and which has already captured the hearts especially of our boy readers.

The Junior's Special Work has had one page of the magazine devoted to it monthly, and the zeal with which the Juniors have worked at their brickmaking, in part at least, is due to the fact that the subject was kept before them in one form or another each month.

In order to create a fund for the better illustrating of the magazine, the Women's Board has authorized the editor to compile a book of missionary stories for children, and to publish it in December, provided that before that time a thousand copies of the book have been ordered. It is calculated that the sale of a thousand copies will about cover the cost of publication and all profits thereafter will be devoted to the "Illustrating Fund" of the magazine. The book will be sold for twenty-five cents a copy. Send all orders to the editor of the magazine. Send no money till you receive the book.

Those who are to take our places in the Church, the Missionary Society, the Presbyterial, the Convention, are now in the Junior Christian Unions and the Junior Missionary Societies. No woman in this Convention will question the all-importance of training these children along missionary lines. If the work we hold so dear is to be permanent, the training of our successors is imperative. Perhaps there is no single agent, under God's blessing more capable of bringing about splendid results than attractive, instructive missionary reading for the children. If you agree with me in this statement, there are two things which you are in duty bound to do: First, to pray for the editor of and contributors to the Junior Missionary Magazine. Surely there are none who need the guidance of the Holy Spirit more than those who are seeking to direct the children's steps. Second; to work for the Magazine. This magazine is your missionary messenger to the children of the church. It is your duty to see that it reaches every family where there is a child under fifteen years of age. Where there is no Junior Society, introduce it into the primary and intermediate grades of the Sabbath school. It is needed more in churches where there is no Junior Missionary society than in those where there is a missionary society.

We all came to this Convention not only to get good, but to learn to do good. Here is one practical suggestion for your note book. Write it down something like this: "Find out, when I go home, how many families there are in our congregation with children under fifteen years of age. Find out how many Junior Missionary Magazines are taken in our congregations. Compare these two figures, and if they do not balance, see if I can make them balance before another General Convention."

We have a mailing list at present of between six and seven thousand. Let us all work together and see if we cannot bring it up to ten thousand before another report is due.

Mrs. J. A. Wilson,
Editor Junior Missionary Magazine.

Business Manager of The Junior Missionary Magazine.

We came to you last year asking that our subscription list might be increased to 7000, and we suggested how this might be done but instead of being able to report the seven thousand which we confidently expected because of our increased Junior forces, we have to report a slight decrease in the circulation. The number of subscriptions received from January 1906, to January 1907, 6,480. We are pleased to say our mailing list a present is several hundred better than this. As it was necessary to make a change in our printer at the first of the year, we thought it a good time to make some changes in the Magazine that would add to its attractiveness, and create greater interest, hence you have the Magazine to-day with its pretty colored cover of which we wrote in our last report.

With our increased constituency of seven to eight thousand Juniors, we come to you to-day asking for at least four thousand additional subscribers, making our list ten thousand. Nothing short of this will pay for the Magazine in its present form and at its present price.

Do you ask why? Because of the unprecedented rise in the price of paper the past year, and because of the increased wages demanded by workmen. We may also add the probable increased rates of postage on all periodicals now sent as second class matter.

This little Magazine is yours, sisters, and we look to you to supply the means necessary for its growth. The children must be taught to love it, and you must teach them. One dollar is not much for any one to give to distribute this little messenger to the children of your neighborhood, your church, or Sabbath School, or to send it to some needy home mission station where literature is appreciated because of its scarcity. How many volunteer dollars may we have for this purpose from this convention?

We are pleased to report this year a number of clubs made up in congregations where there are no Junior societies. Could we extend this plan to the more than seven hundred congregations without Junior societies, we would not need to ask for an increased circulation. Out of the 322 Junior societies reporting this year, eighty do not take the Magazine. These eighty societies foot up a membership of 2,224. See what a fine balance we could have reported with all these members added to our list.

In our financial statement you will see we report a balance of $193.37, but we also report a loan of $225.00 from the contingent fund of the Board. This brings our Magazine out this year with a small deficit, $31.63. It will be impossible to avoid greater deficit next year unless the price of the Magazine is increased, or a very much larger circulation secured, or advertisements inserted.

Will our subscribers please remember that Magazine orders cannot be sent "by return mail," as the Magazines are not kept in our homes, and it takes time to get the order into the office and have it filled.

Will subscribers also remember to send all orders to the Business Manager. By sending to the Editor, delay is caused. It requires a two cent postage stamp or extra telephone call to bring it across the river to the Business Manager, and in addition it means transfer of checks, money orders, etc., which adds additional labor.

Every opportunity has been improved to advertise the Magazine in the Church papers, the Quarterly Bulletin, on the Literature catalogue, leaflets, etc., and about three hundred sample copies were sent out. We find an increase in the number of copies going into the Sabbath School. The Magazine occupies a field wholly its own, and will not interfere with any other paper published by the church for the children. Let us have it introduced in more of the primary classes.

REPORT OF Women's Missionary Magazine.

"The enthronement of the missionary idea in the hearts of our people at home implies an impetus to the labor of our missionaries abroad." Knowledge is the true and substantial basis of an interest in any enterprise. Christian missions has suffered because the church has not kept her membership informed of its leaders and their localities in mission fields.

Formerly the mission field was afar off, and those who were at work there were almost unknown to the people at home. Once there was limited means of communication with mission fields; only an occasional letter found its way into the columns of the church newspaper, or perhaps when a returning missionary would appear missions would receive an impetus.

Of the former there was no regularity or expectancy as to time or place in the columns of the weekly church news and as to the visit of a missionary to many congregations that was an impossible task. Only the more favored, those already having opportunities for knowing much about missionaries, enjoyed such privileges and during this long interval of here and there a little information concerning the news and obligations of missions, the greater portion of the church membership was growing in ignorance of missions.

The study of missions by the aid of missionary periodicals is slowly but surely rising to the place where it is destined to influence all classes, and the more apathetic minds of the church membership have received astonishing benefits from the reading of missionary literature. In order to keep pace with the progress of the work in our own and other mission fields, literature especially, relating to these fields is available at prices within the reach of every one.

The most important of all and of greater circulation among the people is the monthly missionary periodical. Our own denomination has been provided with a monthly missionary magazine for twenty years.

The aim of this Magazine has been to avoid all dull and fictitious literature and give what relates entirely to missions.

Some have on file our entire publication of this monthly periodical. The Magazine enjoys the statement from many that these numbers furnish a reliable thesaurus of missionary operations of our church during the period of its publication. Our Women's Missionary Magazine has received an increasing and substantial support through its subscribers during the years of its existence. Today a larger issue is necessary to accomodate the needs of our own missionary operations than ever before. Our Magazine cannot furnish all the general missionary information it would like. Every denominational magazine is limited in the ability to supply the general news of Christian Missions.

Our Magazine enjoys the testimony of its readers in regard to the large space given to the increasing and popular United Mission Study. The program as outlined each year requires the special preparation of articles on studies relating to this course. During this entire course of United Study of Missions the most excellent and enjoyable information has been provided by our contributors. The Magazine is greatly indebted from year to year to many of our women who have so cordially responded to this difficult but inspiring duty. Busy women all of them who have prepared these papers for publication, in most instances house-keepers, yet finding time and having love and zeal that has been helpful to the world-wide redemptive work of Christian Missions.

In order to give our readers accurate and interesting information concerning our own work, to quicken a love for missions and extend the Kingdom of Christ in lands committed the United Presbyterian Church, the Woman's Missionary Magazine must depend largely upon those who represent our Church in her mission fields. That we have been fortunate to procure this is known to all our readers. Also students as well as teachers in our Freedmen work have supplied the pages ot our magazine with excellent articles and of most practical value to the work. Our new work in cities has been given to our readers with great care and enthusiasm.

The Foreign Correspondence while often requiring extra strength and portion of valuable time of our missionaries yet the most careful and instructive as well as the freshest news is required to give the story of what is occuring and what is needed in the mission field. It is through this correspondence our work receives the encouragement that is ever helpful to the cause.

Our Magazine cannot be made too attractive in appearance and quality, yet we are limited in our privileges to execute this work in a large degree, to the subscription list. It is the desire of the committee appointed to this work to make our Magazine one of the best. An increased subscription of at least 3000 new subscribers will not only enable us to furnish a better Magazine but also reach many not now readers of the Magazine.

During the twenty years of this publication there have been changes in the committee. At the present time but one, Mrs. W. C. Hutchison remains of the original Committee that undertook this work. Until this year but one publisher had charge of the mechanical work of our Magazine. Death severed his relation with the Magazine. His interest and devotion to its wants were helpful and appreciated by the members of the Magazine Committee.

His successor, a younger man, brings to the Magazine much that is needed for a progressive and attractive periodical in points of publication. The Committee feel secure in promising through him the best mechanical skill it can afford to give to its readers, as well as the utmost care to send the Magazine regularly to its subscribers.

Every one who reads this report is asked to remember one request, namely, if at any time you fail to receive your Magazine do not delay notifying the treasurer of the Committee, Mrs. Kelso. She only should receive your complaint.

The Women's Missionary Magazine enters upon another year of service giving to every department of work under the management of our General Missionary Society the most untiring interest and attention. Our inspiration must come from the fields represented by our church, our courage and zeal from the Lord of the Harvest whose we are and whom we want to serve.

Very Sincerely,
Mrs. George Moore.

REPORT OF

Secretary of Young Women's Work.

Into a Large Place.

Friends: Second Samuel 22:20 reads, "He brought me forth also, into a large place." This is God's inspiration point from which the Young Women's Department may get an ideal outlook for the year. The twentieth century finds the fences all down in every direction inviting entrance to the world-field.

To work out a Large Plan

The highway is being cast up to "earth's utmost bounds." Emerson says, "America is another name for opportunity;" another writer makes this statement stronger when he says "America Christianized means the world Christianized;" and still another declares that "If America fails, the world fails." Thus the reaching of other lands hinges largely upon the immediate evangelization of our own land. Another writer sums it all up in one sentence, "We can do it if we will," and a Heavenly Voice echoes back, "You must do it if you can." On the other hand Jacob Riis says he once growled against foreign missions like many others who knew no better. He says he has learned now that for every dollar you give away to convert the heathen abroad, God gives you ten dollars worth of purpose to deal with your heathen at home. Thus the missionary movement should be gratefully remembered by us for the good it has done by its enlargement of our life at home.

That the Young Women may take a Larger Part.

Prof. Findley urges the "world-wide heart," a newly coined expression. This, he claims, is the grand desideratum, or real solution of the missionary problem, and is at once the solvent of many international difficulties, and the motive force for universal evangelization. The province of the Young Women's Department is to call out the latent power of the young women into the place of missionary utility. Many of the young women of the church have enjoyed liberal educational advantages, and are thereby fitted by this practical mental training for better service. This unused talent with the enlarged "world-wide heart" should be won for service in the Master's cause, lest this power be diverted or expended in other directions. Thus the real question of the hour is—how to enlist the great army of young women in the cause of missionary achievement? Robert Speer says, "If we only love across the street, that is as far as our knowledge will go,". If we love around the world, and have the "world-wide heart" we shall be eager to take up world-wide study.

The Year's Work.

The campaign for the year opened promptly last June. Circular letters with the Secretary's greetings were sent out to the societies outlining the work, with suggestions for carrying it on.

Special Work.

The self-denial offering recommended for the support of the young missionaries was not accepted fully and the work has proved to be too much of a burden. Many of the societies were already pledged to the support of congregational or Presbyterial missionaries, which fact was unknown to the General Secretary at the time.

Papers.

Practical methods were discussed in a series of papers prepared by the leaders of societies, and published from month to month in the Women's Misisonary Magazine. In these articles, a variety of plans was suggested which it is hoped, proved profitable, at least, to the new organizations.

Young Women's Department in Women's Magazine.

Miss Sarah Reid, the editor of the Young Women's Department, has spared no pains to make this department attractive and helpful.

Messages.

The Secretary has given frequent messages of encouragement with suggestions to the young women through the Women's Misisonary Magazine.

Conferences.

In connection with the Presbyterial meetings. conferences for young women have been conducted with good results. A general conference for societies in the vicinity of Allegheny and Pittsburg was held in December in the Women's Board Room. Although the attendance was not large, it was a step in the right direction, and good has resulted from it.

Personal Letters.

One hundred and six personal letters enclosing blanks for the annual report of the secretary were sent out in March to all the societies. The large number of letters of inquiry sent to your secretary indicates the deep interest taken in the work.

Presbyterial Secretaries.

About one-half of the Presbyterials have appointed secretaries for Young Women's Work, and the other half should do so promptly

New Organizations,

Since the opening of the Young Women's Department in 1903, forty-seven new organizations have been reported. The Statistical Secretary reports one hundred and twenty-seven societies and two thousand nine hundred and twelve members.

Pray the Largest Prayers.

Phillips Brooks says, "You cannot think of a prayer so large that God in answering it will not wish you had made it larger." Jesus says, "I pray not for the world." He has died for it. He expects His own to pray for a world that lieth in darkness, in the power of the evil one. Young Women! Your life is of infinite importance. God has chosen to work out His plan, not in spite of you, but through you, and where you fail, He halts. God needs you. It is as though you were a light-house keeper; why sit through the weary nights to keep your flame alive? Why not sleep on unobserved, and let your light go out? Because it is not your light. You are only its keeper; that is your name, light keeper, and you shoud give no uncertain light in the large place God has assigned to you. You are set with this as a trust. It is this that lifts your little life out of insignificance, and makes it weighty in responsibility. The light of the Young Women's Department must not be "the light that failed."

Motto for the Young Women's Missionary Society for the Year.

STUDY to SHOW THYSELF approved unto GOD, A WORKMAN that needeth not to be ASHAMED, rightly dividing the word of TRUTH.
Second Timothy 2: 15.

STUDY the Bible TO do
Missions know
GOD'S WORD to you.
WORK for Him.
Daniel 11: 32.

"Not one dollar, not one hour is my own to spend upon myself alone."

REPORT OF

Secretary of Home for Missionaries' Children.

"Who hath known the mind of the Lord?" We may well ask concerning God's dealings with Mrs. Mary W. Porter, the devoted Secretary of the Home for Missionaries' Children. A few weeks ago Mrs. Porter was suddenly stricken with a serious illness, while walking along the streets of her home town—Latrobe, Pa. While she has somewhat recovered she has been unable to suggest anything concerning her work for the Home or for her annual report. which makes it difficult for her substitute to give either a full or correct report of the year's work.

The Home for Missionaries' children stands at all times a monument of sacrifice:—sacrifice on the part of the children in being deprived of loving and tender parental care and guidance during the time of securing an education; sacrifice on the part of parents who have almost broken their heart strings in giving up their children to be cared for by others. This Home located at New Wilmington, Pa., in a large sense supplies a Christian fireside at which the children of the home and foreign missionaries are ever made welcome and given tender care. Since the opening of the Home six years ago, sixteen girls and boys have been enrolled as members of the family. Four have graduated with much credit from Westminster College. One of this number is enjoying the benefit of a Rhodes scholarship at Oxford, England; another is teaching in Assyut College, Egypt. while two others are Professors in colleges in this country.

Changes have marked the years's story of the Home: change in location and change in the management. One year ago the building occupied was sold to a party who desired possession August 1st when the lease would expire. At the time houses for rent were very scarce in New Wilmington and but few for sale with property rapidly advancing in price, To purchase property seemed compulsory. In consequence, the old home of Dr. Ferguson's family, beautifully located near the girl's Dormitory, was purchased for $2,550 cash. Thirteen hundred dollars of this sum was the Home's share of the 1906 thank-offering. The remaining $1,250 was borrowed from the treasury of the Home Mission department until the Children's Home treasury will warrant its repayment which we trust will be soon.

Mrs. Isabel Strang Lansing, the Housemother, resigned her place to accept a position in the Seminary at Washington, Pa. Mrs. Brinker of Latrobe, Pa., was elected to fill the vacancy and has filled the position to the satisfaction of the very faithful and efficient local Board, which has the direct management of the Home. As several weeks necessarily intervened between the time of giving possession of the former Home—August 1st and getting possession of the Ferguson property, Mrs. J. C. Alter—the boys interested friend—very kindly took the boys into her new home and gave them the tender mother's care they so much needed.

Visitors to New Wilmington should not fail to call on Mrs. Brinker and her family of missionaries' children and congratulate them on their pleasant Home. While the family may not be as large as desired during this coming year, the prospect is for a goodly number of young children one year hence.

In the six years of the existence of this Home it has given abundant proof of its rightful place in the interests of the church at large,. Individuals, societies and congregations have kindly given it their support from time to time in the way of helpful words and substantial gifts, for which gratitude is hereby expressed. We trust that the number of contributors to the maintenance fund will be increased until very many more will have a share in the blessings promised to those "who do good unto all men, especially to them who are of the household of faith."

While God's people are seeking out all classes of children to minister to in their hours of need, they should not forget the children of those who are of the same family in Christ Jesus as themselves.

REPORT OF United Presbyterian Women's Association.

Kindergarten teachers are often selected with reference to their ability to relate a story well, thus securing the attention of the listener while the subject matter is being impressed. I do not need this qualification, as my story is always so interesting to the women of the United Presbyterian Church as to be received gladly. For the benefit of some who are in attendance for the first time, and are not so well versed in our work as the older women, I would say that the United Presbyterian Women's Association Work has been an evolution, inaugurated by a dying mother leaving her children in the care of her pastor, who in turn placed them with the good women of his congregation, thus founding our Orphan's Home. The children at times were taken with diseases which demanded their removal from their fellows, so our Hospital became a necessity. Then pleas from the older children came thick and fast, asking that they too be sheltered, and so a Home for the Aged, was the next work the Lord gave to our hands. We have felt His leading guiding power all the way. The work has been conducted in such a careful, conscientious business-like manner as to merit the approval of all who will take time to give it consideration.

The Orphan's Home.

There have been shadows and but little sunshine in our Orphan's Home for some months past owing to the difficulty in securing competent help in the various departments of the Home. We have changed matrons twice, and we hope the one we have at present may be able to fulfill the needed requirements. We require besides the matron, two caretakers, one for the boys, and one for the girls, and we hope that these positions may soon be filled, as much of the sucess of our work depends on the children having intelligent, capable persons in charge. It would seem that there should be many women in our church, who would feel that such a position is truly missionary work.

Among the many applications received during the past year was that of George Williams, from Egypt. His father was an Englishman, his mother a Greek, both of whom died. He was placed by the British Consul in our Tanta Hospital for a time, till arrangements could be made for him to come to us. Mrs. Hervey of our Cairo Mission, wrote asking that he be received into our Orphan's Home. We replied that we would gladly take him. The boy was born August 1, 1903, a bright beautiful child, and was brought to America by Mr. and Mrs. George Paden, on their return from Egypt. He was told that when he reached this country he would find a home and a mamma. We were not permitted to have him in the Home, as Mr. and Mrs. Grant of Ben Avon, Pa., having heard of his case and being pleased with the child, legally adopted him, and have had him baptized George Williams Grant. One Sabbath morning in September, we were asked to receive seven children from the First Church, Allegheny. It being such a sad case, that for the first time in the history of the Home, they were admitted on Sabbath, being now fatherless and motherless. The youngest child, a babe followed its mother in a few days. The remaining six were with us until this spring when we secured permanent homes for all, but one little boy, who is still with us. The number of children in the Home at present is 58. The number cared for since our opening has been 877. The children over six years of age go to the public schools while the nursery children attend Kindergarten every morning. They attend the Fifth Church, Allegheny, and are associated in its work, and are always invited to take part in the entertainments, given by that church and feel theirs is a Home and not an Institution.

After the opening of Columbia Hospital, the managers of the Hospital on the Orphan's Home ground returned it to the Board to be used for our sick children, and it is now known as "The Orphan's Home Memorial Infirmary." June 6th will be our annual "Donation and Reception Day," and we hope to receive many gifts from our hosts of friends, and we trust that our sisters attending the Convention will carry this appeal home, and that we will be liberally remembered on that occasion. The Orphan's Home is yours, and we ask your support and prayers for it.

Columbia Hospital.

The hospital managers can truly say with the Psalmist, "Thou has crowned the year with thy goodness," and to us the crowning joy was realized, on June 1st, 1906, when we flung wide the doors that we had so longed to open, and Columbia was ready for her blessed mission of mercy. The hundreds of friends who thronged the corridors, wards, and rooms during the afternoon and evening, had only words of praise and commendation for the beautiful building, and its furnishment and the complete, up-to-date equipment of each department. Monday June 4th, one patient was received and since then there has been a steady growth of the work, convincing us that Columbia has thus soon won the confidence of the community, and taken high rank among the hospitals of Pittsburg and vicinity. Neither expense nor hard work has been spared to make this newest of our institutions the very best of its class, and to this end physicians and surgeons of eminent ability are freely giving their skill and influence. The kind words of appreciation and many letters received from those who have received benefit from treatment in our hospital, lead us to believe that Columbia Hospital fills a much felt need for a truly Christian Hospital. Upon the resignation of our Superintendent some months ago Mrs. H. C. Campbell, the untiring and efficient President of the Association work, with her characteristic, indomitable courage, to brave anything in the interest of the cause, threw herself into the breach and is still bridging the difficulties of a new and trying situation.

Thus far our efforts to secure a competent and acceptable person for Superintendent have come to naught, until we are led to believe it is the Father's hand leading and guiding us into new and untried fields of usefulness in His service.

Since the opening day June 1, to May 13, 1907, we have treated 875 persons, 163 free patients 3000 free days, surgical operations 401 and only 36 deaths. We have a most promising class of pupil nurses, numbering 33. Three of these are young men, taking the training to follow nursing as their life work. Ours is indeed a general hospital, for patients are accepted without regard to race, creed or color, and there is room for them all, without causing annoyance to any one's race prejudices.

As in the past the children of the Orphan's Home and members of the family of Home for Aged are tenderly and lovingly cared for, and our beautiful children's ward shelters many a friendless waif as well as the darling of the well-to-do and happy homes. The unique experience has been ours, that though prepared to care for patients, for only a nominal charge, or no charge at all in the wards, the majority of our patients ask for private wards and rooms, leaving the public wards and rooms well nigh vacant, at times. It was a beautiful thought of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Arnold, of Allegheny, to endow perpetually a room where missionaries and ministers of the Gospel, when in need of medical attention, may turn aside and rest awhile under the care of the most skillful physicians and experienced nurses. One of our lady missionaries from Egypt, and two of our best known Italian missionaries and some others of God's prophets have enjoyed the benefit of this loving provision. Members of choirs and Christian workers of the city churches hold services on Sabbath afternoons, which have proved very cheering and comforting to the patients. It is the prayer of our Association that many shall be healed spiritually also within these walls. An electric and ice plant, also a Home for the nurses will soon be in course of erection. We bespeak your most earnest prayers in behalf of this work, as also a share in the bounty which the Lord has entrusted to your care. The large gifts of the few, and the small gifts of a multitude have combined to make Columbia a temple of healing, of which our church may rightly be proud. We would draw attention to the fact that the supervision of the building, and the purchasing of the furnishment was all done by the members of the Association free of cost. Even the architect gave his valuable direction at one-half of his usual rate.

Home for Aged.

I would like to have the pleasure of taking you on a beautiful, bright morning to our Home for Aged, so beautiful for situation, with its green lawn and its air of quiet comfort, felt as soon as you open its doors. Let us go to the room of each member of the family, learn something of their past also of their present. We find almost all engaged in some little work of usefulness, making quilt patches, cushions, darning, knitting and some even making new garments, thus by employment making their lives more happy. It was a beautiful sight on last Sabbath to see sixty of these aged people enjoying the fellowship of the Master, at the May communion. You felt they were indeed drawing nigh unto Him. They were seated in the central hall. Dr. Witherspoon in charge. Our family at present numbers 68, 60 women and 8 men, ranging in age from 65 to 95 years. Since April 1906 the death messenger has entered our Home six times. Four persons have been admitted during the year, two more have passed the necessary requirements for admission, and will come to us very soon, while other applications are under consideration, increasing our list of aged people who have found a resting place to 147.

Our Auxiliary Board which consists of twenty-five earnest, faithful young women are doing much toward providing pleasant and profitable pastime for our family, by their visiting, reading and music, also showing many other little attentions that are so acceptable as we advance in years. But the best of all is that these same young ladies are receiving a blessing as well as being trained for future service in our work. They are following the instruction of the originator of all this noble work, Rev. J. M. Fulton, of the Fourth Church, Allegheny. "Do something for somebody and give God the glory." We would like to direct the attention of those who have in view a memorial to one who has passed to the Home above. We have several rooms that are ready to have the name of your dear one placed over your name on the door, thereby erecting a monument that shall bring joy and comfort to the living. Can you think of a wiser investment of $300? This will make it a perpetual memorial. The Board of Managers has lately dedicated a room to the memory of Mr. John Porterfie'd, of Allegheny, an interested friend during his lifetime and manifesting it by leaving us a gift of $10,000. The only improvement that has been made in the Home since the last report is the papering of our east wing. This report was delayed somewhat in being issued, but is very complete and full.

General.

There are doubtless many points in our work that are not fully understood, as well as some that are new to those who are attending the convention for the first time. There are managers here from each department of our work who will gladly answer all questions. We would also like to call your attention that our work was organized to extend from ocean to ocean, also from the northern to the southern extremity of our country.

The hearts of our Association workers are lifted up in gratitude to the Giver of all good gifts for the very generous gift of Mr. John Porterfield of Allegheny, Pa. $40,000 will soon be placed in our treasury for the maintenance of the work. We hope that when the stewardship of many others will have ended, they will follow his example.

Mrs. J. P. Cameron.

REPORT OF

Committee on Temperance.

Congratulations to the Women's General Missionary Society that its annual meeting this year convenes within the bounds of a state whose law is prohibition. And congratulations are in order to the people of this commonwealth who are in such harmony with this law that they have seen to it that their officers are strong men, true men, who are enforcing all its provisions.

It would seem at first glance, hardly worth while to press the work of temperance, even in our church assemblies, in this Sunflower domain, were we not assured that the "worm of the still" is found in the lurking places of your villages, and that by experience you have learned that "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty."

Your committe regrets that it is unable to give a report of more work done, but it believes that such a foundation is laid that next year the report cannot be given within the confines of ten minutes.

Early in December, 1906, the three women's societies of the First Church, Allehgeny, Pa., held a union prayer meeting on Friday of the week of prayer. At this time a temperance secretary was elected, and a committee of three, one from each society, to have charge of this work in that congregation, Sabbath School, etc. That committee met and mapped out plans for meetings and work for the coming year. Up to this time no other report has been received from its chairman.

Springfield, Ohio, reports that its temperance secretary gives to every other meeting of its congregational society, temperance news, items of temperance leigslation, and anything interesting along that line.

The First Ohio Presbytery has the banner Presbyterial Temperance Secretary. There were two delegates from that Presbytery in attendance upon the DesMoines convention. The week following this convention, the First Ohio Presbyterial met at Cherry Fork. So impressed were these delegates with the importance of this work, that they brought it up, and a Presbyterial Temperance Secretary was elected, who commenced work at once.

She reports—seventeen societies in that Presbytery—has written to all of the Presidents asking that they bring this matter before their societies, and appoint temperance secretaries. Eleven of these societies have elected their secretaries. Two replied, but have not chosen secretaries. Four societies did not answer her appeal. A number of encouraging letters have been sent to her, as to meetings held, pledge signing in the Sabbath Schools, and the circulation among the young people of Miss Shontz's little book, "Our Captured Flag." Two societies report sending one dollar each to Dr. Crafts, or the International Reform Bureau. This secretary is unable to give full report of all work done, because of the failure of the congregational secretaries in sending in reports but sends her own in full. Has sent out 604 pages of literature, written eighteen letters, and twenty-seven postal cards, at her own charges, and writes she was glad to do this, and would gladly contribute something each year to this great work.

This brings up the question of finance. Your committee most respectfully submits to the consideration of The Women's Board the proposition, that a Presbyterial Fund be established, to which each congregational society shall contribute an amount in porportion to its membership.

Your committee further requests that when the names of either Presbyterial or Congregational temperance secretaries are reported, that the names of Pres-byteries to which they belong, be also given.

Dear sisters, the sin of drunkenness is just as great as it was with God's chosen, peculiar people in the days of the prophet Isaiah, when those who sat in judgment—erred through wine, and through strong drink were out of the way— the priest and the prophet were swallowed up of wine—they erred in vision, and stumbled in judgment, and there was no place clean. Precept must be upon precept, precept upon precept—line upon line, here a little and there a little. Let us pray for strength to press the battle to the gate. The enemy has made a covenant with death, and with hell an agreement. In the secret places he doth murder the innocent. He croucheth and humbleth himself that the poor may fall by his strong ones. He hath said in his heart, God hath forgotten: he will never see it. Is it not time for thee to work O Lord, when he hath made void thy law? Arise O Lord; O God, lift up thine hand; forget not the poor, and the humble who committeth themselves unto thee."

Respectfully submitted,

Henrietta L. Monroe, Chairman.

REPORT OF

Home Missions and Ministerial Relief.

FOR YEAR ENDING APRIL 15, 1907.

The women of the church have supported eleven workers in the Home Mission field during the year just closed. The seed has been sown quietly and faithfully and although some of the fields seem very unpromising. nevertheless the Lord of the harvest will cause His seed to grow and flourish till in His good time it shall bring forth "some sixty and some an hundred fold."

Last September our friend Rev. W. W. Gorden was obliged to leave the work at the agency in order that his children might be educated.

As yet no suitable person has been found to fill the vacancy. Appeals have been made in church papers and magazines, personal letters written and Superintendents of Missions interviewed with out success.

We hope this report may reach the eye and heart of some consecrated Minister who touched by the great need of this people for the gospel, may say to the Master, "Lord here am I send me."

Miss Montgomery who has labored so long and lovingly among the Warm Spring reservation Indians, has been appointed to go back and hopes to return in the early summer. We ask your prayers for her and her people.

Rev. J. A. Speer is still at Simnasho. No one is more beloved than he by the people whom he serves. His faithful devotion to them and his continued sacrifices for them have touched their hearts, so that they trust him implicitly. Here follows his own modest story of the year.

To The Women's Board.

"Man proposes but God disposes,."

"Ye ought to say, If the Lord will, we shall live and do this or that."

I have been more than ever impressed with these words as I now look back over the work of the church year just closing. I made plans in the autumn for work during the winter, both at Simnasho and Warm Spring, which were all broken up when winter came. I designed going to Warm Spring and holding a series of meetings during the week of prayer, and follow this by similar meetings at Simnasho. Storms of unusual severity began the last week in December and continued almost unceasingly throughout the entire month of January, and a portion of the month following. With the storms la grippe set in and in a short time became epidemic, extending throughout the entire reservation. When it seemed that everybody was down with the grippe, pneumonia began to develope and it too became epidemic and resulted fatally with a very large number of the people. With this combination of winter storm and sickness, even the regular church services had to be abandoned and any attempt to hold special meetings was entirely out of the question.

I was kept among the sick and attending funerals for almost two months. During that time I was not able to hold Sabbath services at the church but was able to conduct services at the homes or camps of the people and at funerals. We had severe storms on every Sabbath for nine weeks in succession. The traveling was very difficult through the badly drifted snow and had to be done altogether by horeback; but I have been greatly blessed with good health and have been able to conduct regular Sabbath services at some one of the camps. Services were resumed at the Church the middle of February. At first but few were physically able to attend and some who were able, were hindered by the condition of the roads. The attendance. however, has been growing until now it is about up to the usual number, from forty to sixty or over. I visited Warm Spring congregation during last summer and autumn and preached, but during the winter it was impossible for me to get there until the third Sabbath in March, when I conducted a communion service. Unfortunately it rained unceasingly during the Sabbath preventing very many from being present. Two were received into the church on profession and about one-half the members participated in the Lord's Supper, those at a distance being kept away by the character of the day. It is reported that some of the members of the Warm Spring congregation have gone to the Shaken; but during my visit there was no opportunity to investigate the matter.

I found that services have been kept up regularly at the church although the attendance during the sickness was necessarily small. The keeping of services there in the absence of a Missionary has been made possible by the faithful leadership of Mr. Tomer Handley who is able to read the scriptures and lead in the singing. Great credit is due to this humble but thoroughly consecrated Christian Indian. I am confident that but for him, the loss in membership to the Shakers would have been much greater than it has been. Mr. Handley has also for some months been doing very acceptable and commendable work among the Piute Indians at the Seik-Seik-Wa Chapel. He is careful to visit the sick and is always sent for by the other Indians to take charge of religious services in homes where death has occurred. He with the officers and members of the congregation are exceedingly anxious that they soon be provided with a missionary. That congregation lost nine of their members, including one elder, by death during the winter.

The loss is very seriously felt both at Warm Spring and also here at Simnasho where some of them were accustomed to worship, their homes being nearer the latter place.

While speaking of the work at Warm Spring, I must not fail to mention the names of Prof. R. A McIlvaine first teacher at the Warm Spring boarding school; Mrs. Bishop, assistant teacher and her husband the agency clerk, who have faithfully kept up the Sabbath School work there. The former is a member of the Presbyterian church, and the two latter of the Methodist Episcopal. These I believe are the only professing Christians among the employes and they deserve the thanks of our church for the interest they have shown and the services they have so cheerfully rendered to our mission there.

Mr. Covey, Superintendent and Agent, occupies one evening each week with a talk to the children in this school chapel, taking up Consecutive Bible Stories as his theme.

He is not a professing Christian but certainly shows good judgment in drawing from the best of sources for the instruction of the Indian children and youth and we may be sure this study of God's word will be a blessing to himself. Here at Simnasho a government day school was started in December last. The present enrollment is twenty-five. As the children are required to return to their homes at night and not a large number live in easy reach of the school, the attendance is not so large in winter as it will be with better roads and more pleasant weather.

Since the school opened, we have more of the children at church on the Sabbath. Then to, with the school located here, this place becomes more of a center about which the people will naturally gather. This is helpful to the mission and will, I think, be more and more so in the future. The teacher, Mr. Lewis, is not a professing Christian; but he is a very pleasant neighbor and seems anxious to help the Indians. I have free access to the pupils and Mr. Lewis allows me a portion of a day each week for a talk with the children, scripture reading and prayer. This part of my work is a very great pleasure to me and I trust may result in very much good to the children.

As yet none of these Simnasho Indians have indicated any inclination toward renouncing their heathen religion and accepting Christianity. They come to the church service with considerable regularity, give very respectful attention during the time of services and publicly express their belief in God's word and approval of the word spoken, but, although kindly urged to accept of Christ as their Saviour, they fail to respond. I have never heard any one publicly or privately rejecting the gospel offer, and if any are disposed to accept they have not made the fact public. I am, however, of the opinion that some of the old people who died last winter of the pneumonia epidemic did accept of Jesus as their Saviour. I am quite confident if a white person would give evidence of conversion that some of these people gave me before their death, we would not hesitate in believing they died in the faith.

I have made about the usual number of calls although during the rough winter weather there, had very largely to be restricted to the sick as in this way my time and strength were for a considerable length of time taxed to their utmost. I have been required to relieve quite a number of very needy ones, both with food and clothing. The fund appropriated by the Board for the purpose has been ample. Very little, however, in the line of clothing, second hand or otherwise, has been sent the Mission during the past year. Many of the old people, especially the old women must suffer in winter if not assisted.

The following Societies and Individuals have contributed to the Mission.

Arial Dunn, of 1st Portland, Ore., Sabbath School, $ .50.

Hawthorn Park, Presbyterian Church, Women's Missionary Society, Portland, Ore., by Mrs. D. J. Russel, bundle of quilt supplies and yarn.

Melinda J. Warnock, Princeton, Indiana, two bundles of quilt patches.

Mrs. M. B. Patterson's Sabbath School class, Lowellville, Ohio, pictures and pieces for quilts.

Women's Missionary Society and Sabbath School, Hamilton, Ohio, one box of Christmas goods.

Women's Missionary Society, 2nd Church, New Wilmington, Pa., women's garments.

Accompanying this report I send you my financial statement for the past year.

I shall also submit to Presbytery for its approval, estimates for the coming year.

It is my earnest prayer that a missionary may speedily be found for Warm Spring, which has suffered greatly the last several months through the lack of one.

Thankful to the Lord for the measure of health and the opportunity for service He has granted me, and grateful to the Board for their kindness and the many good friends who have shown their interest in these poor and needy people.

I am yours in Christ,

J. A. Speer.

Tama Mission, Iowa.

The working force at the Tama Mission has been augmented by the addition of Rev. Mr. Smith and his wife, formerly of Sidney, Ohio.

Miss Taylor has been obliged to retire from service in order to regain her health. Her return to the field is very uncertain.

Miss Campbell is, if possible, more enthusiastic than ever, as will be readily seen from the following annual report.

Tama, Iowa, April 5, 1907.

Dear Friends:—

Our annual report has at least this in it to cheer and encourage. We have almost completely won the hearts of the people, or at least have overcome their prejudice. This is apparent from two facts. We get a warm welcome in almost every home, and the year brought to our house seven thousand two hundred and seventy-two Indian visitors. Of this number, three thousand and three hundred sixty-two were given lessons in whatever was expedient,—a few industrial, but mainly lessons in reading, number and music. We have visited them three hundred eighty-one times in the year, but these visits have very largely been made in cases of illness and death, for until our force was increased by the arrival of Rev. and Mrs. Smith in December, we had more than we could do in our own home, and since they have been settled, Miss Taylor has been at her home trying to regain her health, so we are still not in shape to visit much.

Our progress in the past has been largely due to the music and medical work, but we believe that in the coming year with the welcome we receive in their homes, and with the splendid educational spirit that has been awakened, our best work will be done in the classroom, teaching the English branches, and by personal contact with them in their homes. There is great need for intelligent work among them, along medical and sanitary lines, but we have been prepared to do as much for them as they would permit. Medicine was dispensed four hundred forty-six times so far as our record shows but all was not recorded. For nearly three years there has been an average of about twelve deaths a year. The past year has recorded nine. In our home this year they have made about six hundred garments and forty-four quilts. We have ceased to keep any record of the sewing done, for it no longer represents our labor. We seldom have any now who cannot manage the machine, or who need any assistance past keeping the machine in order. We wish to take this opportunity to make public acknowledgement of the kindness of our friends.

Of the barrel donations, we have a few excellent ones to report. Goldfield, Iowa, 45 quarts fruit. Clarion, Ia., 27 quarts and 19 glasses jelly besides. Many useful articles. Others donating fruit were, Winchester, Kansas, DesMoines Presbyterial and Fairfax, Ia. The latter also sent other supplies for our work. LeClaire, Ia. sent two comforts, 24 yards calico, a barrel of apples, and other articles in addition. Briggsville, Ill., Y. W's sent three bed pads and a hop pillow. Bloomington, Ind., remembered us with quilts and Clarinda, Ia., Emblenton, Pa., and Hartstown, Pa., each sent splendid boxes containing mostly new material in abundance, and also suitable for the work, and Kirkwood, Ill., sent a barrel of clothing in good condition. There were a host of others who kindly remembred us with gifts of less value than those above mentioned and whose thoughtfulness was appreciated. I might say in this connection that the only use we can make of second-hand clothing is for ourselves.

In closing I wish to say a word in regard to our new helpers. They are so admirably adapted to the work, enjoy it so throughly, and take so well with the Indians that we feel certain the Lord's hand has guided them to this place, and that His blessing will follow their labors.

Pray for us all and that Miss Taylor may be restored to health.

Sincerely yours,
Elizabeth Campbell.

The terrible earthquake in San Francisco and the consequent distress and suffering of the people, led us to appoint and support a missionary in both first and second churches.

Here follows a brief resume of Miss Laura Sawhill's work.

1350 Dolores St.

Dear Mrs. Campbell:—

Please find enclosed my annual. In most respects the work of the past months has been very pleasant; of course there has been some variety, such as having had a stick shaken over my head, being called vile names and even cursed.

Besides spending most of my time in making calls, I have charge of a loyal Temperance Legion—class of boys in Sabbath School—delegate member to the Golden Gate C. E. Union, (an organization of all the C. E. Societies in the City) and a member of the Temperance League. It looks as if I were pretty well identified with the temperance work, but it seems to me that intemperance is the towering curse of San Francisco.

The church cannot grow in such surroundings. I hope that my work in San Francisco has done some good even though at present it looks small.

With Love,
Laura Sawhill.

The attendance at the Easter service this year is said to have been the largest in the history of the church. The W. M. S. Thank-offering the largest ever given.

Since Sept. 1st the C. E., W. M. S. and Sabbath School have given entertainments at which neat sums of money were raised.

The past year in this church as in all other churches in the city has been a particularly trying one.

A number of congregations have been broken up entirely, the church property burned and the members scattered This church while not burned was considerably shaken by the earthquake A number of people lost their homes in the fire, consequently these have been obliged to move to outlying districts.

The conditions are still unfavorable to do the best work; rents are high and houses scarce, necessitating a constant moving about. Then too, the population is largely Catholic or an element that is hard to reach by any Presbyterian faith. But we are glad to be able to report that through the hard work and skillful management of the pastor, all the regular church services have been kept up except for a few weeks immediately after the fire. Some of the people have already returned and others intend doing so as soon as suitable arrangements can be made.

We now have a very comfortable and beautiful church building and a good parsonage. The congregation is free from debt and always goes on the principle of "pay as you go." The people of the second church for the most part are very congenial and extend to strangers a hearty welcome. The Sabbath School is improving more rapidly than any other department of the church. The C. E. society has about 30 members enrolled as active. The young people are loyal to the church and attend the preaching services regularly. The Wednesday evening prayer meeting has improved and is better attended lately than for a number of years. The work here is encouraging.

Laura Sawhill.

We deeply regret that no annual report from Miss Burkhardt of the 1st San Francisco has yet reached us but hope we may have it before July number of Magazine is printed.

As soon as the pastor took charge of Harvard Heights congregation, Los Angeles, Miss Torrance sadly bade good bye to the people so dear to her and hopefully turned her face to Highland Park in the same city whither she has been sent at request of presbytery.

Before taking up her report, perhaps you will be interested to read this voluntary testimony from the pastor of Harvard Heights.

To the Board of Directors of the United Presbyterian Women's General Missionary Society.

It gives me pleasure to say a word concerning the work of Miss Anna H. Torrance at Harvard Heights, Los Angeles. Not to go into details involving repetition of matters already reported to you, I will content myself with stating a fact and an impression.

Upon taking charge of the work last November, I found (except for lack of a session which has since been supplied) a fully organized congregation as the practical result of the lady Missionary's labors; a congregation, too, that possessed some unusual elements of strength.

The Sabbath School, for example, had a remarkably efficient corps of officers and teachers. Evidently the foundations at Harvard Heights have been laid wisely and well.

My impression is that in a marked degree Miss Torrance succeeded in gaining the esteem and confidence of the community. In my own pastoral rounds I hear frequent testimonies, made with obvious warmth and sincerity, to this effect and to the uplift received through her life and example.

In cordial appreciation of all that has been done for Harvard Heights by the Women's Board through its Missionary I am, Yours very truly, James Francis Ross.

2268 W. 16th Street, Los Angeles, Cal.

To the Women's Board.

Another year has gone whether little or much, opportunities embraced or lost. Our work for this period of time is done, and however much we wish it changed, will stand for us to meet in that day when the books are opened. The best we can now do is to take a look back, profit by our mistakes, be thankful for our many blessings, and meet the future with new resolves, faith and hope. Your missionary returned to her field of labor August 12th, having spent three months with mother and loved ones at home. During my stay in the East I had the privilege of speaking a number of times, in behalf of the work on the Coast. On my return I found the work somewhat discouraging, many having gone away for the summer months, but the few who were left in the field and without a teacher had much to discourage them but were very faithful to their trust. Shortly after my return God sent Rev. Francis Ross D. D., to preach to us. At once a call was given Rev. Ross to become their pastor, and accepted, though it was some time before he could take up the new work. On November 19th I left the work in care of their pastor and his good wife; I to take up work in Highland Park where a number of good United Presbyterians were already gathered together. The work was started Sabbath December 2nd, with Sabbath School and preaching service morning and evening, under the care of Supterintendent of Missions, Rev. E. S. McKitrick, D. D.

The following is a summary for the four months ending March 31st, 1906. Calls 1694; Sabbath School services 17; enrollment 53, average attendance 34.

A very interesting work among Foreigners has been carried on by one Allegheny Presbyterial Society.

When the Lord send the people of all lands surely it becomes our duty and privilege to give them the Gospel.

Report of Work Among Foreigners In Allegheny City by Allegheny Presbyterial Societies.

Your committee on this work make their report with much gratitude to our Heavenly Father for His blessings on the efforts of our misisonary and teacher in our little school. Miss Anna Hornichecks and on all the societies who have had a share in the work by contributing regularly of their funds, and to individuals for personal contributions that have helped us. Our school is located on East Ohio street. The location was selected as the center of the Croation people as there are about 2000 in the district, from Ohio street down to River Avenue. Our school has been in operation since the 15th of June 1906. Our work previous to that time was attended to by Colporteurs, and visiting in the homes of these people, with this as a beginning, we secured a teacher from the Presbyterian Training School in Allegheny Avenue, supported by that denomination, and training young women for this kind of work, so that they are properly fitted to visit in the homes and teach in the schools.

After they have gathered up some scholars, we have some children of other nationalities, Croation first, Bohemian and Slavs. The most of the children can speak English, but they read the Foreign language, and they also read to their parents. No other kind of teacher can speak to the parents on their visits. Bohemians can make themselves understood by other Slavic races, hence the necessity of a teacher who can speak other languages. Your committee cannot do much in the way of visiting. Our work lies in providing the means to carry on the work and seeing that it is carried on properly. We have a small room that will only accommodate comfortably 35 children, and we have an attendance of 50 to 55. Forty-two are girls and the rest are boys. We did not get the boys in at first. Now we have 12 very promising boys, about from 5 to 12 years of age. A very encouraging feature of our school is that we have the same scholars since the opening of the school, with a very few exceptions, and the others have continued right along, so we feel that we get to know them by face, and is a good indication of the interest in the teacher. Miss Hornichecks is a very successful teacher. She has won the hearts of scholars and parents alike. We have a very large proportion of these aliens seeking to better their condition in life. Indeed we are appalled as we read the statistics of emigrants coming daily. What will be the future of our country? Does it not depend largely upon the large body of Christian people? Which shall it be? "Aliens or Americans?" Quoting from Howard B. Grose's book (The Task of the Ages), "When the problem always resolves itself to this at last: God has set for American Protestant Christianity the gigantic task of the ages —the home foreign mission task, nothing less than the assimilation of all these foreign peoples who find a home on this continent into a common Americanism, so that they shall form a composite American nation, Christian, united, free and great."

What could be more glorious than to have part in the solution of this problem. To this supreme service, young men and women of America you are called of God. What say you? Shall it be Alien or American? We say this to all, not only in Allegheny Presbyterials, or in Pennsylvania, but all over our beloved land there is this same opportunity.

"If a stranger sojourn with thee in your land, ye shall not vex him. But the stranger that dwelleth with you shall be unto you as one born among you, and thou shall love him as thyself, for ye were strangers in the land of Egypt.

Report of Miss Hornicheck.

My work this past summer and fall has been mostly among Croatian and Slavonic people. Before the school was started, my prayer was that God would bless the work in all its ways, and that in time some one, among those who live in darkness and have no light, might become a true follower of Christ.

When the Sabbath School and sewing school was started, I was very glad that so many children were present. During the summer the attendance in Sabbath School was an average of thirty-five, and the sewing school from fifteen to twenty. The children enjoy coming to Sabbath School and sewing school, and the parents are willing to let them come. One of the girls came to me one Sabbath, and she told me that she always liked to hear about Jesus, and how He loves little children. My prayer is that the seed may grow in the hearts of these children, and that God, by His spirit, will reveal them the true way, and will incline their hearts to love Him who first loved us. I think that the work will not be in vain, for already I see some of the fruit of the work, now, that was done in this neighborhood by colporteurs. I have found in several of the homes that they have Bibles, and I had an opportunity to read to them, which they appreciated very much.

These people are very low in spiritual things, but still some of them are trying to do what they think is right, and when I visit them they seem to like to see me, and often I hear them saying, "Come to see us again." Their homes are very crowded; often I come to a home where one room is for kitchen, dining-room, and bed-room. Some of them are trying to keep their homes clean, but where they keep boarders, the woman is hardly able to have everything in order. My desire is to speak to them about their souls, but I do not always get the opportunity, and I am trying by reading and giving tracts to reach those who know how to read.

I did not count the visits made the first month, but the second and third I made one hnudred and ten visits, and I have distributed over three hundred pages of tracts.

To help our work in the Brushton District, we need a suitable place. Delaying is loss of time. For the four months I was sick the pulpit was supplied by kindness of Rev. J. B. Fortunato, or others sent by him.

For the help and kindness to my person during the three months I was a patient in our Columbia Hospital, I am profoundly grateful and obliged to the Lord, the Women's Association, the Hospital Board, and also to God's private servants.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

Rev. J. B. Fortunato is the beloved pastor of the downtown Italian Mission. He has been ill in Columbia Hospital with an attack of typhoid fever since February. He is consequently unable to prepare a report, although he is convalescing so rapidly that he will soon be able to return to his home, family and work.

Miss Reed, Chairman of the Presbyterial Committee, has kindly prepared the following:

To The Women's General Missionary Society of the United Presbyterian Church:

The Italian Mission located on Sixth Ave., Pittsburg, has held its Sabbath and mid-week services throughout the past year, without interruption. The attendance has been good, and the interest very great. Last year 62 members were reported. This year there are 72. There were six dismissals and one death. There were two weddings, and two funerals at the mission. The Christian Endeavor Society is doing well; attendance good. The sewing school has been prospering; the work done is of a better character, and the interest taken in the devotional exercises very good. The people pay by the envelope system now, and the contributions have greatly increased. The members have made a subscription to the building which we hope to erect, as soon as the generosity of the United Presbyterian Church makes it possible. Beside the work on Sixth Ave., Mr. Fortunato has preached in Carnegie, Brushton and Butler as occasion offered. He had charge of the Bloomfield Mission for some months. He has been assisting to secure contributions for the building by presenting the cause in a number of English Churches. He has had a great deal of work in connection with the publishing of the Italian paper, "L'Ape Evangelica." This paper contains notes on the Sabbath School lesson and Christian Endeavor topics, and is much appreciated by the Italian people. Mr. Fortunato was taken very ill in March, since which time he has been in Columbia Hospital and occupies the beautiful room that has been endowed for ministers and missionaries by Mr. and Mrs. James Arnold, of Allegheny, Pa.

While he was so ill, his eight months old son was taken sick, so sick that it was thought almost impossible that he should be spared. But in this time of trial, God sent relief, and now we are hopeful that the family will soon be reunited. They need your prayers and sympathy.

This report is very meager, as Mr. Fortunato was too ill to be troubled about it.

A lot has been purchased in a good locality and it is hoped that when we are compelled to leave our present location, we will have a comfortable building to go into.

(Signed) Carrie M. Reed, Chairman of Italian work.

The following brief word from Mr. Fortunato may prove interesting:

To the Women's General Missionary So- of the United Presbyterian Church.

Thanks and praises be given to our

God, and to our Lord Jesus Christ now and forever: Amen.

He has afflicted me and my little child that His glory be manifested. And it has been manifested indeed in several ways.

First: In disclosing to me the charity, love and perfect good care that one enjoys in this grand institution, the Columbia Hospital, where these few additional lines are written. My gratitude toward the Hospital Board, the residing doctors, and the patient nurses shall never depart from my heart.

Second: In revealing unto us that He is Omnipotent God; He put us down and He put us up again. My child was at the gates of Heaven, I was seriously affected by typhoid fever, and our Heavenly Father in His goodness, restored us both to life and strength.

Third: During the beginning of my illness, when the fever was not yet very high, I often worried who would feed and guide His lambs being left to themselves, without their pastor. But the Lord, our Good Shepherd, did not abandon them. One Sabbath evening, our preaching service was held by the Rev. T. Fragale, pastor of the First Italian Presbyterian Church of East Liberty, who suspended his service to hold it in our church. For another Sabbath evening, and for several Thursdays, the Rev. Mr. Renzetti, our missionary in Butler, Pa., preached. He has been of great and special help to the church, and to my home during this period of blessed trial. On another Thursday, the prayer meeting was held by the Rev. L. D'Anna of our Brushton Mission; and for the other meetings the Lord has raised up a prophet among our people; a young man of eighteen or nineteen years of age took the pulpit, and through the Spirit of God, who has put the word and the eloquence in his mouth, this young man, Mr. Domenico Gualtieri, who still preaches, because I am not entirely recovered, attracts crowds of people to hear him speak. It has been reported over one hundred people were present at the services and that the average attendance has been about eighty people frequenting our preaching service. Was not the glory of God wonderfully manifested?

Our financial report at the end of the church year has been $348.00, a total of the collections taken in the church, Christian Endeavor, and Sabbath School. It is very encouraging to hear how the Lord, through the members of our church of the downtown district, brings the light of His blessed gospel to other people. Three of our members returned back home in Castel del Giudice, Italy, and through many persecutions and much hatred, a relation of which has been given to the church papers before, they established a very flourishing mission under the leadership and control of the Waldensian Church. Last December they celebrated the Lord's Supper, with sixteen communicants, and the sacrament of baptism was administered to an infant daugnter of one of the three of our members who returned home from Pittsburg.

Over 250 people of the Roman faith were present, and witnessed the simplicity and the grandeur of these two sacraments, and many gave their names on the next communion. And this is happening in a village town of two thousand souls.

Three more of our members are moving to Columbus, Ohio. There they went to Rev. Mr. Fulton's church, and insisted upon him that a mission be started, and a missionary be called by so many of their countrymen living in that city without the knowledge of our dear Saviour.

My dear friends, the light is not hidden by those people of our national city who had the grace of receiving it. They become "Light" indeed and shine wherever their lot is cast by the Divine Providence of God.

Would you not pray for these dear children of the promise? For us? For the cause? We so much need your prayer, your sympathy, and your help. Yes, your help also. We are poor, and this branch of the church of God is homeless in the midst of Israel. What shall we do? We trust and pray.

Respectfully submitted in His name,

(Signed) J. B. Fortunato.

Ministerial Relief.

We are enabled through the funds in this department to add a little sometimes to the grant made by the Church Board of the above name, and also give an unexpected gift to many struggling aged ones, who having limited resources, receive no outside aid. If you could read some of the grateful letters we receive from the recipients of your gifts, you would indeed feel that it is more blessed to give than to receive.

We shall continue to appreciate suggestions from friends who know of deserving families to whom we could send a little of the Father's bounty if we knew their names and addresses.

REPORT OF

Secretary Freedmen's Mission.

As we present to you a review of the work of another year in the Freedmen's Department, it is with grateful hearts, feeling our Heavenly Father's blessing has rested upon the work.

When we remember that success is to be measured not only by the results attained, but also by the difficulties and obstacles overcome, the reports received from all of our workers are encouraging and I trust they will be carefully read and studied.

Our work has been along the usual industrial lines. Sewing departments have been maintained in all the mission schools, and 2,252 pupils have been enrolled in these classes. At Birmingham, the newest mission, a sewing department was opened in connection with the other work last September. A mission building was erected during the year by the Freedmen's Board, and the school has increased very much. A separate sewing teacher has been granted for next year, and a fuller equipment will be necessary. All the missions report increased interest by the pupils, and better work done.

Norfolk, and the other schools of the Eastern group, have prepared exhibits for the Jamestown Ter-Centennial Exposition, which will be found in the building erected by the Negro Development Company, and we ask those visiting the Exposition to examine their work.

A new Domestic Science Department was established at Camden, Alabama, making eight domestic science departments in successful operation, having 756 pupils enrolled. An assistant teacher was granted at Norfolk, as they have over 250 pupils in this department. Reports from all these departments show much interest taken by the pupils, and a desire to excel in this work. The pupils are taught not only how to properly cook and serve a meal, but also the general work and care necessary to make neat homes. Special instruction has been given in laundry work at several of the missions.

Our Bible reader at Knoxville, Miss J. McCahon, has done faithful work. Although laid aside for a short time by illness, she has made 1,023 visits to the homes of the needy, carrying cheer wherever she went, reading the scriptures and praying with them, and teaching some of the mothers who desire to be able to read the Bible themselves. She has held four meetings each week, one for the children and three for women, which have been well attended and through her efforts much good has been accomplished.

Our matrons have all been faithful and untiring in their work, and have carefully watched over those committed to their care. A matron was added to our workers at Miller' Ferry, Alabama, and we now have eight matrons whom we support. Miss Margaret McDill still presides with loving care over McDill Hall, the home of the younger girls at Knoxville. She has had forty-four in her family this year, and reports good work done by them both in the class rooms and in the home where all the work is done by the girls under her direction and instruction. At Elnathan Hall, the home of the larger girls, Miss Hannah McKee, has had a family of ninety-seven girls, whom she reports studious and thoughtful, and giving little cause for discipline. At McCulloch Hall, the boys' dormitory, Miss Clara Spears has had a family of 123 young men, all but thirteen of whom are professing Christians. The Boarding department for the latter two is still in charge of Miss Emma Pinkerton. All the kitchen and dining-room work is done by the pupils, who work in turns under student overseers, who are all under the supervision of the matron. Thus those who spend a few years at Knoxville College under the careful training in this department learn not only how to work, but how to plan and manage work and are prepared for filling more responsible positions. They have prayers morning and evening before leaving the table and many a home has its family altar through this influence.

Mrs. S. A. Parker has had the care of the girls' dormitory at Miller's Ferry, Alabama, with a family of sixty-seven girls. Although overcrowded, the girls have been willing to do the best they can, but under the circumstances it is impossible to give them the much needed training in cleanliness and neatness of person and room.

Miss Christianita Totten with Mrs. Loving as assistant, remains in charge of the dormitories at Henderson, North Carolina. There have been 104 boarding students this year, 65 girls and 39 boys. (A new dormitory has been erected for the girls in place of the building destroyed by the cyclone last year.) The people of Henderson assisted the Freedmen's Board in this work, and the girls of the dormitory contributed $18.00. Although few were able to give a dollar yet they were self-sacrificing, and gave cheerfully of the little they had. A new room has been fitted up for our sewing department, and a domestic science department will be added next year.

At Chase City, Miss M. E. Campbell has had care of 49 boarders—28 girls in Vincent Hall and 21 boys in Hunter Hall. The same careful training was given, and we know the influence of the family prayer meetings will tell on the future life of the students. January 28th, Vincent Hall was entirely destroyed by fire. No lives were lost but most of the furnishing was destroyed, although the students and neighbors worked nobly, and succeeded in saving part of the kitchen, dining room and sewing room furniture. Temporary arrangements were made by dividing Hunter Hall, giving the boys the first floor and the girls the second floor; the laundry building was used as kitchen and dining room, and the regular school work was resumed after the loss of only one day. Supplies of bedding and new material and necessary equipment for the sewing department were sent immediately by several of the Women's Missionary Societies of Allegheny and Pittsburg, and some others, and all were made as comfortable as possible for the remainder of the year. The loss was only partly covered by the insurance. The land and other buildings here are owned by the Freedmen's Board and as our funds would not justify our undertaking to replace the building in addition to the increased expenditure necessary to carry on the part of the work for which we are responsibe in this department, the Freedmen's Board have decided to rebuild this summer. The Women's Board assisted by giving them $2000. the amount of insurance received in the building.

The report from the farm is encouraging although the returns have not been as large as some years. Ten more acres were under cultivation this year and one additional family is living on the farm. The crops were good last year, but heavy storms in September destroyed much of the cotton in that part of the country, so the returns were less. But the tenants all saved more corn than usual, and all are in better condition than for several years, and they are taking a pride in owning their own cattle, and placing more value on their gardens and orchards.

Mother's meetings and industrial classes have been held at most of the missions with encouraging results. Although it is hard to interest all the mothers, yet many have become interested and are anxious to learn and a marked improvement has been made in many homes. Our teachers, in additions to their work in the school room, have made many calls in the homes, thus endeavoring to influence the parents as well as the children.

Junor Misisonary Societies have been organized in most of these missions and the children are being trained in missionary work. Reports received from eleven societies show there are 697 members of Junior Missionary Societies.

They have contributed $59.12 during the year, $42.63 of which was given for mission work.

To meet the growing demands of the work at Camden, the girls' dormitory (the Mary Carson Memorial) was enlarged at a cost of $350.00, the funds for which where contributed by the family and friends of the donor. The school building was also enlarged and extensively repaired, and all our buildings at Camden were repainted, costing $956.49.

Unavoidable delays have occurred in the erection of our new building at Miller's Ferry, Alabama, the Robinson Memorial Infirmary, but it is now completed with the exception of some outside work on the porches, and some finishing on the plumbing, which is delayed on account of waiting for material. Our friend, Judge Henderson, of Miller's Ferry has again assisted us by donating framing lumber to the amount of $125.00, thus enabling us to keep the cost of the building within the $1000 given for this purpose. We are glad to report that the furnishings have all been provided for by special contributions. The office was furnished by Mrs. W. C. Jackson, of Philadelphia, in memory of her husband; one of the private rooms by Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Fullwood, of Ingram, Pa., in memory of Mr. Fullwood's father, Capt. Samuel Fullwood; and a bed has been furnished in memory of Mrs. Martha Grier, of Pittsburg, Pa. Kind friends in Alaska have provided for a room to be called the Alaska Room, and Miss Jane K. Denham, of Pittsburg, has provided for another. The Home Missionary Society of the First Church, Allegheny, has furnished the kitchen. The beds in the wards have been provided for by Mrs. Wm. Talor, of Pittsburg, the Women's Missionary Societies of the First Church, Monmouth; 2nd Church, Allegheny; 9th Church Pittsburg; the Sabbath School of 6th Church, Pittsburg; and College Springs Presbyterial (2 beds). The Women's Missionary Societies of 1st Church DesMoines, 1st Church Buffalo., Ebenezer and Elderton have sent donations of pillows, sheets, gowns, etc.; the Young Women's Missionary Society of the 2nd Church, Wilkinsburg, have provided for the operating table, and contributions towards the general furnishing have been received from the Women's Missionary Societies of West Chester and Mr. R. S. Caldwell, of Hickory, Pa. The entire cost of building and the furnishing will reach about $2000.

A class in nurse training has been organized and good work is reported both in theory and practice. Mrs. Tillie Johnson, who is in charge of this work will spend the summer taking special instruction and practical work in a hospital near Chicago, and will return to to take charge of the work at the opening of school next fall.

Again we wish to call the attention of societies and congregations to the clothing department. Although some of the missions have outgrown this need, to the greater number of them it is still very helpful. By this means, many are enabled to attend the church services and send their children to school who could not do so without this aid. During last year 178 barrels were sent and some of the missions desired more than received. We ask that societies will remember this need and try to send more contributions as early in the fall as possible. Southern freight moves very slowly, and as many of the missions are a distance from the railroads, it is hard to get barrels delivered when the roads are bad. The greatest demand is always for clothing and shoes for children of school ages. And may we again suggest that only plain serviceable articles be sent, and that the freight be prepaid, and the receipted bill of lading be sent to the principal of the school and a notice of the same to the Freedmen's Secretary. New material of all kinds, needles, thread, children's thimbles, and everything necessary for a sewing room is always very helpful in the sewing departments and very thankfully received.

The children were all made happy at Christmas time by the Christmas boxes, which were sent mostly by Junior Missionary societies. Many of the children receiving no other gift, were delighted to know they had been remembered by white children.

To sum up the work of the year briefly, we have supported seventeen sewing teachers, nine domestic science teachers, eight matrons, one Bible reader, and the superintendent of our farm, making a total of thirty-six workers (three more than last year) whose salaries have amounted to $12,515.00. In addition to this $1,320.49 was expended for additions and repairs at Camden, Ala., $1361.81 for Robinson Memorial Infirmary and additional payments are now due, $257.35 for insurance on buildings, $345.40 for necessary expenses connected with industrial departments, $86.00 traveling expenses of mission teachers, $89.00 for support of pupils, $45.00 for Junior Magazines sent to the Missions, and $2000.00 to Freedmen's Board toward rebuilding Vincent Hall, making the total expenditures $18,015.05.

The receipts were only $17,202.50. We received $8,010.00 from the Thank-offering, $1,061.50 designated for salaries, $3,359.60 for general fund, $353.00 designated for special purposes, $870.00 for furnishing of Robinson Memorial Infirmary, $255 for repairs on Mary Carson Memorial, $477.41 from sale of farm products, $616.01 from clothing fund, and $2200.00 insurance.

A balance in the treasury enabled us to close the year free from debt, but the fact is very evident that if we are to keep pace with the increasing demands of this work, larger contributions will be necessary both for general expenses, and also for buildings, which must be in addition to amount necessary to carry on the work already undertaken.

Our workers will again be increased next year. A sewing teacher will be added at Birmingham, Alabama; a domestic science teacher at Henderson, N. C., and at Knoxville the full time of the domestic science teacher will be needed, instead of half time, as has been the case for several years. We have decided the long needed new barn for the farm must be built this year, and repairs will be necessary for some of our buildings. Our girls' dormitory at Miller's Ferry, Alabama, is overcrowded, the girls sleeping from four to six in one room, and in the dining room tables made for twelve are used for sixteen. When so many are anxious to avail themselves of the privilege of attending school, we feel something should be done to give them more home comforts and afford an opportunity to better instruct them in what a model home should be.

We feel thankful that with increased expenditures, we have been able to close this year without debt; but our balance in treasury is growing smaller each year We commend this department of work, with its ever increasing needs, to your careful consideration, asking for your prayers that God's blessing may rest upon the work and the workers, and trusting by your aid we may be enabled to do more in the future than in the past.

Respectfully submitted.,

Mrs. R. A. Elliott.

We heartily thank the contributors for the donation of 138 yards of material, 2 dozens spools cotton; one dozen papers of needles and 12 dozens buttons, which were given me at opening of term.

We are especially gratified at the quality of work done this term.

Although we have not had as many in attendance, as last term, we have done excellent work. The classes were so arranged that each ones' work could be closely inspected, therefore even the smaller scholars have become more proficient in their work.

Very little time was spent in fancy work as plain sewing was most needed.

Report of Sewing Department.

The sewing Department has done very good work this year, notwithstanding we were burned out of a Home January 28.

One of the rooms in the school building was then temporarily fitted up and the work carried on as usual. Through the Women's Board kind friends in Pittsburg and Allegheny sent a nice donation of new material; scissors, thread, thimbles. needles etc, which we appreciated very much as all such articles were burned.

The girls felt badly over the loss of the ready made garments and their nice sample books so nearly completed. But they again went to work cheerfully and have been doing very nice work.

The girls in plain sewing are much interested now in making a sample book to be put on exhibition at the Jamestown Exposition. The girls in dress-making are preparing some work for the same.

We hope all our friends who visit the Exposition will be interested in seeing our work there.

Number of pupils enrolled: Grade 1, 23; grade 2, 21; grade 3. 21; grade 4, 18; grade 5, 19; irregular 1; total 103.

Articles made 512. Dresses 58; shirt waists 93; aprons 105; dress skirts, 32; underskirts, 18; coat suits, 5; hemmed sheets 25; 10 pair curtains, besides sleevelets, pillow cases, towels and underwear.

As this department grows in years it grows in interest as well. We have had some discouraging things to meet in the past year, but through it all the girls as a rule have been very interesting pupils and have shown much of the spirit we wish to see. While far from perfect, yet much improvement can be seen.

At the beginning of the school year we moved from the school building to Vincent Hall where we took charge of the cooking for the boarding departments (which in all numbered 50 boys and girls) and full charge of kitchen and dining room, pantry and cellar, the girls doing all the work necessary to keep these in order; thus while learning to cook also learning the care of the home.

The girls in the boarding department do the morning and evening work; the day pupils the day work. All the assistance they have is in part of the wood and water carried by the boys morning and evening.

All the girls in school except those in the Primary grade have the 45 minute period every other day.

There have been 93 girls enrolled this year.

A full report of our work cannot be given as the book was burned. From 125 to 200 loaves of bread is baked each week beside biscuit, corn bread, and pies; meat and vegetables in proportion, besides other things necessary to furnish a table for hungry boys and girls. Forty quarts of fruit canned, butters and jellies made.

When it is considered that this work is done by the girls in connection with their regular literary work and other school duties you will understand what it means to them.

Kind friends made it possible for us to have our rooms brightened up with new wall paper, paint and floors polished, also white curtains for the windows, but these with so many gifts that the girls appreciated so much and made our work atractive and helpful, lie in the ashes of the ruins of Vincent Hall. Not much was saved from the flames although many willing hands did all they could.

Since that time we have been doing the best we can in the old laundry building with what things we saved and a few others we had to buy. We do not know as yet how our losses will be replaced but "in some way or other the Lord will provide."

Vincent Hall.

Although we have been working under difficulties since the night of January 28th we feel that the work is very encouraging.

During the year forty-nine students, twenty-eight girls and twenty-one boys have been accommodated in the two Halls.

The usual family prayer meetings have been held each Sabbath evening, under the guidance of the Matron.

The fire threw twenty-three girls and one teacher out of a home and deprived the twenty boys of Hunter Hall of the privilege of a dining room.

The boys very good-naturedly vacated the second floor of Hunter Hall, which was converted into a girls' dormitory, the boys being content with very cramped quarters on the first floor. The building is so constructed that the two dormitories are entirely separate.

We utilized the old laundry as kitchen and dining room, serving breakfast there the morning after the fire. It is very inconvenient, crowded and during the extremely cold weather was very uncomfortable, but in spite of this, the boys and girls have shown a spirit worthy of commendation. The boys and some of the girls worked nobly to save the building.

The spirit shown by Miss Annie Wilson was especially praiseworthy, she unselfishly fighting the flames, with no thought of saving her own belongings.

In it all, we feel very grateful to our Heavenly Father that He spared the lives of all the students, the matron and the nine teachers who were in the building, and, notwithstanding the severe cold, the ground covered with snow, and most of them poorly clad, having lost much of their wearing apparel, no sickness followed.

We wish to thank our friends of the First and Second Congregation, Allegheny, Pa., Third and Sixth and Shady Side, Pittsburg, Pa., Indiana, Pa., Springfield, Mo., Second and Ninth Avenue W. M. Societies, Monmouth, Ill., for their timely aid.

The encouraging features of the work for the past year are the improvement in pupils' appearance, increased interest among a greater number and the fact that so many of them make their own clothing. Of seventy-one girls in the High school, fifty-five of them made all or most of their own clothing. In addition to this many of them are employed out of school hours, thus paying their own tuition and helping support themselves. The exhibit for the Jamestown TerCentennial exposition has claimed much of our attention and a great part of our finances. While our balance is at present small, there is in this exhibit more than one hundred dollar's worth of articles, a few of which have been sold and are loaned by the purchasers.

In addition to the display of needle work, we have a collection of Raffia and basket work amounting to $110. This is separate and distinct from the needle work. It is expected that all articles will be sold during or at close of the exposition. This exhibit will be placed in the large exhibit building erected by the Negro Development Company and will occupy about ninety square feet of space.

There are four girls in the graduating class who will finish the course in sewings.

Method of Work.

That there is a wrong way and a right way of doing everything; that there is a place for everything and everything should be kept in its place; that trifles make perfection, and perfection is no trifle; that "whatsoever our hands find to do, we should do it with our might." these are the things emphasized in our kitchen.

The time is past when our girls in the South think there is no mental discipline in industrial work; they rather believe the students mentality is shown clearly in the way she polishes the stove, washes the dishes, scrubs the floor, cooks the food and serves the same.

Our classes here like the cooking lessons very much. They have a lesson every other day; the periods are only forty minutes long;. Useful, practical recipes are taught. Economy and neatness are emphasized. Dishes that require over forty minutes' cooking are begun by one class., and finished by the following class or classes, as the case requires, so that all parts of the work are seen by each class.

As the long line of girls, sometimes twenty-three or four, enters the kitchen, they glance quickly at our small blackboard, on which the recipe and method are written, to see what they are going to have today; then they take their places around a long table, on which are the necessary utensils and materials. The monitor gives out the bags, and then they try to see who can be dressed first in caps, sleeves, and aprons; they all realize how swiftly they must work to finish their lesson; we do not have individual equipment, or gas burners; neither can several groups of girls make the recipe. But several girls are selected one day to measure the ingredients, do the mixing, baking or cooking and dish-washing. One girl serves the article cooked. Another day, other girls take their turn; while these girls are working, the others stand watching every step in the work; in small classes, each girl has some part of the work. While the baking or cooking is going on, they copy the work on board in their cookbooks. We often divide the amount on board and make one-half of it; some times an individual recipe is all we make. Since there is no market here for the sale of our foods, the classes eat it. They taste as they do at cooking demonstrations, —each having her own spoon or fork, as far as they go—each one taking a spoonful of soup, or a taste of omelet, or a piece of steak, or a biscuit, or a few cookies, or a little of the salad or dessert, as the waitress passes along the line with the dish on her tray. How to serve and table manners are also taught incidentally. Very often one class will eat the food made by the previous class; and some of the articles which ought to be served cold, are saved till next morning for the class first in the morning. Hot foods are served when done, and just after close of school, to first class in morning.

Last fall we cooked roasts, stews, potatoes and other vegetables for the dormitory dinners and the classes have had considerable practice in handling large amounts of food.

Very often something that has been cooked perfectly is kept for the admiration of the classes for the rest of the day, and then served.

All the classes have had bread; and each individual in the highest class in the school has made a loaf herself, coming before school to set it,—thus having the entire responsibility of it.

The Domestic Science department should be kept very clean. Here part of their industrial education is to do all the cleaning, since no janitor is provided, excepting the student who makes the fire in the mornings. Every day everything used is scrubbed or scoured and kept in an orderly way; but once a week, on Friday, the stove is cleaned out and polished, the windows cleaned, and the floor scrubbed. Each girl tries to get her portion whiter than the others' part; very often it is difficult to decide which is better, for they join the spaces beautifully, and no ugly streaks are visible. While the five or six girls are scrubbing, the rest go on with the cooking lesson.

After tasting, they remove uniforms, and as one long line passes up stairs for latin, algebra, or history, another comes to take its place, and eagerly look to see how the previous class cooked for them.

Besides getting all the practical points in methods of mixing, the classes are taught the theory and chemistry of it,—often they are told why they do it so.

They are taught the five food principles,—water, carbo-hydrates, mineral matter, fat and proteid. They learn the quanity needed daily of each to make a well-balanced diet; where each is digested, and what each forms in the human body. They are taught the composition of all common foods, and the comparative food value, and what to buy to get the most nourishment for the smallest amount of money, and the necessity of cooking food at all.

The classes experience the satisfaction that comes from finishing their work; when they leave materials and utensils are put away; towels put on racks; dish-washing completed; garbage burned; shades adjusted, and floor swept, leaving usually with a feeling of satisfaction.

We feel that progress has been made, although slow. If I could say they never serve leaves in tea; or boil coffee half an hour or do not burn the toast or test the temperature of milk with their fingers; or let the custard curdle; or forget to strain the jellies; or scald the yeast; or clean the currants; or eat the nuts and raisins; or make tough biscuits; or let the croquettes soak up the fat; or let eggs fall; or float the soap; or boil potatoes without breaking; or get baking pan and oven ready first; or get no lumps in sauce and gravy; we should feel the progress was wonderful. But their carefulness and attention may be judged from the fact that only one egg has been lost because of carelessness, and one bowl of gelatine emptied into sink. They do make progress along every line, and are introducing the Northern way of cooking into their homes with good results.

HENDERSON, N. C.

Sewing Department.

The year's work has been a success for the most part, although laboring under some disadvantages caused by the destruction of our building last year. An increased interest has been shown by the pupils. There are but few girls of the third, fourth and fifth grades that are not able to make very neat garments. All the uniforms for the girls besides sheets, pillow cases and other garments have been made by the pupils. Each girl is now making a book of stitches on railroad canvas. The work seems to be very fascinating and all the girls are anxious to finish them before school closes. We are also preparing some work to be sent to the Jamestown Exposition.

We are delighted with the new sewing room but will hardly get into it this term. While it is not as large as the one we had it is more convenient and has four large closets. Our chairs and tables will not be sufficient, but we did not want to ask for new ones until we got into the new building.

Our mothers' meetings have not been as largely attended as we had hoped but those who come are interested and we are hoping to save a great many of the children through these mothers' meetings.

We did not receive as much clothing this year as in former years, and some of the garments were well worn out, but some barrels were filled with very good clothing and also new material for our sewing department. Bed quilts, sheets and pillow cases have also been sent which we can use in the dormitory.

Some of the barrels did not contain any names so we could not tell who sent them.

Another year has passed, and we find ourselves within six weeks of the close of school. As we look back over the year we find a great many things for which to be thankful and also to encourage us about the work.

We have our problems of course, and the worry over solving them. There is one I think that perplexes the mind of nearly every worker on the mission field, and that is the short time some of our students stay in school. The task of getting them to realize that they must be in school nine months and study diligently all of that time to be successful students, is a hard one.

Some come in at the beginning of the term and at Christmas-time find out that it is absolutely necessary for them to be at home. Others coming in after Christmas, have the same restless spirit. Before the teacher has fully succeeded in planting a new idea, or just as soon as they are in a fair way to good work in their classes, they announce that it is planting time at their homes, and that they have to go.

Sometimes after a laborious effort in trying to instill habits of neatness, cleanliness and order into students, we find them having the reverse habits, it is somewhat discouraging. Yet these same persons have had probably no training along this line, nor did their mothers and grandmothers before them.

These are some of our discouragements, and they are the result of imperfect home training. The missionary must have patience. The work must be done little by little.

I am glad to state that our students this year present a solid front for Christ. Several young people united with the church during the year, and many of the students did good work in the Young People's Societies.

Another thing that rejoices our hearts is the new building. Last year about this time we looked around on ruined and dilapidated buildings. Through the goodness and providence of God, the damaged ones have been repaired and we have one entirely new.

When our principal announced to us that he had pledged himself to raise $1000 of the building fund here in Henderson, we felt that everyone must try to do their part.

The girls of the dormitory contributed about $18.00 towards it. Few of them could give as much as a dollar, but out of the little they had they contributed cheerfully. One girl brought me a dollar. I happened to look down at her feet and noted that she was in need of shoes. I said to her "Can you really spare this? Don't you need shoes?" "Oh! don't return it" said she, "I do so want to help on the building. I will wait for the shoes."

We hope to occupy the building in a few days. There are many things needed yet in the way of furniture, to get it in running order but since the Lord opened the way for us to get the building, we are still trusting to Him for further blessings.

Nothing has happened to mar the peaceful flow of events during the year; no serious sickness, no trouble of any kind among us, and we are indeed thankful to the Lord who is our shield and help.

The work in this department has been getting along nicely this year and we have much to encourage us.

I was pleased to see the larger girls so interested in the work this year and they have made much improvement in their work. I have both the boys and girls from the third grade to the first Normal grade in the domestic science classes.

We have learned a number of things from an experience of last year and have been able to plan and manage the work better and have also been able to keep the department self-sustaining as to supplies. We have no boarding department but many of the articles prepared have been sold at lunch time and to outside patrons.

The year which is nearing the close has been a very pleasant and interesting one, and an exceedingly busy one as well. As you will see by the report a number of the girls have been able to help themselves quite a little through the school year, as well as get the training in the sewing. A good spirit has been manifest throughout the year, and more especially by those who took advantage of the dress making class in the afternoon. They must necessarily give up their recreation time. This work being voluntary shows the spirit with which they entered upon it. And others regret they could not enter on account of it being necessary to spend all of their time on their studies in order to keep up their regular class work. We have done a great deal of sewing this year for the teachers and the public. The boarding girls are all required to wear uniforms and all are made by the girls in the dress making class for which they receive pay according to the grade in their work. This has grown to be quite a large item. We had on hands at the opening of the school, fifty-one uniform skirts ready for the finishing off and have since made more than half as many more. We now have all the material on hands and are busy on suits for the opening of school next fall. While we have only two who will complete the course this year, we have several others who will be ready for another year.

The five Normal graduating girls are at work on their dresses in order to get them through nicely without rushing at the last. I am only sorry I can not give you the number of yards of material used during the year, I am sure it would be surprising to every reader. The work is not only interesting but encouraging as the years go by.

The work in this department continues much the same as last year. The students are interested especially in the making of bread, which they look upon as an accomplishment.

Three years show great advancement in interest and in desire to cook according to recipe and above all in the food which they like.

The bakery has been removed to a better location and a new Hubbard oven installed. This makes the work easier and cheaper. From two to three hundred loaves are baked daily.

McDill Hall.

We have had 44 girls in the Home this year. Not as many as we have had some years but many of them have been doing good work in the class room. The health has been good with few exceptions. One went home the first of the year because the physician thought she would not be able for school for some time.

Another was taken with a hemorrhage one afternoon in Domestic Science class. We sent for the doctor; sat and watched and gave medicine all night but when the morning came and we realized she was a very sick girl, what a comfort to us and good thing for her that the doctor could take her to the hospital where it was quiet and she could have the most watchful and tender care. She was able to go home in two weeks. We were sorry to have her go. She was good in music and her classes (Third Normal) and a good girl but we were thankful she had a good home to go to.

How often I have heard Mrs. McCulloch and Miss Wallace wish for a hospital and it seems almost too good to be true that we have one where not only our own students but many others can come and be helped both physically and spiritually.

The days are going very quickly and another school year with its record of good and ill will soon be gone.

M. McDill,

Elnathan Hall.

The school year just drawing to a close, has been a very pleasant, and I trust a very successful one every way.

The health of the girls has been comparatively good, and the work done commendable. We have to acknowledge the kindness of our God in so many ways; only one of our number was taken to the Hospital during the year, and she only for a few days. The girls have been studious and thoughtful, little cause for discipline has been given.

We have not had any marked degree of religious convictions, but some who were not heretofore on the Lord's side, have confessed Him before men, were baptized, and connected with our church here, while others will connect with their home churches when they return. We have great reason to thank God and take courage. Ninety-seven girls have been enrolled in Elnathan Hall. Some left school soon after the holidays to take positions of various kinds.

While the work is not showing a very deep degree of consecration still we trust the blessing will come and the fruits will follow.

Hannah L. McKee,

McCulloch Hall.

In the young men's dormitory there have been 123 boys this year. At present there are 104.

In general the year has been pleasant and the interest in both lessons and dormitory work good. While we do not have a set schedule for everything yet some things such as rising and retiring, studying and work in the dormitory are done at regular times.

All but thirteen are professing Christians and all took an active part against the saloon in our recent Temperance campaign. School was dismissed on election day and our boys swelled the line of the parade and received storms of applause.

Clara Spears,

Boarding Department.

The boarding department has had another successful year. We have had 256 in the department. We have enjoyed the blessing of good health as we have had little sickness of a serious nature. Those who have the good fortune to be in this department for several years, get a training which will fit them for many of life's duties. They are taught cleanliness, thoroughness and economy.

We have student overseers for table-setting and dish-washing. Though this is done under supervision, they learn how to manage work and workers, which prepares them for filling places of responsibility.

Another helpful influence which comes through this department is that of the family altar. We have prayers morning and evening before leaving the table. Many a home has its family altar through the influence of this one.

The work of this department is a part of the leaven which is leavening the whole.

Most sincerely,
Emma Pinkerton, Matron.

Bible Reader.

REPORT OF YEAR ENDING MARCH, 1907.

The advance this year has been slow but steady. It is now that we have to look backward that we see how much improvement has been made. I have visited their homes, read and prayed with them and taught many who cannot read the Sabbath School lesson for the coming Sabbath. There is one woman who is learning to read so that she can read the Bible for herself.

I have made 1023 visits and held 4 meetings a week, three for women and one for the children. We still aim to have the daily study of the Word in the home and find that family worship has been established in homes where formerly it was not known. Advance has also been made in the Temperance cause as the results of the election shows, for Knoxville will abolish the saloon.

There is still much work to be done.

May the Lord of the harvest make us faithful in doing that committed to our care.

Respectfully submitted,
J. McCahon.

Sewing Department.

There has been much interest shown in this department by both boys and girls and also by the mothers.

We do mostly plain sewing and just a little fancy work.

The larger girls cut and fit garments nicely. We have two "systems" by which the girls learn to draft their own patterns.

Number of pupils enrolled 87; number of articles made 583; yards of material used 982.

Balance from last year	$ 4 10
Received for articles made	70 69
Expended for materials	66 38
Balance	$8 41

There have also been eleven lady students who come each afternoon and devote the time to cutting and fitting. We have done much work for the people of this community. The pupils have improved very much. Pray for our success.

Feeling the need of another sewing machine the pupils and mothers by their own efforts made the money and have purchased and paid for the machine, which they kindly gave to the work.

Our kitchen is large and airy and it has four windows through which the sunlight streams and gives everything a bright cheerful appearance.

We have 194 girls enrolled in this department, including pupils from the first to seventh grades.

We endeavor to teach cleanliness and thoroughness in work. Every girl is required to wash her hands, and sometimes her face, before beginning her work.

I find most of the girls are anxious to learn to cook well and all are pleased when they are allowed to make cakes or pastries. I am sure you would have been pleased with the exhibition of the cooking last Tuesday evening.

There has been great improvement in all of the girls this year. Girls who did not know how to sweep clean or how to properly wash dishes, now do their work well, and I feel sure many of the girls will make good house keepers after a few more years of training. This is knowledge much needed by our girls and we are endeavoring to give them the best possible training in this department.

Articles cooked have been corn cakes 819; biscuit 1068; rolls 843; pastry 49 times; meat 11 times; vegetables 16; desserts 38 times; beverages 3.

We are trying to slowly build up financially as well as instruct efficiently. A report can only give the skeleton of our work. It does not show the doubled and untiring effort to plant firmly and deeply the right principles which should govern the individual and the race. And from honest effort on our part, and the struggling effort on the part of those we teach, to do the right in spite of inherent weakness and customs, we feel we have not failed wholly and that some seed from our hand may find its way into good ground, there to be nurtured and increased by God's own hand.

This has been the most successful year of our work and we feel better satisfied with the results of our work than heretofore.

In the sewing room faithful instruction has been given along practical lines. The children are instructed and made to patch all torn garments. We had done some model work but interest was aroused when it was their own garment that was to be sewed and when told it pleased others to see them neat and clean, honest pride is cultivated. If some one with torn garments hopes to slide in and out of the sewing room unobserved they are mistaken. Many little eyes have marked the fact when school opens, but it is reserved till sewing time when it is "Miss Cotton (only a friendly reminder is allowed) Tommy's pants ought to be patched."

Another crusade is against uncombed hair and unwashed feet. If the industrial instructor is slow on inspecting, some eager voice will remind her of the mission.

Then we organized a clean mouth club, three of the children serving as officers each month. The punishment was a seat on the rostrum designated the "disgraceful seat." Any profane or vulgar word was reported and the days spent upon the seat were according to the offensiveness of the expression, the children as officers setting the limit themselves. The result is, I think, there is no profane or obscene language uttered on the school grounds and considering what they hear, the children have kept a splendid watch before the doors of their lips.

The sewing room furnishes a splendid place for quiet talks along avoided subjects which could not be given in a crowded room, so we talk and advise unreservedly. In this department we have enrolled 140 pupils; have used 54 yards of material, and made 41 articles beside model work.

The Women's Board kindly repaired and enlarged our buildings last summer, and gave us a neat room all to ourselves for our sewing which has made the work in this department very satisfactory and encouraging this term. Aside from our regular work, we have made uniforms for 33 girls in the Boarding Department, and have a number of finished articles on hand which we hope to sell before the close of school. We are now preparing some exhibition work for our closing. A series of meetings was conducted in the school during the year which was very helpful to all; quite a number of the students accepted Christ, and seven united with our church. I have visited forty-one homes since September and I feel that the time thus taken was well spent.

Number of articles completed 132; number of pupils 122; yards of material used 615; number of yards on hand 40.

Domestic Science Department.

As this is the first year for our Domestic Science Department, the work as a matter of course was largely experimental, but we believe that considerable benefit has been derived. Nearly all the girls have shown special interest in the work which has made it very encouraging to us. While some few lacked interest in cooking, this was counter-balanced by the interest they manifested in some other feature of the work. The monthly faculty suppers have been quite helpful in giving the girls opportunities for learning to serve meals in the proper way. Lectures on morals and how to care for themselves have been given from time to time, and we hope these may bear fruit in the future. Number of girls 38; number of boys 2; total number of students 40; grades 8.

Number of articles cooked: bread 250 loaves; rolls 39 pans; corn bread daily; pastries 32 times; cake 6 times; cookies 12 times; roasts 42 times; stews 66 times; fries 24; vegetables, such as collards, cabbage, greens, potatoes, tomatoes, peas, beans, corn, etc., daily; pudding, apple sauce etc. occasionally; coffee daily; tea and soup occasionally; eggs 16 times; biscuits 480 times; meats, such as bacon, hash and salmon, daily.

Received from teachers	$8 50

Although continued efforts have been made to arouse interest, still our mothers' meetings are not as encouraging as we would like them to be. But we are hoping for better results next year.

MIDWAY MISSION, PRAIRIE, ALA.

The work acommplished in the sewing department this year from July 3, 1906 to April 5, 1907 is shown from the following annual report.

Number of articles made 129; yards of material used 324; yards sent from societies 32; yards of material purchased 292; number of garments made 103;
Rec'd from sale of garments made in the sewing department $24 91
Rec'd for new garments from societies last year..... 2 67
Number of garments made for individuals 8
Received for garments made for individuals ....$ 0 95.

There are on hand in the sewing department 46 garments including fancy work. Number of thimbles 15; needles about one paper; three pair scissors; twelve spools of thread; fifty yards of cloth; one sewing machine.

The kind of garments made were children's dresses. misses' dresses, boy's waists, mens' shirts, child's aprons, ladie's aprons, misses' petticoats and underwear. Fancy work—sofa pillows, scarfs, pillow shams, wall pockets, center table covers, doylies, handkerchiefs, and quilts.

I made frequent visits to most of the homes and also visited the neighboring church and Sabbath school and assisted somewhat in the work.

Also organized a mothers' meeting when the women were through with their work in the field but did not accomplish as much as I expected. So long as the women here do not see the need of instruction in the things pertaining to the best interest of their homes, they will take little interest in such matters. Some improvement has been made and we trust for more interest and better results next year.

Number pupils, 130; Number articles made, 263; Number yards material used, 982. Amount received for articles made $82.02; Amount spent for new material, $64.27; Amount cash balance $6.62

There yet remains one month of the term and several articles now on hand will likely be disposed of before school closes.

The interest throughout the year has been good. Often the teachers from the literary department must prohibit students from coming to the sewing room except at the regular periods for sewing. They are always anxious to complete an article begun by them and insist on my allowing them to carry it home that they may have the honor of finishing it.

Thirty dollars was spent for uniform material. These dresses are made in this department and sold a little above cost. Three hundred models not included in "articles' made were finished. These were placed in books prepared for that purpose and are to be kept by the students.

There has been one girl making a specialty of sewing and her work has been satisfactory thus far.

This department, through the Women's Board, has purchased a new sewing machine, which was sorely needed. We now have two sewing machines.

Four girls graduating from the literary course are making their suits, including the underwear. One piece is done by hand entirely. A prize has been offered by one of the lady teachers for the neatest suit. We are grateful to our friends for the interest shown in this department during this term.

We have now closed another year's work and feel that there has been some good accomplished in this department. The girls have taken hold of the work with so much interest that I feel safe in saying they will without doubt practice it in their homes.

I have not been able to accomplish as much as I desired, but have done the best I could on account of our crowded condition. I wish you could see our dining room and how crowded we have been with 93 in the room at each meal. The tables are made for twelve and sixteen, but we have had sixteen and twenty-two at the tables and we expect more next year. When all are seated there is not room to pass around to serve the tables properly. The pupils in this department prepare all the meals for both the girls and the boys, and all eat together in the dining room of the girls' dormitory.

We need more room so much, and could have two hundred boarders if we could accommodate them. We trust kind friends will enable the Women's Board to enlarge our building and give us a better chance to teach these girls the knowledge obtained in this department which is so much needed by them.

Girl's Dormitory.

This has been a very busy year and I hardly know where to begin a report, we are so crowded on all sides.

Four of the teachers are lodging in the building, but only two are in a room. We have sixty-seven girls enrolled who are sleeping from four to sixteen in a room, according to the size of the room. We have only one room that has sixteen, but I wish we had more for then we could have accommodated some of the girls we had to refuse because we did not have room for them.

When we think of the crowded condition of our home, I know it is not for comfort the girls come, for we are too crowded to have essential conveniences. In the large room where 16 girls sleep there are five beds, only two wash stands and one stove. The closet is only large enough for their sleeping garments. But when we see the girls so anxious to come, and those here so willing to share with others, we are encouraged to work on, hoping to accomplish good even through our disadvantages.

Many of the girls were new this year and knew nothing of working by system, but I can say they have learned to use time to advantage and understand to some degree how to work by system. One encouraging feature is that the girls are always willing and anxious to learn. Even when made to iron and re-iron a garment as many as five times, to make it look right, they have done it willingly.

When I think of the condition of the homes these girls came from and how much need there is for them to be able to improve their homes when they return to them, my heart goes up in petitions to God that the way may be opened for the Women's Board to provide a better home where our girls can get better ideas of home training. As it is there are too many in a room to do model training.

Nurse Training Department.

Because of the distance from the railroad and consequent difficulties in procuring lumber, the erection of the Infirmary has been greatly hindered, so that much which was planned for this term's work had to be given up. However, early in this year a class of 14 studied advanced physiology, one of the text books in the nurse training course; this was supplemented by a good deal of practical work. One member of the class has had experience in nursing several sick ones in the school (small-pox patients, pneumonia,) and in preparing proper food for the sick. The whole class is deeply interested in this department, and we feel hopeful of seeing most enthusiastic classes in the year to come.

Mrs. Tillie Johnson, Teacher.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Sewing Department.

The original plan of the work here was to have only the lower grades and sewing. We did not expect more than thirty or forty children the first year. We opened school the first Monday in September in the most uninviting surroundings. We had no conveniences except one heater and a few chairs. Little announcement had been made of our intention to have a school.

Yet from the first children poured in on us so rapidly that we could not seat them. Our accommodations have at no time this year been equal to the demands. While we were crowded in the old building we thought we should have an abundance of room when we got into the new, but as soon as we moved into the new building the rush was so great that we could not seat the children.

Our present enrollment is one hundred and forty-four and the average attendance is from eighty to one hundred.

The sewing has been quite as interesting a feature as any other part of the work and has fully shared in its rapid growth. Every child sews one period a day and some beg to be allowed to sew more. Even older people from outside want to take lessons. Both children and grown people in school and out of school want the sewing continued during vacation. Only five of the one hundred and forty-four who have enrolled knew how to use a needle when they entered. We believe that the sewing has had much to do with the large enrollment and high average attendance this year. All the children are anxious to learn to sew and the parents are anxious to have them learn.

The sewing room is 12x30 and is attached to the back part of the new mission building and there is a communicating door. It is convenient and well lighted. It has an outside door, one closet for sewing material and one for second-hand clothes, sixteen straight chairs, one home-made table and one heater.

The present needs are: one dozen straight chairs for small children and one good sewing machine.

Pupils enrolled: grade 1, 56; grade 2, 28; grade 3, 26; grade 4, 21; grade 5, 8; grade 6, 5; total 143; articles made, 35; yards of material used, 122⅔.

Our work here is very encouraging and the attendance is better. Much interest has been manifested by a great many of the pupils, especially the smaller ones. As our largest classes consist of the smaller children we had a long bench made beside the wall low enough so their feet may touch the floor and they can work more comfortably. They seem anxious to learn to make what they see the larger ones making. Many of the larger girls can make their own clothes and some sew for other people.

Each class sews a period of thirty minutes each day. Last year we sewed for the dormitory but this year they did not need so much. We have a number of articles on hands which we will dispose of when school closes.

Number of pupils enrolled 135; articles made 65; yards of material used 234.

Balance from last year, $15 00. Received for articles made $12 89. Expended for materials $10 76. Balance $17 13.

The work in this department has been very encouraging. The girls are becoming more interested in the work and have made improvement in many ways. The meals for the boarding department have been prepared by the pupils and in this way instruction in practical work has been given.

Number of pupils, 28; number of classes per day, 1; average number in class, 5.

The mothers' meetings have also been encouraging. They held their annual meeting in April which was an open meeting and certainly would have pleased all who are trying to help these people. They gave a program of songs, recitations of Scripture passages and a drill by about 20 of them dressed in black skirts and white waists. Some were quite aged, but all neat and active. We hope for greater results in the future.

PRAIRIE MISSION FARM.

CATHERINE, ALA.

Last year on the Mission Farm there were in use about 150 acres in cotton, 80 acres in corn, 80 acres in pasture, 15 acres in grass, 6 acres in sweet potatoes, 6 acres in garden, 2 acres in sugar cane and 1 acre in peanuts.

The crops were excellent but a three days' storm and rain in the latter part of September destroyed a great deal of cotton and damaged much of the corn. The cotton that was not destroyed was so badly damaged that it had to be sold for much less in the market.

On account of the storm some of the tenants did not quite pay out of debt but all saved more corn than they had for several years and all are in better condition to make this year's crop. Every family now have milch cows and some have as many as eight cattle. Hogs are also raised in greater number than they formerly were. The tenants are also placing greater value upon gardens and trying harder to raise what they eat instead of buying it. More corn and larger gardens are planted this year than any time in the past.

All the houses for tenants are occupied; and all the land sufficiently improved to make a good crop, is under cultivation; but we are taking worn-out land and improving it from year to year so as to make good crops on it. This year we took in about ten acres which, with what we had taken in before, enabled us to have one more mule farm and one more tenant on the place.

Again it becomes necessary to speak of the condition of the barn. The barn now in use has become unfit and unsafe for stock; and instead of its being model for the people, it is just the opposite. It could easily be blown down by storms. A new barn is badly needed. We hope and pray that some good people may give to the Women's Board money enough to build a new barn and thus help a good work and a needy people.

REPORT OF THE .

Foreign Department.

MRS. E. M. HILL, SECRETARY.

A stranger in a small town, strolling along the streets, met the omnipresent small boy and entering into conversation with him said "Well, my little man, have you lived all your life in this town? To which the coming man replied most decidedly, "No, sir, not yet." It is in this anticipatory and progressive spirit that the foreign department of the Women's General Missionary Society would report itself as very much alive, growing and looking into the future with eager confidence. Some progress has been made in matters which statistics represent, which enlarges our faith because these figures reveal an enlarged work in answer to prayer and effort. Our usual standard of monetary gifts in the monthly offerings of the congregational societies has not been reached. We deem this but a temporary halt, and confidently expect the needed increase in the coming months. And it is an inspiration to recall that the inches added to the boy's stature do not tell all the story of that which goes into the development of the boy into the man. We, therefore, praise our God who has graciously fulfilled all His promises to the faithful, and has given us to know that there is a greater unity of spirit, a more loving and consecrated effort; that the rich are learning to give intelligently and that the poor are giving of their poverty. Shall we not receive all this in the line of true progress, and read the following interesting reports with a prayer in our hearts that we shall all "grow up in all things into Him, which is the head, even Christ?"

Missionaries.

A great shadow has fallen upon our church in the unexpected death of Miss Adele McMillen, who entered the New Jerusalem from her bed of pain in the Presbyterian Hospital, March 10th, in Chicago, Illinois. Miss Mc Millan's life has cast a bright light all along the pathway of her devoted service. The many beautiful testimonies breathed forth to those who were with her in her last hours are clarion calls to those who remain, urging that the girls of Egypt be remembered, that we comfort by prayers and kind messages the sister so recently gone to Egypt, and that we shall not fail to surrender our all to Him who died for us.

Sixty-one women missionaries, including six medical missionaries, are now on our roll. Salaries, traveling expenses, outfit money, and other financial interests, are assumed by the Women's Board. All of these salaries except twelve are pledged by societies, congregations, Sabbath Schools and individuals. More must be pledged if more missionaries are to be sent to the needy stations. Dr. Agavine Gilbakian of Dorchester, Massachusetts, a graduate of the Women's Medical College of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and a most earnest Christian woman has been appointed to the medical work in India, and since her arrival, the Missioniary Association has assigned her to the Memorial Hospital at Sialkot. Her salary has been pledged by the Young Woman's Missionary Society of the Sixth Church, Pittsburg Pa.

Miss Susie A. Young and Dr. Gilbakian left New York for India in March. Miss Kate Corbett, who had been detained some months past her furlough period because of the illness of her aged mother, was permitted to return after the death of her mother in March, and we hope ere this is again in her wonted place in India.

Miss Margaret A. Bell, who came home two years ago from Egypt, has remained by the bedside of her father, who is very ill. Miss Cora B. Dickey and Miss Zella W. Mitchell, who have been providentially hindered from returning to Egypt, have been withdrawn from the pay-roll, but have not resigned as it is their hope to return to the work which needs them so much.

Mrs. Alice E. McClure, her daughter, and Misses Hill and Dickson accompanied by Miss Alexander, a representative of the A. R. Church South, who will work in our field, all left for India from Boston last September. It was the first time that Boston Presbyterial Women's Missionary Society ever had the privilege of entertaining departing missionaries. The meetings at Brockton, Masaschusetts, and in Boston, gave evidence of the enthusiastic interest our New England women have in the work. It was a fitting climax to the efficient service that our missionaries had given the church while in the home land.

The next week amidst a pouring rain a "farewell" was given to a missionary party going to Egypt and the Sudan in New York, among whom was Miss Hannah McLean, our first representative to the Sudan. Miss McLean was a member of the Carnegie congregation, of Carnegie Pa., and goes through the liberality of Mr. John and Miss Jane Denham, of the Shadyside Church, and Mr. and Mrs. Taylor of the Third Church, Pittsburg, Pa.

Miss Henrietta Moore, Miss Elizabeth McCahon, and Miss Rosa T. Wilson returned from India early last year. The first two will end their furlough and go with the missionary party that sails in the fall. Miss Rosa T. Wilson will delay because of the need of a longer rest and will go back with her sister, Miss Cynthia Wilson when her furlough ends. Miss Cynthia came to the home land a few months ago via the Pacific, accompanied by Miss Sallie E. Dickey, whose health is seriously impaired, and who is not making the progress that was hoped for. She is in California for a time and the prayers of all interested are asked for in her behalf. During the past year a leave of absence was granted Miss Marion Embleton, of India, who was called home because of a serious accident renderng her aged mother almost helpless. Miss Embleton arrived in New York May 11th, apparently very weary and worn but later on it was discovered that she was far from well, and has been obliged to tarry for a time before going on to Fresno, California, where the waiting mother is anxiously looking for the loved daughter. Surely these two tried ones will be remembered at the throne of grace until their desire be granted.

To fill vacancies only, without any attempt to respond to the appeals for additional help, nine missionaries should leave our shores this fall. Two pledged salaries are available. All of the nine workers could be secured, but at least seven salaries are needed. What shall be the answer? The church, societies, individuals, have it in their power to bring the work and the workers together. This is the consummation earnestly desired. May the Spirit of prayer so prevail that hearts and purses will be opened in behalf of those who would "go" forth if they were "sent."

Three hospitals and three dispensaries are the exponents of our helpful interest to the weak and weary among the women and children of heathendom.

"Thou crownest the year with Thy goodness, and Thy paths drop fatness." Ps. 65—11.

"Except the Lord build the house they labour in vain that build it; except the Lord keep the city the watchman waketh but in vain." Ps. 127—1.

The year 1906 has been a busy year, the busiest perhaps in the history of the work. As we stand on the threshold of the new year and look back, we sometimes wonder how so much has been crowded into the time. The outdoor department never ran so high. The daily record often showing one hundred and eighty or ninety, with an aggregate for the year of 29,419; with the exception of two of the winter months, the daily number has kept above one hundred. The Bible work has been done by Mrs. Eliazer. This department requires skill and tact to hold the undisciplined crowd under control and teach them at the same time, and during the trying heat it taxes all the energy of the one in charge, but there are always some good listeners, some who will return after receiving their medicine for more Bible teaching.

The indoor department also shows an increase in attendance numbering 429. One remarkable feature has been an increase of Hindus over any previous year. Miss F. G. Smith had charge of the indoor work during the first months of the year but in April the Mission placed Miss Minger as superintendent of that department.

The two new departments, the tubercular and the infant's, added greatly to our work, and as many of both were on our hands before any arrangements for them were made, the work became most trying during the extreme heat of the summer. Our babies numbered twelve, five of which remained over from last year; three of the number being Christian children who had lost their mothers, were returned after their father's remarriage. Five have been gathered to the arms of Jesus, and four still remain in the hospital. The first of our little ones taken to Jesus was our darling Annie Herron, called for our much loved Mrs. Herron, president of the Women's Board. Annie was a sweet, winsome little maid, and won the hearts of all. She had been an unusually healthy child, but fever and cutting teeth during the worst season of the year proved too much, and the slender thread of baby life snapped. In May, a little Brahmin baby, a poor, sick, opium-fed little mortal was given us. It seemed impossible to save her life, but three times through prayer God gave her back to us; no famine orphans ever looked worse when we gave her to God in baptism; she received the name of our much loved late secretary, Mary Reid. She has already become the darling of our hearts and we fully expect a bright healthy child.

Two memorial cots have been established, one called the "John Holliday Cot," purchased and supported by Rev. and Mrs. J. F. Holliday in memory of their little son gone home to Jesus; the other bears the name of our darling Annie Herron. Tubercular cases crowded in on us before wards would be prepared; seven last year were admitted and continued over till this year. Of these, three have gone home to Jesus, two made a good recovery and are in the hospital as nurse and child's nurse. Twelve new cases have been admitted of which five have passed to the other shore, leaving us nine still in the wards.

The new building has been erected, and though not yet finished, was formally opened October 23rd by a religious or dedicatory service. This more than doubles the capacity of the hospital, but even yet there is no spare room.

Summing the year's work, we can truly say the Lord has builded the house and crowned the year with His goodness. The Lord has kept both missionaries and workers in health. The Lord has directed our path. The Lord has given us blessings above which we could ask or think. Praise to His great name.

(Signed) Maria White, M. D.

I began this work about April first, taking charge after Miss Smith, the English women who had been with Dr. White during the winter, had gone. I found the work in good condition, and felt that though Miss Smith's stay had been brief, she had done well in the way of systematizing the work.

We have had a very encouraging summer in many ways; we have had more in patients, and they have shown a most grateful spirit as a rule and have stayed more readily than ever before; they also listen very eagerly and gladly to the gospel, and it is really wonderful to see how much confidence some of them have shown in our prayer for them. And Oh, how they watch our daily lives, and see everything so clearly. We need to be very careful and to walk prayerfully that they may see Christ in us, so that they may realize that the Christians' service is a labor of love. About the time the new wards were opened, a number of the Pasrur Orphanage girls were sent to us, all affected more or less by tuberculosis. and when they came, I felt as though a great responsibility had been given us, for we knew that some of them, at least would not be with us very long. But one of the greatest lessons of the year to me has been to see their simple faith and to see how fearlessly they approached death. They seemed to trust so implicitly in the love and saving power of the Saviour whom they had learned to know and love, that death to them only seemed a passing away to be with Him forever. The little children also have been a source of great joy to us.

Yours in His service,

The Good Samaritan Hospital, Jhelum.

There has been an increase of twenty-five per cent over last year in all departments of the Good Samaritan Hospital. In Bhera Dispensary also the attendance has increased greatly the past year. On account of the distance from Jhelum and the length of time it takes to get there and back, the Bhera Dispensary will be under Dr. Brown's superintendence hereafter, as Bhera and Sargodha (where Dr. Brown is located) are in the same mission district. The same force of workers will remain in Bhera. In its place, the mission has given me the privilege of opening a dispensaryinKola, a large town three or four miles from Jhelum, where the people, like most of the villagers in this district, are so opposed to listening to our teaching that it is only through some such method that they can be reached.

Mr. Cummings received a letter from the editor of a native paper in Kola offering the use of a house for a dispensary. The neighbors heard of it and persuaded an old aunt of his who has an ancestral right to one room in the house to settle herself down there and refuse to leave. She looked very disapprovingly at us as we entered the house, and while we were examining it, a number of Hindu men from the vicinity gathered in and began to jabber among themselves. The scowl on their faces was anything but pleasant. Several of them had red paint on their foreheads, showing that they were idol worshippers. The owner of the house, though, showed no concern, and it is probable if we offer the widowed aunt a sufficient rent for her room, she will let us have it after making a show of refusing for her neighbor's sake.

There have been forty-two more patients in the indoor department of the Jhelum Hospital than any previous year, and they seemed to listen more attentively to the Bible teaching than heretofore. Many of them have memorized portions of the Psalms, which we sing to their own native airs, and some join in the singing. I often think of the fortieth Psalm when I see these women singing with us "He hath put a new song in my mouth, even praise unto our God: many shall see it and fear, and shall trust in the Lord."

EGYPT.

Martha J. McKown Hospital, Tanta, Egypt.

Coming after seven years of work, the hospital proves a delight and a satisfaction. With no formal opening to attract a decidedly skeptical public, it has grown in a normal steady fashion. Now at the end of two and a half years, like Kipling's ship, it has found itself, and is equipped with a personnel of patients, doctors and nurses.

The wards, ideal in roominess, luxurious in abundance of sea-air blowing fresh across stretches of green fields, the wide verandas enticing to a sunning, the bath rooms with a supply of hot and cold Artesian water, the operating room complete in a simple way, the children's ward with its row of enticing white cots, the laboratory with its essential apparatus,—in a word, the hospital compels admiration from the visitor, and a glow of gratitude from the workers.

Week by week the patients come and go, an occasional Protestant, few because their habitat is Upper Egypt, Moslem harem ladies attended by servants or mothers in-law in the role of private detective, some British and other Europeans from the near towns, a goodly sprinkling of missionaries during the vacation season; but our typical patient is the Moslem fellaha and her child fresh from the primitive life at the fields and mud villages. To them the experience from their entrance per viam the bath-tub, to their discharge is epoch-making. The first bath of a little sick fellah is dramatic, not to say tragic, as interpreted by the mother's emotions, and is always protested against by voice and limb.

History-taking is diverting. if hopelessly intricate; ages are fixed by the Arabi rebellion, time reckoned by moons and feasts, as causes of disease "the Evil Eye," possession by spirits, and the influence of the "Jin from under the ground," introduce a pathology never dreamed of in staid, orthodox test-books.

Summer brings its crop of fevers, opthalmia, and teething babies rueing indulgence in cucumbers, roasted corn, and a free mouth to the family menu. There is great need of long patience and love like unto the Christ's who took the little ones into His arms, in caring for these miserable, often repulsive, wee patients. Surgical cases abound.

Many leave rejoicing in body and spirit. A disheartened, spurned young wife comes in suffering an infirmity, leaves radiant to return to her husband's house. An old women comes blind and solitary, rides away giving the joy-cry. A poor, cruelly treated outcast, a bit of the flotsam from the under-world of our wicked city, drifts in to die at peace. A poor, emaciated child, brought "hanging like a rag on his mother's neck," goes away fat, rosy, saucy. Through the mother's gratitude her home is opened in a needy quarter of the city for weekly prayer-meetings. This is a privilege not often granted by a Coptic woman through fear of the priest. A hopeless victim of recurrent cancer, forsaking the saints upon whom she had long called in vain, carried away her burden of pain, but also the precious comfort of a strengthening faith in the Saviour of the pierced side.

A Bible teacher, peculiarly fitted for her work, holds morning and evening prayers in the wards, and gives bed-side instruction. Miss MacMillan gathers the patients around her for a lesson every Sabbath.

Many have come and gone back to their village homes. Gone back to their sifting of flour and molding of loaves, to their gleaning of grain and carrying of high-piled loads of cotton stalks, back to their gossipings over the water-jars, back to their wailings and joy-cries, back to their primitive passions of joy and sorrow. What do they carry with them? God grant that it may be a realization in the small round of their dull lives of the sweet influence of the Saviour, who, in the far centuries, of a hot noon-tide, talked at the village well with the peasant woman of Samaria.

Report of the Medical Work in the Delta for 1906. Tanta Clinic and Outwork.

DR. ANNA B. WATSON.

Clinic visits, 7,586; house visits, 599; village visits, 50; operations, 147.

If the essential object of medical missionary work be the opening of hearts and homes to the preaching of the Gospel, then the medical work in Tanta is fulfilling its mission. Especially do we note the Moslems' willingness to give an attentive and respectful hearing. The clinic Bible woman says that scarcely a day passes without a request from some of the clinic patients to visit them in their homes to read to them from the Bible. A patient was very much impressed by a lesson from Proverbs 31—10. This woman has come to clinic almost every day for the past three months. She receives no treatment but sits quietly in the waiting room while the lesson is given and then goes home. Through patients in clinic, meetings were held at the home of a poor old Moslem woman. Notwithstanding she was old, feeble, and unable to walk far, she would take her cane, hobble to her neighbors and gather them in for a Bible lesson. On a certain day the lesson was from the fifth chapter of Matthew on forgiveness. When it was finished, the old lady brought in two of her neighbors who had quarreled. She asked the Bible woman to repeat the lesson. The two women were lead to ask each other's pardon, and to prove their mutual forgiveness, each kissed the other's forehead. Only yesterday I met a woman who had been a clinic patient four or five years ago and she was able to tell me lessons learned at that time.

Only He who knoweth the hearts of men knoweth where and to what extent the seed hath taken root.

New Work.

Mahallet Kabir is a large and influential city of 36,000 inhabitants. It boasts the largest number of mosques (365) of any city outside of Cairo. The Moslem and Coptic population alike appear ignorant and woefully in need of a pure Gospel. The patients who have gathered into the clinic have been faithfully taught and have listened with deep interest. Mr. Coventry has kindly given of his time to teach in the clinic one day in the week, and Mr. Lateef of the Boy's School the other clinic day. There have been 639 clinic visits and 10 house visits. A small beginning, but the work has been undertaken in His name and for His glory.

Of Benha, Dr. N. Belle Drake Writes:

"Clinic patients, 2,532; house visits, 52; village visits, 12; operations, 132; receipts, $496.45."

"A review of the year's work may be taken from two phases—that of the physician and that of the missionary. From the statement of the former, it has been one of real joy. The work has been full of interest, the patients most appreciative, and we are sincere friends. But the physician is a missionary, and she feels that the souls of the men and women of Egypt have not been impressed or brightened much by the influence of the Benha clinic. The year's history is expressed by one word unfaithfulness. "Woe to me if I preach not the gospel" has been ringing in my ears for months. Our Bible woman of last year has retired to the comforts of her brother's home, and as yet we have not been able to get a successor. The two vast districts of Benha and Zagazig have had between them one evangelist about three-fourths of the year. Every Thursday he holds a short meeting for the patients, but it is only a short one, as he has two other meetings that day besides making calls in town. Hence he has not time to follow up the medical work in the villages. We feel that we ought to have made other arrangements for the teaching of the Word. Pray that we may be faithful in the future and fitter for service."

Miss Harvey, Superintendent of the Hospital, Reports as Follows:

Reviewing the past year's work, we have reason to be encouraged. "Hitherto hath the Lord led us."

Of our patients there were: Moslems, 169; Copts, 72; Protestants, 52; Greek Orthodox, 10; Total, 333. Income, hospital and clinic, $4,058.00; expenses, $6,720.00.

The nursing staff has been reinforced by Miss Helen Sill, of Argyle, New York, a graduate of the Presbyterian Hospital of New York City. Miss Sill has kindly given her traveling expenses as a donation to the hospital.

A special feature has been the out-of-door treatment for which the verandas were planned. The patients almost live on them. Those unable to walk are wheeled out on their beds. Many who were before shut up in their homes, afraid of draughts, have rapidly improved. The children enjoy the out-of-door life in their pen, which is a part of the veranda fenced off to keep the crawlers and toddlers from falling down the steps, or getting into mischief while the nurses are busy at other work. Visitors are surprised to see the children playing and happy without their mothers. Last summer the average number of children in the pen was nine.

Through the kindness of friends, the veranda on the south side and end of the west pavilion was completed this summer. The matter of fresh eggs was talked about to different persons, and as a result, we now have a poultry yard. We hope soon to purchase cows and be able to give our patients clean unwatered milk.

We wish to acknowledge with gratitude gifts from the following:

Mr. Arnold, of Bellevue, Pennsylvania, endowment of a bed in the children's ward in memory of a little daughter, Jane Elizabeth; the Wiesa family for endowment of a bed; Mrs. Jamison, Miss Arbuckle, the Misses Sawyer; Mrs. Jamison, of Allegheny, Pennsylvania, and the Misses Stokes, of New York, for purchase of a static electrical machine, X-ray apparatus and valuable instruments; Mr. Fisher; the Misses Lyle; Mr. Awad Gubrial; two ladies; Rev. MacTaggart; Dr. Hume; Mr. Paden; Mr. George Wissa; Miss VanSomer; a friend; Miss Bell; Mr. Wilson; Mrs. John Giffen; Miss Finney: Mr. John Niggar; Mrs. McLaughlin; Mr. MacKittrick; Dr. Harvey; Dr. Drake. (Especially are thanks due to Mrs. Wm. Harvey for energy and interest in gathering gifts for the veranda. C. C. L.)

Educational.

The key to all missionary work is the Christian education of the girls—to train the girls intellectually and morally and in every way fitting them for the high positions of wife and mother which shall be theirs. Most efficiently is such work being accomplished in the two educational institutions supported by the Women's General Missionary Society. The following report is given in full as prepared by those in charge.

Report of Girls' Boarding School American Mission, Sialkot, for Year 1906.

MISSES M. R. MARTIN AND FLORA J. JAMESON, IN CHARGE.

Number of girls on the roll at the beginning of the year, 153, of whom five were day pupils and two were in the Normal Department, others boarders.

Number of girls on the roll at the end of the year, 178, of whom five were day pupils, and seven were in the Normal Department, others boarders.

The girls did very well both in the Bible examinations and in the Government Inspection.

The health of the school on the whole has been good. One little girl died from a very sudden and acute attack of peritonitis of only a few hours duration. Malarial fever was unusually prevalent everywhere during the autumn and we had a number of cases of it, but usually it was of a mild type. We also had a mild epidemic of influenza, but only two cases were at all serious.

Again as in last year's report, we have no striking facts to report, but we can testify to a year of faithful steady work on the part of both teachers and pupils. A number of girls have been for months praying daily, either alone, or in small groups, for the baptism of the Spirit on the school. A great many of the girls are very much in earnest about this, and we shall not be surprised if the fire breaks out at any time. The earnest spirit of a large number of the girls has been so marked as to be noticed by those who have come to give the girls a talk. They are taking a good degree of interest in the Christian Endeavor meetings (we still have the four organizations, one Senior, one Intermediate and two Junior Societies) Sabbath School and other meetings, but perhaps the most remarkable meeting of the year was the one held the last Sabbath evening of the year when Padri Gandu Mal gave them a talk on the National Missionary Society of India, a movement to enlist the interest and help of Indian Christians in the work of evangelizing the heathen of India and making them feel their responsibility in the matter. He gave an instance of two of those who, not having money to give, gave some bit of jewelry they might have. The habit of wearing jewelry is almost universal among Orientals, and scarcely any one, though she may have only a few rags for clothes, is without her bit of crude jewelry of silver or glass, worth often times, only a few cents, but still jewelry. The girls were much interested, and besides giving their little store of pennies, came one after another with their pieces of jewelry till in a few minutes we had one gold ring, fifteen silver rings, one silver brooch, five pairs of silver earrings, and one silver and two pairs of glass bracelets, and one girl gave cloth she had bought for a skirt. They were very happy, too, in giving them and very enthusiastic in forming a branch of the Missionary Society in the school. One girl said she wanted to go over to the village close by and talk to the women.

While we have naughty girls in the school and girls who have disappointed us and girls who are "problems" to us, we have been much encouraged and cheered by the very marked growth in Christian graces and spirituality of many of the girls. This has taken the form of earnest endeavor to conquer their faults, and to be ready and willing to serve others even though it may be in a humble way, rather than that of outward demonstration, but we cannot doubt that it is a very real work of the Spirit. May He continue to work among us and in us in increasing power and bring us into the fulness of the blessing He has for us.

Report of Girls' Boarding School, Luxor, Egypt.

MISS CARRIE M. BUCHANAN IN CHARGE, ASSISTED BY MISS ALDA ATCHISON.

Enrollment 65; day pupils 213; Protestants 75; Copts 187; Moslems 14; Greeks 2.

The Boarding school at Luxor differs from its sister schools in being as far as its boarding department is concerned, just four years old. It differs also in this, that at so early a stage in its history it has already an assured position and equipments internal and external that one expects to be the growth and gain of tedious years. Its commodious new building, well planned and executed, occupies a prominent site on the Karnak Road, and as tourists linger long at Luxor, and weary at lengh of its temples and tombs, it attracts in the winter months a constant stream of visitors, who while they always take from the missionary time and strength that can ill be spared, and gain for themselves what may be more practically educative than any glimpse into Egypt's buried past, give occasionally for the benefit of the work, not interest and sympathy alone, but valuable money aid. It seems well that the work God is doing in Egypt through the church should be thus in evidence, at so strategic a point, where as the years pass, thousands will see its witness, who have held such work in scorn. We believe that the school has in this way a secondary mission to perform in an unhorizoned sphere.

The beautiful building is practically finished, and since September we have been able to occupy the second floor, and rejoice continually in plenty of room, plenty of air, and consequent good health. An epidemic of dengue (grippe) nearly broke up the day school but hardly a boarder was affected. We have had almost no sickness since living upstairs.

Early in the year there had been two alarming cases of illness. The baby of the school was stricken with pneumonia and for fifty hours after the fever left her the little life hung in the balance. But the crisis came at last, may we not believe, by the prayers of loving hearts, and she was given back to us. Meanwhile one of the older girls, a special favorite, developed the most serious symptoms. She felt she was dying, and gave beautiful messages to her friends who had been sent for, a joyous light from across the border shining in her face. But oh, how we prayed that God would bless the last remedy used, and restore her to us! And He did, for just at the first streak of dawn, the dear girl dropped into a doze, the fever fell, the heart beats steadied, and we knew that God had spared her to us and to His service. At the next communion season, she publicly dedicated her life to Him, and she declares herself ready for any sphere of work to which He may call her. She with two others will graduate from the school at the end of the present term.

We wish to thank our native friends who have helped us this year—Mr. Yessa Andraious for his gift of $100.00 and to friends from Kineh for their gift of $175.00. And we should like also through this report to thank some of our American and European friends who have modestly asked not to have their names appear in connection with the generous gifts bestowed. Surely we ought to feel that our Father has "crowned our year with goodness."

The reports of the other educational institutions, although not supported by the Women's General Missionary Society, are fully as interesting, but must, for lack of space, be condensed. Extracts are given so that some conception may be had of the great work that is being accomplished by our missionaries.

Extract from the Educational Report for 1905-1906.

(Adapted)

BY MISS RENA L HOGG.

How to present the church in America with a clear picture of the educational work which through the mission she has had the privilege of establishing in Egypt, becomes every year a greater problem. If the canvas is over-crowded, the picture will become confused. If to economize space details are omitted, the picture will lose in truth and life and its power to rouse enthusiasm and lead to more prayer and more devoted effort will be quenched. That a true picture presented could not fail to rouse such enthusiasm, a thoughtful study of the mere statistics will amply prove, unless one's imagination, or one's faith be utterly dead. This work whose feeble beginnings our jubilee year brought back to the memories of all, has reached magnificent proportions, and each year tells of further progress in almost every detail.

The schools number 179, with an enrollment of 15,871, an increase of 420 in the year, while fees for tuition and board amounted this year to nearly $62,000.00, an increase of $8,800 over the year 1905. So continuous and so rapid is the progress of this educational work that the enrollment has more than doubled in the last twelve years, and receipts from pupils in five.

Only thirty-two of the above are for girls, because the social conditions are such as to prevent parents from sending their girls to the schools with the same freedom as the boys. Seventeen of the thirty-two are village schools, financed and managed by natives. There are 2,726 girls enrolled in the schools under the direct supervision of the women missionaries. Good, effective work is evidenced by the various reports and this notwithstandng untoward conditions such as crowded and uncomfortable quarters, especially in Alexandria, opposition because of the religious teachings and because of rival government, Coptic and other schools. One cloud always overshadows the school work among girls. Like the shadow on the dial, it gives warning of the swiftly passing hours and leads our missionaries to renewed efforts to make, if possible, indelible impressions on the lives of the coming women. The following story reveals the shadow. Miss Ferrier tells a story that reminds one of the old King's endless tale of the ants and the corn. She traces the history of a class of fourteen through the last few terms of their school life and the tale falls into that same monotonous rhythm. It runs thus: "Then another bridegroom came and took away another girl; and then another bridegroom came and took away another girl; and then another bridegroom came and took away another girl." And if the bridegroom is not active he is prospective, and the girl is imprisoned in her home awaiting him, lest through her being too visible in street or school, he should haply pass her by. Miss Ferrier's story, however, stops just in time to rescue three happy girls from a similar fate and to make them the proud possessors of diplomas as having completed the entire curriculum of the school. Two are Copts and one a Mohammedan, all good earnest girls, who, we hope, will make good wives when other bridegrooms come and complete the tale.

The influence of the teaching in the schools on the lives of the very little ones is illustrated in the following described by Miss Paden: "Little Moslem, a regular attendant at Sabbath School, rebelled against being kept at home to celebrate Moslem feasts. A mischievous boy of six showed a strong interest in prayer and assured his crying companion that if he would only pray, he would be quite happy; while a little girl in her illness startled her mother by rising in the night and beginning to dress for church. This little one was, a few nights later, called to a better house of God—the Father's home above."

Two new schools have been opened during the past year in Cairo. One under the shadow of the Girl's Boarding School in Cairo, and the other known as the Fowler Orphanage.

The three boarding schools are aiming to give a thorough and broad education to the girls of Egypt, and are able to do much by keeping the girls as boarders, and so limiting the home influence. The Cairo Girls' Boarding School enrolls 405, with 141 boarders.

The Pressly Memorial Institute at Assiut has 236 on the roll, 128 of whom are boarders.

(The record of the Girls' Boarding School at Luxor, supported by the Women's General Missionary Society is reported in the first part of this report.)

The large majority of Egyptian teachers at work in the schools are the product of these boarding schools. The account of the graduating class of twelve girls in the Cairo school gives some conception of what is being consummated through its influence.

A class of twelve graduated at the close of the year, and the girls acquitted themselves most creditably on the day of Commencement, receiving warm commendation from the American Consul, the Honorable L. W. Iddings, who presented their diplomas and addressed the class. This was an exceptional class in that it had been longer under instruction than any of its predecessors, and is the first for many years that has been composed entirely of Arabic speaking girls. They seemed all to give evidence of real Christian experience, and it is in the school that this light has dawned and brightened their lives. May they carry it now to the homes from which they came, some of which are barren of all other religious influences.

The teachers have done good and faithful work. Four girls united with the church during the year. The usual religious and missionary meetings have been carried on with manifest interest, and the Thank-offering of $160.00 was the most liberal on the school record, the largest contribution coming from a Mohammedan.

Miss Kyle closes her report with a grateful reference to the munificent gift of $18,000 lately received from Mr. J. D. Rockefeller, which makes it possible to begin on the much longed for building. "We were much discouraged," she writes, "the site purchased, the plans completed, but the money insufficient to justify our breaking ground. We lifted up our hearts in earnest prayer and God has heard and answered by sending us this generous gift. We hope to make an immediate beginning, and the glad day of removing to the new building seems not far distant."

The two schools in the upper country are as throughly Egyptian as the Cairo School is cosmopolitan. The Pressly Memorial Institute is distinctively a church school, 165 of the 236 pupils being Protestants. Frequent changes in the American missionaries have made the work very hard. Miss Ruth Work now in charge, pays a tribute of praise to Mrs. Myra Boyd Bell in her report and laments the necessity of her going out from the work. Nine graduated at the close of the year, and the close of the exercises is described as follows:

"Could you have been present at our closing entertainment and have peeped into our display rooms, you might have seen an assortment of fancy work of which any one might feel justly proud, and some excellent papers on historical and literary subjects; while going into the Chapel, you would have heard the English language ringing out with almost an American accent, and from the piano the melodious strains of such classics as Nevin's "Narcissus" and Leybach's "Fifth Nocturne."

The gifts of the girls in the Pressly Memorial Institute in church, Sabbath School, and missionary meetings, have amounted in all to over $250.00. The prayer-meetings and Bible study circles have carried on their steady work and the year has been one of quiet yet visible progress."

As in Egypt, so in India many of our women missionaries are in charge of boarding, industrial and day schools in the cities and villages.

The Girls' Industrial School at Pasrur, the haven to which so many orphans came, is quietly continuing its good work for those who were famishing for more than mere physical sustenance. Miss Mary Lawrence has been quite ill during the year, but the work through very definite answer to prayer, has not suffered. 132 are on the roll.

The Avalon Girls' School under Miss Mary Campbell has been enlarged by twenty-one rooms, and the Girls' High School of Rawal Pindi transfered to Pathankot. The girls in this school pay a tuition of $1.15 per year, provide their own clothes and bedding, do their cooking, washing, etc. The City Girls' School in Sialkot and Gujranwala have had much to contend with in the awful ravage of the plague. In the last named, eleven out of an enrollment of three hundred died, but the work has made progress.

Miss Anderson opened a boarding school in the new field in Sargodha, twenty boarders and eight day pupils, in April last, but because no Christian native teachers could be found, the school has to close in November. The school in Rawal Pindi suffered from the plague and the ill-health of the teacher, as described by Miss Morrison.

City School—Rawal Pindi.

For many weeks the school was closed on account of the plague; some of the girls died, and some removed from the city; when finally it was re-opened, there were only a dozen of the old girls in attendance; others have returned now, and it is slowly building up again. This sadly interfered with the class work, and instead of promotion, there was really only re-organization. Miss Dickey, who was in charge of the school, was obliged to return to America because of ill-health.

A special means of education and of deepening the spiritual life is found in the Summer Bible Schools which convene at the different mission stations. Lectures, study classes, special meetings for prayer in the mornings, in the evening, and spontaneously, whenever suggested by the Spirit. One writer significantly writes "The classes for Bible study were very much like those in the home land, except that the women were required to know the lesson."

Confession, repentance and blessing were brought about by the very evident working of the Holy Spirit in these schools.

Harem Work.

As we all know, one of the very important departments of missionary work is that of visiting the women in their so-called home—"harems," "zenanas."

Those under instruction—beginners, 409; readers, 759; regular listeners, 1,692; irregular listeners; 2,808; total, 5,663. The regular pupils are Protestants, 551; Copts, 2,087; Mohammedans, 115; others, 102; total, 2,855.

Women's Missionary Societies, 11; Junior Missionary Societies, 10; Members of Women's Missionary Societies, 287; Members of Junior Missionary Societies, 432.

Offerings of Women $658.25; offerings of Juniors, $121.75.

Miss Marion Paden, who edits this report, writes "The reports of the harem work burn three facts into my heart:

1. The tremendous importance of the Bible woman and her work.

2. The great scarcity of Bible women to supply the demand.

3. That God's way of meeting this need is by prayer and faith."

Many interesting incidents are recounted in the reports received, and the good results are learned through such expressions as these—"Yes, we know many things about God we never knew before; we love to think about them, and when we sit together we talk about them." "Your words trouble me. I know I ought to pray, but I do not know how." "Is that teaching for us Moslem women too, Ya Sitt? (O Lady)."

Mrs. McMillen writes in what is to be her last message, "Little has been done for the women of Tanta during the past year. School and congregational work left little time for itinerating. Mrs. Hart tells of a young girl whose mother said "Oh, she's a donkey, she does not need to go to prayer-meeting." The daughter replied, "Well, I was a donkey before they began to teach me. Thank God, I'm a little better now.

In Assiut, Miss Hogg has six Bible women and one blind man who go out to teach the women. All harem work has serious obstacles. Poor quality of many workers, poor health of so many women and children and great indifference on the part of many. Miss Thompson was rejoiced recently when visiting in Nakhala, and in attendance at a meeting where there were seventy women, she asked the pastor whom she might call on to lead in prayer, and received the surprising reply, "Ask any of them. They are all willing."

Weekly, semi-monthly, monthly and special meetings are all greatly strengthened through the work of the Bible women.

Zenana Visits Among Christians.

This report is intensely interesting and the many sentences weighted with so much meaning to Christian women in the home church would be given if space permitted. A few are as follows: "Seven Christian women in this district know very little, but seem faithful in following Christ;" "Three Christian and six Mohammedan women; Christians slow to understand; two Mohammedan women interested"; "A little group of nice young married women, the youngest possibly twelve years old; she had learned of Jesus through a sister-in-law"; "Noisy, listened fairly well, but so ignorant and careless."

The Evangelistic Committee outlines a course of study for these native Christian women. Miss Embleton reports a good deal of interest and effort in the forty-three villages of the Khangah Dogran district.

Miss Fannie Martin explains the situation clearly when she writes: "While many have a saving faith in Christ, they have not yet that practical knowledge in the things of Him in whom they believe, that enables them to apply in their daily lives even the simpler teachings of Christianity. So they do not yet help each other as they should nor do they show to the outside world the full fruits of Christian faith. They are willing but must yet be taught and trained in the matter of living practical Christian lives."

Miss Anderson is doing pioneer work in the new district of Sargodha, a canal district, hunting if there be Christians among the people who have come from other districts. Sixty thousand people are here. The heart is deeply stirred when a little band of Christians are found, and see them so eager to hear more of the Word which they may not have heard for two or more years.

When we find them careless and they say "We have not seen a teacher for two years and we cannot read, how can we learn," we feel like crying out "O, Lord, more teachers for this needy field."

Miss McCullough finds some women better able to answer Bible questions than the men, which is so unusual as to be a soucrce of encouragement. In Pasrur, neighbors acknowledged that the Christians rank higher than others in love and honesty. Miss Wilson adopted one unique method of teaching the Christian women. Told them from time to time the story of the lives of twenty women of the Bible, and the next questioned them about the story. In the words of Miss Cleland, this brief record of a great work must close: "May all who read this be led to give themselves up more completely to intercession for those of us who are on the field, and for those among whom we work, and also that the Lord will speedily thrust forth more laborers into His vineyard."

District Work.

Going from village to village, and from one zenana to another to proclaim the Word, met with sneers and jeers, or with kindly welcome: Listened to with curiosity or with eager attention, with utter indifference, or with delighted, hungry interest.

Read what may be illustrative of all as they go in His name with the Bread of Life: "Oh, the blessedness and the glory of knowing that He is with us always because we are obeying His command; to you He has given the honor of sending, and to us of carrying the Living Word to dying souls, many of whom have never heard the Name so sweet and precious to us. Truly He has been with us in our itineracy among the non-Christians. To be sure we have been turned from some houses and told to go about our business with a remark something like this: "Our prophet is good enough for us. Why should we forsake our own religions?" But usually they receive us gladly and listen attentively. How often we hear this remark, accompanied by a sigh, "Yes, its all very true, but what can we do? How could we earn our bread if cast out from our homes?" And well they know that this would be one result of their becoming Christians.

The women come to the tent for medicine. After hearing the story of salvation, one said, "Tell me again your Saviour's name." Then she repeated it over to herself: "Jesus Christ, Jesus Christ." "Come," she said to the older woman, "I'll remember it now and teach it to you when we get home."

In a Hindu home a few days ago, a sweet faced young girl listened so wistfully. When we had finished an older woman called attention to her by saying, "for her there is no salvation. Her husband died, and she must have been the cause; a curse is upon her." A gleam of hope seemed to flash from the sad, dark eyes when she heard that "He came to save the uttermost."

This is at least the third year in which a month of the camping season has been spent in a formerly unworked part of the district. Not more than four or five villages can be visited in a day. You may easily reckon how few could be reached in a season. Does it seem right to pass by the remaining hundreds?"

Then again, during the year 1906, Miss Margaret Wilson and Miss Ella Gordon spent the months of January, February, March and December itinerating among the villages. During December, we revisited the villages visited in March. In our entire tour we made a circuit of about 125 miles, making 249 visits in 112 villages. When we look back o'er the work of these months, it seems but a "drop in the bucket" compared to the number of villages still unvisited. At this rate it will take us about fifteen years to visit the fifteen hundred villages in this district.

Miss McCullough, of Gujranwala writes: "A movement has been in our district which is very encouraging, because it was begun and is being carried on, not by the catechists and native ministers, but by the Christians themselves, who are working among their own kindred and friends in villages where there were no Christians. They seem to be earnest and sincere. In one village there are eight or nine families in the low caste quarter, and one Hindu farmer and his wife preparing for baptism. In one other place there is a Hindu family nearly ready to be received into the church. There are so many asking to be taught, it is impossible with the present working force to get them properly instructed.

Finances.

Because of the added work assumed by the Women's General Missionary Society in the foreign department in the last two years, all balances have been used up, and the coming year is ushered in with an empty treasury, which, of course, will be replenished from a share of the Thank-offering, which, however, will be but a small proportion of the amount needed for the support of the work undertaken. Because of this financial condition, the Board has not granted the full amount of the estimates requested from our three Missionary Associations. $54,656 was the sum granted last year. That same amount has been promised for the coming year, with the assurance that if the members of the Women's General Missionary Society will increase their regular offerings, the increase will be advanced as rapidly as possible. Not less than $72,000 should come into the treasury this year for the foreign work, if the real needs are to be met. As this amount represents the one-third increase that our recent convention "resolved" to make a "strenuous effort" to secure, may we not cheer our workers beyond the seas with the message that the full amount will be advanced.

Egypt's share of the sum pledged, $54,656, is $21,221; India's, $31,534; Sudan, $940, or a total of $53,694. The $961 of a balance will be applied to the operations of the new school in the Sudan, which will be opened in a few months. $34,832 of this sum will be expended on the salaries and other financial interests of the unmarried women missionaries. $1,250 has been granted for the placing of a sanitary system in the Martha J. McKown Hospital to provide pure water for its patients. This request would have been refused, if the regular contributions were to have been drawn upon, but lying in our treasury awaiting distribution was the sum of $1,660 composed of several small bequests given by women who left their gifts to the Women's Board, undesignated. From this fund was taken the amount necessary to provide the much needed pure water, provided by those who are now happy by the "river of the water of life." And who shall say that degrees have not been added to their happiness because of the provision made for Tanta's sin-sick women. In addition to the increase needed for current expenses in our five institutions which were refused, we would call special attention to two "new" lines of work for which the Women's General Missionary Society was asked to provide: First, a Girls' Boarding School at Gujranwala, India: a work which should be undertaken without delay; a work which is in the direct line of women's missionary effort; a work which will care for, educate and fit the girls of that district for Christian home-making. $3,268 will build the school, $522 will maintain it for one year. Is there not a society or an individual somewhere in the United Presbyterian Church willing to claim this glorious privilege as theirs? Think of the need of the girls of the Gujranwala district, and help to provide this institution for them.

Then still another very urgent request from Egypt. That the Women's General Missionary Society undertake the support of the Bible women. Clearly women's work, an opportunity for the women of Christianity to reach the women who need, oh, so much the blessings that our glorious faith brings. $2309 would pay these salaries, but was not promised because the sum was not in sight. Another opportunity for "prayer and alms."

Still another item that should claim the attention of the Seniors as it has won the Juniors, who have contributed so liberally, that is, the Girls' Boarding School being erected in Khartoum North Sudan. Rev. G. A. Sowash, the chairman of the Building Committee, reports satisfactory progress being made. The property is enclosed, a house for servants quarters erected, and work to be begun on the school building at an early date. More than $9,000 has been advanced on this undertaking. Fully $12,000 more will be required to carry the work to completion, and it must be remembered that this sum is in excess of the estimates. Rooms to furnish by individuals or societies will be ready in the near future. The large gifts for those of the Lord's people who have a goodly share of His "gold and silver" as well as the smaller gifts of the very many, are earnestly solicited for the benefit of the girls of the Sudan.

These extras, as well as the amount promised, may all be provided by our constituency if, on bended knee, power be asked for that a whole-hearted effort be made to secure the funds needed—funds that are in our possession and which should be laid on the altar. Three channels may be used by which the needed money may reach our treasury:

First—By the enlarged pledged offerings at the monthly meetings, also by free will offerings.

Second—By the overflow offerings of our wealthy women and men.

Third—By semi-centennial offerings made by the mothers and children and fathers for the Women's General Missionary Society.

Along these three lines of effort the energies of our women should be directed, thereby persuading many to give who may not know, who may not care, or who may not want to.

A form of bequest appears monthly in the Women's Missionary Magazine and should be used to influence some of our good women to generously remember our women's work, when a division is to be made of worldly possessions.

A few specials given to lines of work not included in the departments of the Women's General Missionary Society have robbed us of some funds that would have strengthened our own work. But, as these "specials" are gradually disappearing, we will make no protest but will hope for all of women's offerings for women's work. Three obligations rest with unusual weight upon the members of the Women's General Missionary Society in view of the above, and all other department reports.

First—That all Christian women must exercise self-denial if their lives are to have a presuasive influence on others. In no other way can the "one-third increase" be secured.

Second—That the winning of the two-thirds of the women of our church will come largely through personal work; therefore each member of the Women's General Missionary Society is responsible for two others. Will not each one pray and persuade until the two shall be enrolled?

Third—That it is an indisputable principle of Holy Writ that the giving of tithes is made the condition of an abundant outpouring of the Spirit. "That Chrisitan who opens the broadest outlet for charity will find the widest inlet for the Spirit." Plainly then, the members of the Women's General Missionary Society should teach with emphasis that the giving of the tithe is absolutely necessary to our own spiritual growth and development of the work we sustain. " . . . . . prove me now herewith, saith the Lord of hosts, if I will not open the windows of heaven and pour out a blessing that there shall not be room enough to receive it."

HOW

Can One Hundred Thousand Dollars Be Secured

BY THE FOLLOWING PLAN:

10	women	giving	$1,000.00	each,	would	be	$10,000.00
20	"	"	500.00	"	"	"	10,000.00
40	"	"	250.00	"	"	"	10,000.00
100	"	"	100.00	"	"	"	10,000.00
200	"	"	50.00	"	"	"	10,000.00
1000	"	"	25.00	"	"	"	25,000.00
1000	"	"	10.00	"	"	"	10,000.00
2000	"	"	5.00	"	"	"	10,000.00
1000	"	"	2.50	"	"	"	2,500.00
1000	"	"	1.00	"	"	"	1,000.00
Juniors		"			"	"	1,500.00
		Total	- - - - - -				$100,000.00

Thus 6,370 of the 75,000 women, whose names are on the church rolls, plus the usual Junior offerings, would bring the desired one hundred thousand dollars into the Lord's treasury by next fall.

Reader, study these figures prayerfully and then study your own possessions and "according as the Lord hath prospered you" decide where you will at once place your name, as a grateful giver in God's sight.
